We received from President a catalogue of the year of N. C., which, we need to say, shows the Union to be in a very prosperous condition. The number of students is 316, a gain over last year; of these 27 have graduated at college and are advanced or professional.

There are four general courses of study to degrees, professional courses in law, medicine, engineering; brief courses for limited means; special courses in chemistry and other branches and a large number of courses. The faculty in all departments; there are six laboratories and museums, buildings, libraries, reading rooms, Y. M. C. A. room, athletic grounds, gymnasium, etc.

There are seventy scholars receiving free tuition. Any student who can help. The fund for loans amounts to $10,000. Catalogues, pamphlets, sent free to any one who writes President Winston at Chapel Hill.

The Washington society is stirred to a fever over the presence of Princess Infanta Eulalie, arrived in Washington last week and was received into the honor of the Capital by the President and Mrs. Cleveland. Princess's full name is Marie Françoise d'Assise-Marguerite-Isabelle-Françoise de Christine Marie de la Piété. Princess comes to America on the invitation of the United States as a genuine representative of the people, who assisted Columbus more than any one else to cross the Atlantic and find the world. Of course the usual fuss of footkissing has been indulged in by Washington society, newspaper reporters have been telling how the Princess eats, talks, &c., &c. Next thing, the body will have a girl named Eulalie.

It is feared by Mr. Cleveland that if the government should undertake to enforce the "Law" or "Chinese Exclusion Act," which the Supreme Court of the U. S. has recently held unconstitutional, the result would prove detrimental to American interests in China and might lead to a war between the two countries. China would no doubt be provoked by driving American missionaries out of that country and refusing to have further commercial intercourse with America.

CLOSING EXERCISES LUMBER BRIDGE HIGH SCHOOL.

A RED LETTER DAY. We intended to give an extended report of the closing exercises of Lumber Bridge School, but find that we have not the necessary space at our command. So we shall have to content ourselves with a brief outline. We did not arrive on the grounds until Tuesday morning and were denied the pleasure of hearing the annual sermon by Rev. J. E. White, of Wilson, also the Monday night exercises; but we heard many favorable comments both as to the sermon and the exercises.

Tuesday at 11 o'clock, a m., a large assembly of people were gathered in the grove and soon a class composed of twenty-five or thirty young ladies and a goodly number of young men, led by Prof. Currie, sang very beautifully "Tis Morn'g." Dr. Law then introduced Prof. W. S. Currell, of Davidson College, who had been chosen to deliver the literary address. Dr. Currell took for his subject "Oneness of Purpose," or a purpose in life and for an hour and a half held his audience spell-bound. His arguments were convincing, his illustrations apt, his periods rounded and his language beautiful—in a word his address was a gem.

After the address dinner was declared in order, and from the number of pressing invitations we received we almost began to imagine that dinner grew on every bush about the academy. At 3 o'clock p. m. the services of Dr. Law were again called for and he introduced to the reassembled audience Capt. E. W. Kerr, of Clinton. The introduction was preceded by an instrumental solo entitled "Jesus Lover of my Soul," beautifully rendered by Miss S. H. Gay. Capt. Kerr did not mention the subject of his address, but said he had thrown away what he had prepared and proposed to talk to the school in a practical way, and we are sure that every one present did not only enjoy but was instructed by his remarks. His tribute to women and the Countess de dead was truly eloquent and touching.

At 8 o'clock at night a very large crowd assembled in the academy to hear the exercises by the pupils, all of which exercises were carried out with such completeness that to mention any single one would be unfair and we find it impossible to mention all. At the close of Dr. Currell's address Miss Sullie H. Gay rendered an instrumental solo, "Old Folks at Home," that was greatly admired.

Without wishing to depreciate in the least the well-earned reputation of Prof. McArthur, we can but feel that much credit is due his sister, Miss McArthur, for the well trained primary classes, and also Miss Sullie Gay, music teacher, whose efficient work was so visible in the almost perfect rendition of every piece by her pupils. Prof. McArthur and his accomplished assistants may feel proud of their noble work, and every scholar of this excellent institution should rejoice at the perfection they have attained.

The commencement of Lumber Bridge High School was a grand success.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 22. She's here! They're here! Washington's all astir! Washington is top heavy almost this week. There is a princess within her precincts! The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States is holding a mighty meeting here. Its hard to tell which is attracting the most interest. It is easy to say, however, whose visit will have the greatest and most lasting effect. There is ceaseless round of gaily receptions and conventionalities of various characters in honor of the Princess Eulalie of Spain. She was met at the depot by the Secretary of State and conveyed to her quarters at the Arlington Hotel by a handsome four in hand turn out, provided for the occasion by President Cleveland. Her escort consisted of several cordons of police and troops of United States cavalry.

The Presbyterian Assembly elected as its moderator the Rev. Willis Green Craig, D. D., of Chicago, Ill. The salient points of interest to the general public is the action it will render regarding the famous Briggs case in the New York Seminary, and the revision of some of the tenets of the church. Regarding the former of these, the utterances so far have been anything but encouraging to the Briggs men. The latter question has not been broached much, and neither have come up for special consideration yet.

A North Carolina appointment of local interest will be that of Mr. Alex Clifton Shaw, of Rockingham, to a Chief of Division in the Interior Department with a salary of $2,000. The news that the decision of Attorney General Olney renders the Sunday opening of the World's Fair impracticable, and that the gates were closed Sunday last will be hailed with delight by many readers of the CHIEF.

OLD FOLK FRAGMENTS.

Your last CHIEF containing an extract from the Raleigh News and Observer in regard to the lady who rose from the dead, recalled to my mind an incident of a similar nature related by my grandmother, a very aged lady, many years ago, and except the difference in names the story seems almost identical. She said she knew a Presbyterian minister by the name of Lindsay and heard him preach somewhere in these parts, whose wife to all appearances died and was buried near her home with several rings on her fingers, and the same night after interment her grave was visited by a couple of thieves and the body exhumed. Finding her fingers swollen and being in haste to secure the sought-for prize, these robbers of the dead proceeded to amputate the fingers, which started the circulation of the blood, and the body, uttering a cry of complaint, the robbers quickly fled. Mrs. Lindsay vacated her narrow abode, gathered around her the trailing burial robes and proceeded straightway to her former happy home, where she was admitted by her husband, lived seven years afterwards and reared one son, whose grave has been pointed out to me in Stewartville cemetery. Thus if both stories be true, that ancient burial ground has been rendered rather remarkable.

Mrs. J. A. Feltz returned home this week for a visit to Red Springs. The unusual amount of sickness there impressed her with the opinion that the Fork is at present the safest place for those who have never had measles, whooping cough, etc., as these diseases rarely ever visit us here.

I have complaints since the cool weather of dying cotton, and the farmers are rather slow about thinning it. Farm work generally is progressing very smoothly and crops are in good condition.

The lumber firm of Messrs. J. D. and N. F. McLean, located near the "Turn Out" is wide-awake and full of enterprise. They are doing a thriving business in their line and are prompt, active young business men.

"AUNT BECKY"

Lumberton Department. Court convened Monday, Judge Whitaker presiding. His charge to the jury was extensive, covering all the main points of law. There were four capital cases on the docket, but very probably part will not be tried now. It is thought court will adjourn about Friday. Several Maxtonians are here "courting" this week.

The genuine Scotch face of ye editor McKenzie was seen on our streets Monday. He is a "hustler." Maj. A. J. Howell, auditor Carolina Central, Wilmington, came up Monday to attend court as a witness upon the trial of Will Tatum for embezzlement. He was accompanied by his lovely daughter Eliza Belle, who will be in town for some time, the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Capt. Norment.

Some cowardly rascal shot two bullet holes through the window blinds of Mr. E. K. Proctor, Jr.'s, house last Thursday night, missing the window only a few inches. It is known that Mr. Proctor has worked very effectually against whiskey in Robeson, and it is thought that some whiskey devil (once he called a man) is trying to revenge himself. We have heard that the party is known and when sufficient evidence is procured that it won't be very healthy for him. The people should and will stand to Mr. Proctor, and not allow such dastardly deeds as this to be committed.

Dr. Vampill is removing the old house off the site preparatory to building the opera house. Lumberton needs more such public-spirited men as Dr. Vampill; then a cotton factory, fruit cannery, sash, door, blind and bracket and baluster factory would soon be built, and then it would be that Lumberton would spread her wings and fly upward to prosperity and prominence.

Mrs. J. T. Pope, who was stricken with paralysis a few weeks since died last Friday night, surrounded by her relatives and friends, Messrs. Willis and Alex McAlister having come from school to attend her last illness. Rev. F. B. McColl conducted the funeral services, the sermon being preached at her late residence. A great number of friends and relatives followed her remains to the grave, in the new cemetery where she is resting free from the toils and cares of life. A true christian woman has gone to her reward on high. May our Pope, who is very feeble has the deepest sympathy of all his friends.

Preamble and Resolutions Adopted by the Session of Antioch Church April 29, 1893.

Whereas, R. v. J. M. Clark, our beloved pastor has seen fit to sever the tie binding us together as pastor and people; and,

Whereas, we, as a session and people did yield an unwilling assent thereto, nevertheless, we as a session, do hereby bear testimony to the love which we and the entire congregation with singular unanimity bore toward him to the close of his pastorate; and we do further bear testimony to his purity, his zeal, his boldness in his Master's cause, his earnest longings to see our beloved church free from broils and strifes, setting before us a godly walk and consecration himself, preaching peace and good will towards all men. And while we too with grateful hearts bear testimony to the deep spiritual interest he ever manifested towards us and our children not only in the church proper, but also in the waste places of our beloved Zion, from which, with him, a young though trusted leader, we looked forward to that happy day when the great gathering would come and our borders would be fortified. We have only to regret that he leaves an unfinished work.

Resolved, That in this our parting hour we tender him our heart-felt sympathies in his afflictions and pray God to bless him in his new field of labor.

Ordered, That the above be spread on the minutes and a copy be given to our departing pastor. By order of the session.

D. B. McLEAN, Clerk.
