COTTON OUTLOOK SHOWS SOME BRIGHTNESS NOW

A report issued by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States recently gives a little promise to cotton producers. Two leading agricultural products—cotton and wheat—it says, scored notable export gains in the first quarter of 1932 running sharply counter to the general trend of American export trade in that period.

"American cotton in the first quarter of the year," an analysis made by the Chamber shows, "was exported in large quantities to nearly all of the principal textile manufacturing countries, particularly to Japan, China, and India. In the quarter, cotton exports amounted to more than a billion and a half pounds, valued at $199,839,000. This large quantity was 77 per cent greater than cotton exports a year ago, and was 38 per cent above the 1927-31 average. The value was 19 per cent higher than in the first quarter of 1931.

"Short Indian and Chinese cotton crops, together with the low price accounted in large measure for the heavy purchasing of American cotton, particularly by Far Eastern countries."

Cotton cloth, duck and tire fabric exports increased 8 per cent over the first quarter of 1931.

LINCOLN'S PROPHECY

President Abraham Lincoln said, shortly before he was assassinated: "I see a crisis approaching that deserves me and causes me to be fearful for the safety of my country as a result of the war, corrupt influences have been enthroned and the money power will endeavor to rule by working upon the fears of the people until it has degenerated in a republic into a despotism. It is my duty to warn you of this danger before it is too late." Lincoln made this prophecy to the farmers of five states in his own words.

Get Reduce City Expenses

Revised Budget to Tax League Meeting Tomorrow. League Commissioners to Meet and Farm Agents.

Want Voters to Examine Themselves on This Matter

City Taxpayers League, spokesman, Solicitor T. ... appeared before the commissioners Tuesday. County expenses be cut down, the office of home demonstration farm demonstration should be abolished.

C. A. Hasty, commissioner of the Maxton district, announced that the board had decided to meet Wednesday night to go over the budget and to give it a downward revision. Mr. Hasty stated that after revising the budget, the board would submit a copy to the tax league at a meeting of the league already called to meet at 2 p. m. Friday of this week at the court house, with the suggestion that the league go over it, approve or offer further suggestions.

It is understood that tentative plans already made by the commissioners would reduce the cost of the county managers office alone some $4,000.

Mr. Hasty states that the commissioners have 20 days in which to complete the new budget and that inasmuch as the people voted two years ago to retain the home and farm agents, and that inasmuch as the commissioners feel that this work is important, especially at this time, the board would be glad to hear from interested voters on both sides—those for and against.

Clyde McLeod Opens New Bathing Beach On Highway No. 71

Season Ticket to Be Given Free to Person Submitting Most Appropriate Name for Beach. Names Must Be Submitted Before Sunday.

Clyde McLeod has completed a clean new bath-house on the Alex White lands on the northern banks of Lumber River, where highway No. 71 between Maxton and Red Springs crosses this river. He is clearing up the brush, building tables and seats, and otherwise putting the location in shape for an ideal swimming beach. Lumber River has long been popular for its cool, clear and refreshing swimming water and there are now a number of bathing places along its banks. The great advantage of this beach is its availability, being less than three miles on the hard-surface road from Maxton, and in easy reach of the hard-surface road from Red Springs and Lumberton, as well as the popular sections around Floral College and Wakulla.

This beach will be open to the public the latter part of this week, and Mr. McLeod is anxious to get an appropriate name for it and is offering a season ticket to the beach to the person who will submit the name which is chosen as the permanent name of the beach. Names submitted any time before Sunday will be considered.

While Mr. McLeod has not made a definite statement as to admission, it is understood that the admission will be 10c for grown people, nothing for children under twelve years, and season tickets will be $1.00 to $1.50.

Rev. W. L. Clegg Preaches Sermon On "Higher Patriotism"

Local Pastor Stresses Moral Foundations in Sunday Morning Sermons. Other Activities at Methodist Church.

Sunday morning the pastor, Rev. W. L. Clegg, preached on the topic "The Higher Patriotism." In his sermon Mr. Clegg pointed out that patriotism needed to be stripped of its lesser elements of pride, competitiveness, arrogance, and contempt. "No country or no civilization can long endure if it attempts to build up immoral foundations," he said. Mr. Clegg also stressed that love for one's country should take precedence over one's loyalty to any political party.

At the evening service Rev. R. G. Matheny preached a very helpful sermon from the text, "Forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth to those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

The vacation church school began Tuesday morning. The number of boys and girls enrolled could not be learned at this writing. Mr. Matheny is director of the school. Miss Ava Lee Evans is superintendent of the beginners department with Miss Ruth McLeod, Miss Olga Breeden, and Miss Jane McKinnon as assistants. Mrs. Leavelle Alexander Campbell is superintendent of the primary department and has as her assistants Miss Emma Fine, Miss Mildred Reed, and Miss Eunice Burns. The superintendent of the junior department is Mrs. A. B. Carter. Those assisting Mrs. Carter with the juniors are Miss Mary Ellen Stephenson, Mrs. B. S. Hodges, and Miss Elizabeth Gasque. Mrs. J. P. Stancel and Mrs. H. A. McKinnon are also helping in the school.

Mrs. Matheny reports that sixty one children attended the supervised play activities at the playground last week. The play ground is being supervised each week-day afternoon from 4:30 to 7. Children of the entire community are welcomed. Last week the group was made up of thirty-five Methodists, twelve Presbyterians, eight Baptists, and six Catholics. The average daily attendance was about thirty.

Next Sunday evening the meeting of the Epworth League and the preaching service will be merged. At the conclusion of the program given by the young people the pastor will preach a short sermon. This service will begin at eight o'clock and will close in less than an hour.

Tiny McEachin Hit By Automobile. Car Driven by John Luther McLean Going at Slow Rate of Speed. Child Apparently Did Not See Car as He Rode from Sidewalk into Street.

An accident occurred in front of A. L. McEachin's home Sunday afternoon when his oldest son was struck by an automobile which was driven by John Luther McLean. Fortunately Mr. McEachin was driving at a very slow rate of speed and was able to come to almost a complete stop before hitting the child. Tiny, son of Mr. McEachin, was riding his bicycle and must not have seen the car approaching as he rode from the sidewalk into the street. He was right badly bruised and shaken up but no bones were broken. The back wheel of his bicycle was completely smashed.

Governor Roosevelt Began by Defeating a Republican

Democrats Nominate Franklin D. Roosevelt On Fourth Ballot

California and Texas Turn the Tide at Chicago Convention, Files to That City from His New York Home.

Governor Franklin Delano Roosevelt, of New York, was nominated as the Democratic candidate for President in a roaring fourth ballot at the national convention in Chicago Friday night, July 1. Next day John N. Garner of Texas, Democratic speaker of the House of Representatives, was unanimously chosen as the candidate for vice president, and the convention adjourned sine die on Saturday afternoon, after it had heard a thrilling speech of acceptance by Governor Roosevelt, who flew from his New York home to Chicago Saturday to appear before the convention in person.

Governor Roosevelt got the nomination with 1148 1/2 votes, after William Gibbs McAdoo of California had started the fireworks with a speech from the convention platform in which he said "California came here to nominate a president, not to deadlock a convention." Then Garner of Texas, Byrd of Virginia, Ritchie of Maryland and other favorite sons threw their strength to the Roosevelt forces. Only supporters of Governor Alfred E. Smith held out to the end for their candidate.

CAN'T COMPETE WITH POSTAGE MONOPOLY

Since the postage rate advances on July 6th, individuals and companies in various parts of the country have been thinking of organizing a city delivery of mail at a lower rate than the postoffice department will charge. In the case of mailing monthly statements, some individuals thought of making contracts for local delivery service at lower rate but on this point, Postmaster J. H. Edwards issues the following statement from W. Irving Glover, second assistant postmaster general: "The department is in receipt of numerous reports that on account of the increase of postage rates individuals and companies are planning to make deliveries under contract or piece-work basis of monthly bills, statements, etc., for business concerns. As the private express statutes (secs. 1256-1271, Postal Laws and Regulations) give the federal government the monopoly of the business of carrying letters, the proposed method of handling these bills, etc., is in violation of the law. All postmasters and other employees of the department are directed to promptly report to this office any cases of this nature coming to their attention."

Served as Assistant Secretary of the Navy Under Woodrow Wilson, Loyal Democrat But Liberal and Progressive Minded. Seeks to Serve Nation's Highest Interests.

(The New York Times) The rise of Franklin D. Roosevelt to national prominence has been comparatively slow but steady. He first appeared on the national political stage as Assistant Secretary of the Navy in the administration of Woodrow Wilson. In 1920 he was the Vice Presidential nominee of the Democratic party when James M. Cox of Ohio headed the ticket, which was defeated under the avalanche of votes that swept Warren G. Harding into the White House. After that Mr. Roosevelt retired temporarily because of serious illness, to emerge again as Governor of New York.

In his present position he has been almost from the beginning, in the forefront of possible candidates for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. His nomination is the result of persistent work on his part and by his friends toward the goal which he now has reached.

Often Is Compared with Relative. Franklin Delano Roosevelt was born at Hyde Park, Dutchess county, N. Y., January 30, 1882, a son of James and Sara Delano Roosevelt. The family is of Dutch origin and came to America from Holland in 1648. The branch to which Franklin Roosevelt belongs moved to Hyde Park about 100 years ago. His father, James, was a fourth cousin of former President Theodore Roosevelt.

An analogy often has been drawn between the political careers of Franklin and his distinguished relative. Both served in the New York Legislature, both held the post of Assistant Secretary of Navy and both were elected Governor of New York. But Franklin is a Democrat and Theodore was Republican. Thus politically there is little in common between them and Franklin owes nothing of his success to any influence exerted in his behalf by the former President, although they were personally upon good terms.

As a lad young Roosevelt was credited with an ambition to enter the Naval Academy at Annapolis. He went, however, to the Groton school, where he prepared for Harvard, from which he was graduated in 1904. He is a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity at Harvard and has been elected to Phi Beta Kappa, the honorary society.

Upon graduating Mr. Roosevelt came to New York and entered the law school of Columbia University, from which he obtained his degree in 1907. He immediately joined the law office staff of Carter, Ledyard & Milburn, where he served as managing clerk until 1910, when he formed a partnership of his own, Marvin, Hooker & Roosevelt. His law practice was of a general nature and did not bring him into any particular public notice.

Entered Politics in 1910. The department is in receipt of numerous reports that on account of the increase of postage rates individuals and companies are planning to make deliveries under contract or piece-work basis of monthly bills, statements, etc., for business concerns. As the private express statutes (secs. 1256-1271, Postal Laws and Regulations) give the federal government the monopoly of the business of carrying letters, the proposed method of handling these bills, etc., is in violation of the law. All postmasters and other employees of the department are directed to promptly report to this office any cases of this nature coming to their attention."

Mr. Roosevelt first entered politics the same year. The State Senatorial district in which he lived in Dutchess county had for twenty-eight years sent a Republican to Albany to represent it continuously. Twenty-eight years the exact age of Mr. Roosevelt at that time. Democratic leaders, including Mayor John K. Sage of Poughkeepsie and former Lieut. Gov. Chanler, decided that the time had come for a change. They called at Crum Elbow, the Roosevelt estate at Hyde Park, and asked the young lawyer to accept the nomination. They told him he alone could defeat the Republican candidate. He agreed to make the fight, and entered the campaign with characteristic vigor and was elected by a substantial majority.

The new Senator went to Albany, almost unknown outside of his own section of the State.

Almost immediately, however, he came into prominence through the part he played in the defeat of William F. (Blue-Eyed Billy) Sheehan as a candidate for United States Senator to succeed Chauncey M. Depew. United States Senators were then still elected by the State Legislatures and Mr. Sheehan was the protégé of Charles F. Murphy, boss of Tammany Hall. Mr. Roosevelt considered Mr. Sheehan too close to Tammany. As a leader in what turned out to be one of the most bitter legislative battles ever waged in this State, Mr. Roosevelt helped to bring about Mr. Sheehan's defeat and the latter's supplanting by the Democrat.

This was on July 1. Because of the fight Mr. Roosevelt's leadership was recognized and he was elected to the position as a co-leader with James A. Sheehan.
