MAXTON ITEMS.

BYMKAY MCKINNON JR.

Mr. J. H. Kinsey called on the merchants at this place Tuesday.

Mr. A. J. McKinnon spent part of last week in Norfolk, Va., on business.

Mr. Welden Swaringer, formerly connected with the Scottish Chief, but now anticipating a government position, is stopping at the Maple Shade.

Owing to the wet weather very little cotton has been marketed up to now.

The fall term of Professor Johnson's, and Misses Hattie McBryde, Mattie Stuart and Maggie Patterson's schools opened Monday.

Miss Allie McCormac will leave September 12th for Raleigh to resume her studies at Peace Institute.

The weekly meeting of the White Government Union was well attended Saturday morning.

Mr. J. D. Jones, who has been confined to his room for several days, is out again.

Miss McCaill, one of Bennettville's most charming young ladies, is visiting Mrs. D. C. McNeill.

Mr. Glass, of Randolph, has accepted a position as salesman with Messrs. McNair & Wooten.

Mr. E. J. Lilly, formerly of Robeson county, will spend several weeks in Maxton buying cotton for Alex. Sprunt & Sons, and Mr. W. T. Sellers will look after the interests of J. H. Sloan.

Mr. Geo. B. McLeod, of Lumberton, spent a few days in Maxton last week to the delight of his many friends.

The Maxton Guards held their regular monthly meeting and drill last Thursday evening.

ANTIOCH BOTS.

Farmers are busy with their fodder and five-cent cotton. Just as well laugh as cry, boys. A man is always wanting something he can't get, and getting something he does not want. We will have to quit the cotton business and plant something else. We farmers are the worst organized class of business men on the face of the earth—no concert of action at all. The negroes have that. Let a few of us try to hold down the price of picking cotton to 30 cents and some fellow will give 40 cents, when he knows he can't afford it.

Miss Hattie Coppedge, who has been confined to her bed all summer with fever, is convalescent.

Mrs. Bettie Stuart and daughter, Maggie, who have been visiting Mrs. Mag Smith, returned to her home in Carthage last Tuesday.

Mr. A. M. McLauchlin returned to Davidson college Monday. This will be his last year.

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. McLeod, of Albia, visited relatives among us last week.

Mr. G. C. Biggs has sold his place and expects to move to lower Robeson, so we learn, Mr. H. H. Hodgkin being the purchaser. We regret the loss of our good citizens, such as Mr. Biggs, and hope he may be pleased with the change.

Philosophers say that closing the eyes makes the sense of hearing more acute. A wicked wag suggests that this accounts for the many eyes that close in our church on Sunday.

Mrs. Harriet Newell Inman.

At the home of her son-in-law, near Red Springs, Mr. John McLean, at 5 o'clock on Saturday, Sept. 3, 1898, Mrs. Harriet Newell Inman departed this life in the 60th year of her age.

Her husband, Hardie Inman, died in the hospital in Raleigh in 1865. Since the marriage of her only child in 1880, she has made her home with Mr. McLean. She was a member of Philadelphia's Presbyterian Church for a number of years. After the organization of Red Springs church she transferred her membership there. She was a constant reader of the Bible and read it through more than twice in the last few years, and her rule when at home was to pray in secret three times a day.

Mrs. Inman was a woman of indomitable energy, and was always active in domestic life and showed the greatest anxiety about the spiritual and also the temporal welfare of her grandchildren. The last four months of her life were spent on a bed of the most intense suffering. Her ailment was the cancer of the stomach. No relief came to her body day or night. But she bore it all with the most patient fortitude, and when her daughter told her shortly before her death that she was praying for her recovery, she answered: "You need not be praying for that, but pray that we all may be resigned to His will who doeth all things well." She had good medical attention and all that kind friends could do for her comfort.

Her minister was with her often, and gave her much comfort and cheer by his words and prayers. The funeral services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. M. W. Goodson, Sunday afternoon at the family burying ground in the presence of a large concourse of friends and friends, and her remains were gently laid to rest beside the grave of her husband, whose body she had buried and had brought home after the close of the war.

May the Lord comfort and bless the daughter and grand children, who will miss her most, and all others who are bereft of a sister and friend. J. McL.

The Tobacco Industry.

In February last Mr. W. H. Edwards visited our town with a view to locating and cultivating tobacco on some of the nearby land. He found plenty of land suitable, but not enough encouragement to take hold. Finally, he made arrangements with Mr. McDonald, who has a farm at Wakalla, to go in together, and on Tuesday Mr. Edwards brought in a sample of his crop. He is well pleased both as to quality and quantity raised, and will get an average of ten dollars per hundred for the entire lot. Mr. Edwards says there is more money to be made on tobacco even if it didn't bring but four cents than on cotton at six cents. It would be advisable for our farmers to look into this matter.

The Late Mr. A. Moore

The Fayetteville Observer of the 7th inst., contained the following:

The news of the sudden death of Mr. A. Moore at Pilot Mountain yesterday afternoon caused much sorrow in this city. Mr. Moore has lived among us for more than thirty years, and during that long period made nothing but friends and gained the respect of the entire community. He was a native of Alamance county, born 72 years ago, and came to Fayetteville just after the war. He leaves a widow and six children.

ABOUT OUR LUMBERMEN.

A special correspondent from this place writing to the Southern Milling and Lumber Journal, under date of August 25th, says: "With the exception of several large mills that have furnished work for all the mills for the past month and kept them up to the 'top notch' to make deliveries at the time specified, there seems to be considerable falling off in orders and enquiries—just the 'calm before the storm' of work we confidently expect this fall."

Mr. M. L. Marley has looked on order for Durham for 400,000 feet of lumber for a cotton factory.

Townsend & Co., whose home office is here, but whose mills are at and near the bustling city of Pembroke, on the Seafloston section of the "State of Robeson," have a large order for long distance telephone poles which they are placing with the mills.

The Red Springs Lumber Company keep well up with the procession and have always plenty of work for the railroads and their numerous Virginia customers.

The DeVane Lumber Company have just received orders to duplicate their bill of a million feet for Baltimore delivery, and are shipping from 175,000 to 200,000 feet per week, working their mills to full capacity.

A. E. Pearsall is doing considerable trade in dry boards and long telephone poles. We just noticed a large lot from 95 to 75 feet round, ready for shipment.

W. J. McDiarmid expects to put in new machines and larger boilers to meet the demands of his largely increased business.

COUNTY CONVENTION.

The following list shows the vote which each township is entitled to cast in the Democratic convention to be held in the courthouse at Lumberton on Thursday, September 15th, 1898, at 11 o'clock a. m. Townships having more than one voting precinct can vote separately or combine their vote, as they desire.

Forty-five votes are necessary to nominate.

The music at the Methodist church late Sunday morning and evening is pronounced by the great congregation present to have been the best ever heard in that church. In addition to the regular choir, the singing of Miss Mary McKinnon was superb, and the singing of Misses Mary Eliza Kobeson and Annie McRae was also greatly enjoyed. —Fayetteville Observer.

FAITH!

Required to buy a full stock of goods in face of this continued wet weather and the low price of cotton.

We had it—we have it.

Faith in Red Springs, Faith in our farmers.

Faith in the future—that our wives and children will be duly clothed and shod for the coming winter.

To that end we have filled our store with

FALL AND WINTER DRY GOODS, SHOES AND CLOTHING.

You can't go gunning with hopes of game unless your gun is properly loaded.

Our Gun Loaded.

No occasion to simply snap caps. Plenty of ammunition.

Will particularize next week. In the meantime will be glad to have you drop in and look for yourselves.

A pleasure to show you.

Livermore & McKinnon.

Red Hot for Cuba!

But want to see you keep cool in Red Springs. If you need DRUGS I have them; if you don't need drugs don't forget that COOL DRINKS are always in order. Ice-cold SODA and COCA-COLA now on tap—will be prepared to serve Fruit Phosphates and Sherberts in a few days. If you get to utitaining over the war and find yourself getting a little excited, make a rush for the coolest place in town, and if you feel wilted and too weary to think at all, just try a COCA-COLA and see how quickly it relieves that tired feeling. In this new department of my business I shall endeavor to offer you only the best attainable.
