WHO VOTES IN LONDON.

Householders, Landowners and Some Women Are Enfranchised.

London's new government rests upon a franchise so popular that practically nobody who would care to vote is excluded, says the Century. In the first place all householders are enfranchised, and this includes every man who rents a place for his family, even if it be only a small room in the garret or the cellar of a tenement house. It also includes those who live within fifteen miles of the metropolis, but own or occupy metropolitan quarters for any purpose worth a certain very limited rental. Owners of freehold property in London, no matter where they live, if British subjects, are entitled to vote. Widows and unmarried women who are householders, occupiers or owners of property are also authorized to vote for county councilors.

The principal basis of the franchise is the household, and the chief disqualifications are receipt of public alms and failure to pay rates that have fallen due. Any resident of the metropolis or vicinity who is entitled to vote is eligible to election. Furthermore, any British subject who owns land in London, or who is possessed of a limited amount of property, no matter where he lives, may be chosen a coun-cillor of the county of London. The fact of residence in one district does not disqualify, either in law or in the popular judgment, for candidacy in another dis-

OUR PUPULATION.

We Exceed Sixty-two Millions in the United States.

WASHINGTON, D. C. # AN ALABAMA FEUD.

One Man Killed and More Bloodshed Expected.

A press dispatch from Birmingham, Ala., says: A feud which has been brewing for some time near Crosswell, St. Clair county, broke out Saturday in earnest. Two prominent families are involved, and many lives will probably be lost before it is ended. Fonso and Powell Hancock and George Narghoir had been gunning for each other for some time. Saturday morning Fonso Hancock fired two shots at Narghoir and missed him. Powell Hancock went to Narghoir's house and they opened fire at each other. At the fourth shot Hancock fell dead. His brother and friends are now hunting Narghoir with the intention of shooting him down at sight. Friends have also rallied around Narghoir, and a bloody fight is expected if the two parties come together. The principals in the affair are promi nent men in their neighborhood and have many friends.

AMONG THE ALLIANCES

What the Organization is Doing Throughout the Country.

A Warehouse on Every Farm Advocated By A Prominent Georgian at the La Grange Convention?

The Alliance Exchange, Henrietta,

Texas, is giving satisfaction. The Farmers' Alliance will build a large flouring mill at Graham, Texas.

The Alliance store of Glascock county,

Ga., is doing a flourishing business. West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Michigan and New Mexico are the latest Alliance States.

The Alliance is educating the masses, which makes the politicians tremble with fear. - Lasso.

Hon. R. H. Jackson, the first president of the Georgia State Alliance, will represent Heard county in the next House of Representatives. The Alliances in Brown county are bulking their cotton at Brownwood, and when they can't get satisfactory bids, ship it to Galveston, says the Southern Mercury. The Alliance cotton yard at Austin, under the management of S. C. Gearnberg, is kept busy, and is the means of bringing much cotton to the city. - Southern Mercury: Houston county, (Ga.) Alliance is opposed to speculating in farm product "futures," and will appeal to the General Assembly to legislate on the evil, and also repeal the crop lien law.

Improvements have been made in the Griffin, Ga., Alliance warehouse lately, and everybody about the establishment is happy. The office has been enlarged and also the sampre room, which facilitates the handling of cotton very materially.

The Haw-Creek Alliance, in Forsyth county, Ga., deserves special praise for the aid they extended to a worthy old lady and her two daughters who were about to be evicted. The Alliance procured for them a more comfortable house and gave them provisions.

The Farmers' Alliance of Kansas, which now numbers of er 145,000 members, have organized a mercantile department, and propose to handle their own grain and live stock. They have appointed agents who will handle their shipments in the markets of Kansas City, Chicago and St. Louis, by which transaction the farmer will save the commission which he usually pays the middle man .- Texas Labor

The State Farmers' Alliance, of Florida, in annual session at Monticello, has adopted the following resolution : Resolved, That this order is not wedded nor allied to any political party, and has no room on its platform for partisan politics or partisan politicians. Florida's representatives in the National Legislature were also called upon to vote for a bill abolishing the national banking system and substituting for it issues of legal tender treasury notes. Also to support the sub-treasury bill or something better.

Among the excellent things said at the farmers' convention, at LaGrange, Ga., we find the following in an address delivered by Mr. A. M. Walker;

My word for it, the most urgent need of the agricultural classes of the South is for each and every farmer to establish his own warehouse. This he can and must do. First, by living within his means. Secondly, by diversifying his crops and raising everything on the farm as far as he can, that is necessary for home consumption, and make the farm self-sustaining by making one acre produce as much or more than he now gets from five acres, thereby reducing expenses and increasing profits. Thirdly, by raising stock of all kinds. Goats, sheep, hogs, mules, horses and cattle. I place these in the order of their value, as I consider it to the farmer. This we can do by utilizing as pastures our lands that are now tenanted out at an annual loss and expense, to say nothing of the depreciation of these tenanted lands from washing and want of proper management. If this policy were adopted and pursued our people would soon reach that degree of nor desire aid from the federal government, but could hold their cotton and other produce until prices suited them. I desire to impress the great importance of improving our live stock. It does not cost any more to raise a blooded horse, or a cow that will yield from two to five pounds of butter, and six to ten gallons of milk per day, than it does to raise a common scrub. I regard the cow as the best paying investment in the country; especially so, with so many advantages in her favor.

Belligerent Councilmen.

. City Councilmen A. B. Guigon and A. J. Phillips, of Richmond, Va., were agrested Tuesday morning upon a charge of being about to commit a breach of peace by fighting a duel or otherwise. Justice Crathfield, after hearing the testimony, dismissed the case. The parties had a hot altercation in the council chamber in the morning, which was resumed on the street, when the lie was passed.
