Name Home-Coming Committee for Robeson

The central committee on Home-Coming Week which is to be observed in North Carolina during State Fair Week, October 13-19, met in the governor's office on July 30th, and decided that it would be fitting for each county in North Carolina to have a home-coming on Saturday and Sunday, October 12th and 13th. It was suggested that the home-coming program for the counties "consist of a public meeting at the county seat, public speaking by some distinguished son of the county now living in another state or county, dinner, picnic or barbecue, and a sight-seeing trip on Saturday, October 12th. On Sunday, October 13th, the churches might like to have native sons, now preaching elsewhere, return for sermons in the old home county."

The committee for Robeson County named by the central committee is as follows: J. R. Poole, C. T. Pate, R. F. Stuart, C. B. Skipper, Mrs. Eva F. Floyd, B. F. McMillan, Jr., O. O. Dukes, Miss Flora Lee Carl, Miss C. Spence McMillan, John S. Butler, A. E. White, T. L. Johnson, J. A. Sharpe, M. A. Thompson, R. L. Eastham.

This county committee is expected to have a meeting at an early date and select a chairman, and make all arrangements for the Home-Coming Week in Robeson County.

Cadet McKinnon, of West Point, To Put In Busy Summer

West Point, August 14.—Marking the completion of six strenuous weeks of drill on the parade ground at the U. S. Military Academy here, Cadet Robert H. McKinnon, of Red Springs, N. C., in company with the entire plebe class of 412 cadets will leave here August 19th on a four day practice march, according to orders just issued by Major General William R. Smith, superintendent. Full field equipment will be carried by the cadets and a shelter tent camp will be established each night.

The march will take the cadets through the picturesque Lake region in the foothills of the Catskill mountains, south of West Point. About 40 miles will be covered with over night stops at Popolopen, Becky Camp and Round Pond. During the hike McKinnon will receive special instruction in march discipline, camp sanitation, making camp and care of the feet. He will also take his turn at kitchen police and guard duty. Meals will be prepared by regular army cooks in rolling kitchens, while all drinking water will be purified in a water purification unit. Major T. A. Terry, assistant commandant of cadets, has been designated by General Smith to command the class. On McKinnon's return from the hike, preparation for the opening of the academic year will be started with a series of lectures on methods of study and class room procedure. The new cadets will be divided into classes of twelve men, which will enable instructors to give personal instruction and also insure each cadet reciting in every subject daily. Varsity and intramural athletics will also start on September 1 and all new cadets will be eligible to try out for the plebe football and soccer teams.

Teachers Selected For Local Colored School

The following teachers have been selected and approved by County Superintendent J. R. Poole for the Red Springs colored school for the coming year: Principal, J. C. Baggett; teachers, Plummer Graham, Daisy Quevado, Estella DeVane, Eva Henly, Mary McKay and Edith Stubbs. J. C. Baggett directed the school for several years, some three or four years ago, and his selection to return to the school seems to meet with universal approval among the colored people, patrons of the school.

There will be only seven teachers in the school this year, as against nine last year. This drop in the number of the teachers is due to the operation of the new school law which prohibits the employment of additional teachers above attendance record of the school.

The opening date for the school has not been decided upon yet. The board is waiting for the principle to arrive at which time the date will be set and also the grades to be taught by the different teachers announced. The date, however, will be sometime early in October in order to get in the seven months term authorized for the school.

To Organize Farmers In North Carolina

Meeting to Form State Unit of National Farm Fraternity Will Be Held In September.

Raleigh.—With ten local Granges already organized and a dozen more in immediate prospect, the Grange, a national farm fraternity, is so certain of success in its efforts to organize in North Carolina that a meeting to form a State Grange has already been called for Raleigh in September, announced Charles F. At present, said National Master L. J. Taber when he spoke over radio here the other day, the Grange is organized in 33 states and has a membership of over 800,000 in its 80,000 local granges. The organization was started in 1868 and at one time was active in this State but the North Carolina Grange went out of existence about 30 years ago. The national organization launched the movement and established a State Grange in Virginia last year. At present it is centering its work in this State. South Carolina will be its next major objective.

On the North Carolina advisory committee are the following farm life leaders: Dr. Clarence Poe, of Raleigh, chairman; D. W. Bagley of Moxock; T. E. Browne, of Raleigh; Charles G. Cates, of Mebane; D. J. Lybrook of Advance; Mrs. Sarah Gray McCormick, of McDonald; Mrs. Jana F. McKinnon, of Raleigh; I. O. Schnaub, of Raleigh; and Carl C. Taylor, of Raleigh.

Mr. J. R. Russell Loses Tobacco Barn Sunday

Lumber Bridge.—Mr. J. R. Russell lost a tobacco barn by fire Sunday night. The fire was thought to be of incendiary origin as the tobacco barn had had no fire in it since Friday evening and it had rained heavily since the fire had been taken out. The tobacco was left in the barn to get in order, so it could be taken out Monday morning. So it is supposed the tobacco was stolen and fire set to the barn to cover the tracks of the thieves. Bloodhounds were secured and they took up the trail immediately but could go no farther than the road.

Junior College of Maxton Opens Sept. 11th

Maxton, August 14.—Presbyterian Junior College, located here, will open for class work on September 11th. The registrations to date indicate a widespread and enthusiastic interest in this new institution the number having already gone well beyond the number necessary for accredited rating. Almost every section in eastern Carolina will be represented in the student body, besides representatives from three of four other states. The faculty is composed entirely of men who have both college and university degrees and it is confidently expected that the work of the school will be of a high order. All faculty members will arrive by September 1st.

The entire plant is going through a complete renovation. Carpenters, plumbers, electricians and painters have gone over everything and made all needed repairs. When the cleaners have completed the final touches, the whole place will have the appearance of newness and freshness. It will be recalled that this new institution is opening in the building of the old Carolina College, which was formerly conducted as a girls' school. It will now be conducted as a men's junior college under the control of the Synod of North Carolina. As such it has an absolutely open field, the nearest strictly men's college being more than a hundred miles distant.

The athletic fans in eastern Carolina will be glad to know that the college will have a sane and wholesome recreational program. An athletic field is under construction and will be ready for practice by the opening date, twenty-two new football uniforms have been purchased, and a splendid coaching staff is being organized. It is expected that even this first year will see a good team in this and other college sports.

Local interest in the college is running high. This is very forcefully illustrated by a "canning party" put on recently by the women of the community at which time about two hundred quarts of fruits and vegetables were put up for the college pantry. A college club has been organized and will throughout the year promote various forms of activities for the benefit of the college. While it is true that students may register up to the opening date, the college authorities very strongly suggest that those who plan to enter the institution this year and have not registered yet, attend to this at once. It requires some time to secure high school credits and other information necessary to determine the student's proper rating.

Ice cream was also served in abundance. The day was full of enjoyment and pleasure to its fullest extent and every one left wishing for Mr. and Mrs. Chason many returns of this pleasant anniversary.

"Old West" Still Lives on Arizona's Frontiers

The "Old West" still lives. Jack Holt, with his company of players, including Chester Conkin, Nora Lee, John Loder and Guy Oliver, discovered that in some sections of the country the "old west" still thrives in much the same manner that it has been depicted by the chroniclers of history, motion pictures and story books.

The company recently spent over two weeks in this atmosphere while filming scenes for "Sunset Pass," the filmization of Zane Grey's novel of the same name. Headquarters were established at an old trading post in southwestern Arizona. In this locality, smoke still rises from the adventurer's campfires, and here and there a lone Indian of the Navajo tribe may be seen plodding his way to or from the reservation near Flag-stac.

"Sunset Pass" is a story of cattle rustlers, and the bringing to justice of a band of thieves by a U. S. marshal, a role portrayed by Holt, Nora Lane has the role of the sister of a leader of the outlaws, giving the story thrilling complications, because Holt and Miss Lane fall in love. "Sunset Pass" is said to be one of the most powerful stories ever written by the famous author, and Paramount has faithfully transplanted it reeled "Avalanche," also directed to the screen. Otto Brower, who directed this Zane Grey story.

The film will open at the Rew Springs theatre for a two days' engagement beginning today.
