To preserve the fresh, new look of good grooming, to lengthen the life of lovely woollens, follow these few easy rules:

BRUSH often. Dust particles, often invisible to the eye, settle in creases, pocket crevices, under lapel areas, cuffs and pleats, and set up an abrasive action injurious to the fabric. A brisk once-over with a soft firm-bristled brush will do a lot to lengthen a garment's life. Mud spots brush out easily after drying. Powder stains may need a damp sponge.

LET THEM BREATHE. Hang each wool garment on a well-shaped hanger after each wearing. Never pack wool garments together tightly in a closet. Free circulation of air helps rid the garment of wrinkles because the elastic wool fibers spring back to their normal shape after the day's strain.

TREAT STAINS PROMPTLY. Every minute counts in stain removal. Take the stained garment to a reliable cleaner without delay and tell him what the stain is so he can treat it before it "sets." If you try to clean it yourself use only those cleaners which you know are reliable and use only those with which you have had experience.

IF YOU'RE CAUGHT IN THE RAIN. Dry away from heated radiators or hot sun. Heat dries out wool fibres, makes them brittle. After the garment is dry, brush it thoroughly.

HOME PRESSING. Correct pressing between trips to the cleaners will add seasons of extra wear. Here's how: Always use a pressing cloth, a firm, well-washed canvas or several thicknesses of old sheeting. Never apply iron directly. A too-hot iron will scorch and break wool fibers. Place wool garments on a smooth, well-padded board, cover with dry pressing cloth, sponge cloth with warm water, apply iron lightly and stop pressing before material is quite dry. Place garment on a well-shaped hanger and let dry in natural lines. Press hems, collars, lapels and other heavy parts first, starting on the wrong side. Slip paper under seam edges when pressing to avoid leaving marks on the right side.

NATIONAL FARM NEWS

Extension work has become a motive force for greater agricultural production and better rural life in many countries around the world.

Generally speaking, the protein in one cut of beef has practically the same nutritive value as that in any other cut from the same animal.

Meat production under Federal inspection for the week ended November 26 totaled 320 million pounds.

Nebo School News

The Nebo Men's club is sponsoring an amateur show this Friday evening at 7:30 in the school auditorium. The program is for the Marion Hospital Fund benefit and will include Nebo pupils as well as adult quartets and performers. Come to this program for good enjoyment and also help raise money for the new hospital.

Delmer Studios of Charlotte took pictures of all Nebo School personnel and pupils on Tuesday. Many of these pictures will appear in Nebo's 1950 annual.

Mrs. Edney's fifth grade seems to be first in Nebo school to be ready for Christmas. The room is most attractively decorated.

The Nebo basketball teams played their second opponents of the season on last Friday evening when they journeyed to Old Fort to meet the teams of that place. In a hard fought game Old Fort girls won with a score of 35 to Nebo's 33. In the thrilling, fast scoring boys' game the Nebo boys finished with 51 points, followed dangerously close by Old Fort boys with 50 points.

The two double-headers this week for Nebo teams were Oak Hill on Tuesday and Glen Alpine on Thursday evenings.

An addition to Nebo's sports activities this year is a well trained cheering group, which has been coached by Mrs. Bryan Gibson.

The boys and girls, dressed out in school colors of blue and white make a splendid addition to our teams and enjoyment of games by everyone.

Report cards, recording the progress of pupils for the second six weeks period of school were handed pupils on Monday of this week. It is hoped that every parent will carefully read their children's reports every six weeks, as this is the school's method of informing them of all pupils work.

The Honor Roll for this period follows:

STUDENTS

Despite a drop in the number of veterans in college and universities of the nation, total enrollment this fall stands at 2,456,000 students, as compared with 2,408,000 in the last college year, according to Federal Security Administrator Oscar R. Ewing. Veterans comprised nearly half of the nation's college students in 1947, while this year they account for only 35 per cent of the total employment.

CHRISTMAS CARDS

The Postoffice Department is reminding the senders of Christmas cards that a two-cent stamp will be needed this year to send a Christmas greeting in an unsealed envelope. Formerly, such a card could be mailed for one and one-half cents, but under rates which took effect on Jan. 1, the higher rate applies.

BACON CUPS

Here's a morning bacon and egg suggestion. Slowly cook bacon strips in a frying pan until transparent. Remove and line muffin pans with the strips. Place an egg in each bacon cup, sprinkle with salt and pepper and bake in a moderate oven (300 F.) for about 15 minutes.
