Mrs. Sallie Watson Passes Away At Her Home Near Maxton

On Sunday morning at 7:00, Mrs. Sallie Watson died at her home on Route 4 near Maxton. Mrs. Watson was seventy-five years old last April. She had been in failing health since January, but became seriously ill about three weeks ago and gradually grew weaker until the end.

Funeral services were conducted from the home Monday morning at 10:30 by her pastor, Rev. J. T. Barham, of Center church, assisted by Dr. E. L. Siler of the Maxton Presbyterian church, Rev. J. B. Black of the Red Springs Presbyterian church, and Rev. G. W. Hanna, of the Antioch Presbyterian church. Interment was made in the family burial ground near the home. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful.

Bearers were Messrs J. M. McArthur, J. D. Watson, Clarence McNeill, D. S. Morrison, D. McP. McArthur, and D. H. Wilkerson.

Mrs. Watson is survived by five sons, Messrs D. N. Watson and L. A. Watson of Maxton, N. P. Watson, Red Springs; D. J. Watson, Rowland, and A. W. Watson, Gretna, Fla.; five daughters, Mrs. Rosa McEachin, Maxton; Mrs. J. W. McNeill, Red Springs; Misses Minnie and Lula Watson, Maxton; and Miss Virginia Watson, Charlotte; one brother, P. H. McArthur, Wakulla, and one sister, Miss Rosa McArthur, Red Springs. There are also surviving thirty-one grand children and six great grand children.

Until recent months Mrs. Watson was rarely sick. She has had a very active and useful life, which was lived entirely for her family and her friends. She will be greatly missed in her home and community, but her influence for good will still remain.

DePriest Rants of Southern Cowardice

Cleveland, O., July 2.—Charges of cowardice and hypocrisy were flung by Congressman Oscar DePriest, negro, of Chicago, last night at members of the legislatures of southern states which recently passed resolutions censuring Mrs. Herriot to a White House reception. DePriest for inviting Mrs. DePriest before 2,000 persons at a mass meeting of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. "They're just a lot of cowards," the Illinois congressman called the southern legislators. "This is my country and your country. I've been elected to congress the same as any other congressman and I'm going to have the rights of every other congressman—no more and no less—if it's in the congressional barber shop or at a White House tea."

DePriest said the criticism of Mrs. Hoover's receiving Mrs. DePriest at the White House tea was an incident used by southern democratic politicians, seeking to win the solid South back into the democratic party.

However, he added, "All racial prejudices is not confined to any one party or to any one church. They are all tinged with it."

Turning to the subject of prohibition, DePriest said: "The government is preparing to spend millions for enforcement of the 18th amendment. A few millions ought to be spent to enforce the 13th, 14th and 15th which guarantee the negro his civil and political rights."

"I do not propose to vote to appropriate a penny to enforce the 18th amendment until similar sums are voted to enforce these other amendments now being violated all through the South."

DePriest said that as a congressman he will pay as much attention to the needs of his white constituents as to those who are black.

"Only in one respect will I insist favoring negroes, and that is in my recommendations for appointments to West Point and Annapolis. As long as I am in congress, I'll appoint only negroes to these two schools, or until some white congressman appoints a negro."

"I want to thank the democrats of the south for one thing—they were so barbaric they drove my parents to the north. If it hadn't been for that I wouldn't be in congress today."

"I've been Jim Crowed, segregated, persecuted and I think I know how best the negro can put a stop to being imposed upon. It is through the ballot, through organization, through fighting eternally for his rights."

DePriest's reference to "driving his parents to the north" hearkened back to his childhood days in northern Alabama. There he witnessed the lynching of three negroes near his home and after that his parents moved to Kansas and later to Chicago.

While the 2,000 persons in the hall where the congressman spoke cheered him loudly and long another 1,000 stood outside, unable to gain admittance.

Sunday Services at the C. M. T. C.

Every Sunday while in camp, gathered together in the open air, nearly 1,000 young men from North and South Carolina attend church services. It is gratifying to the camp officials to see the interest in the spiritual program displayed by the students. Although military in name, the main object of the camp is to develop the young man physically, mentally and morally so that they will be better fitted to perform the duties of citizens in their home communities rather than become trained soldiers.

Flower Show To Be Held in The Fall

All flower lovers will be interested in the announcement that there will be a flower show in Red Springs next fall sponsored by the Woman's Club. This show will be given to stimulate love for growing flowers and the desire to make our town beautiful. There have been many beautiful and lovely flowers grown in and around Red Springs and we hope that everyone will begin exercising unusual care and attention to their flowers in order to be ready for this show. This announcement applies not only to Red Springs but also the surrounding communities: Lumber Bridge, Antioch, Philadelphia, Pembroke, Buie, Wakulla ad surrounding communities.

There will be prizes offered for the nearest perfect specimen of the different exhibits shown. A list of these prizes and further announcements concerning the flower show will be published from time to time in The Citizen.

Howard Odom Injured Last Friday Morning

While operating a cloth folding machine at the cotton mill last Friday morning, Howard Odom met with a painful but, fortunately, not a serious accident. In some way his hand got caught in the belt on the machine and was carried over the pulley, between it and the belt.

Three fingers of the left hand suffered flesh wounds, but the young man escaped with but one broken bone. He expects to be back at work in a few days.

HAVE FAITH IN THEM

Children respond happily to the knowledge that they are being trusted. Instead of sending your child off to school or store with countless warnings about dangerous crossings, say proudly, "I can let you go alone because I know I can trust you to be careful about crossing the street." Instead of telling the children what will happen to them if they quarrel, say, "I am going upstairs now, knowing I can trust you to have fun together." In our family Edna is working hard to improve her eating habits so that she can be trusted to eat her food without any doubts from mother. Paul is working hard to become such a good swimmer that we will trust him to go to the outdoor swimming pool.—Mrs. L. D. K.
