Flora Macdonald To Broadcast Tonight

The North Carolina Federation of Music Clubs is sponsoring an hour of radio educational music from Station WBT, Charlotte, N. C., every Thursday evening from 7 to 8 p. m. Dr. Vardell has been invited to present a program on Thursday evening, November 21st, over this station. His subject will be "Hymnology." Assisting Dr. Vardell will be a chorus from Flora Macdonald College. Our friends and alumnae know the standard and the quality of hymns selected and presented at Flora Macdonald College. Dr. Vardell conducts the hymn singing at the chapel services, and it is doubtful if this is true of any other college president. Therefore, it is the earnest wish of the college that all who are interested in the singing of hymns "listen in" Thursday evening from 7 to 8 p. m.

Parent Teacher Asso. To Hold Bazaar

The local Parent-Teacher Association will hold their annual bazaar at the high school building Friday, November 22nd, beginning at five o'clock. A display of fancy work will be shown during the afternoon and night. A carefully planned program will be given that night consisting of a cake walk, a yo-yo contest and other forms of amusement. Chicken salad, sandwiches, candy, home-made cake, hot chocolate, and coffee will be sold during the afternoon and night.

Joan Crawford Star In "Our Modern Maidens"

Miss Joan Crawford's faultless acting plus the masterful direction of John Conway, bring to the screen a perfectly moving piece of pure entertainment with the showing at the Red Springs Theatre of "Our Modern Maidens." Today and Friday.

It is a story of a girl caught in the midst of the whirl of the modern jazz age—a girl led to believe that anything is right that brings pleasure, and that one may bargain with the devil and cheat him, too—for pleasure.

How she learns the great laws of life that underlie any artificial conventions or style-made ethics forms the basis of the drama.

Miss Cleo Troutman Weds Florida Man

Of interest to many friends in Red Springs was the announcement of the marriage of Miss Cleo Eloise Troutman to Randolph Charles Brown of Barboursville, Va., on November the ninth at Fernandina.

Mrs. Brown is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Troutman of Red Springs. She attended Brenau College at Gainesville, Ga.

Mr. Brown is connected with the American Tele. phone company at Melbourne, Fla., where he and his bride will make their home.

Baptist Young Folks To Have Party Friday

At a joint meeting of the social committees of the Young Men's Bible Class of the Baptist church and the Senior B. Y. P. U., it was decided to have the quarterly get-together socials of these two organizations Friday night.

"Fast Life" Thrilling Drama Of Present Age

Youth will be served. Perhaps that is why three of the outstanding histrionic performances of the year, in this critic's opinion, are by mere youngsters. Moreover, they're all in one picture.

"Fast Life" will thrill and chill the customers at the Red Springs Theatre next Monday and Tuesday. Loretta Young, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Chester Morris are the youngsters who not only reach new individual heights by their performances, but set a mark that their rivals of all ages must shoot at.

John Francis Dillon, the director, also aided the work of the cast by very capable handling of some lively some rather daring and some very sternly dramatic scenes.

Starting out with an eye-opening "whoopie" staged by the youngsters, and a general atmosphere of gaiety with an undertone that warns us subtly of dangers ahead, "Fast Life" is breath-taking from start to finish. And that finish—fortunately, logically and in a rather novel manner—reaches happiness at the end.

Yes, the plot, production and all-around handling are excellent and if you want to see some youngsters act on the screen, stop in at the Red Springs Theatre Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. M. I. Little Passes At Rex

Lumber Bridge, November 19th.—Mrs. Mack I. Little, wife of the postmaster of Rex, died at her home Wednesday, Oct. 13th. Mrs. Little had been confined to her room for several months and everything was done for her relief that medical skill loving hands and kind hearts could do. Mrs. Little was Miss Cora Dew before marriage, and she was reared at Latta, S. C. She was a member of the Baptist church of Lumber Bridge. The funeral was conducted at the home by her pastor, Rev. G. Scott Turner, assisted by Rev. C. E. Clark. The interment was in the Lumber Bridge cemetery. Mrs. Little is survived by her husband, and one daughter, Miss Genella Little, one sister Mrs. Redfern, of Laurinburg and three brothers Luther of Richmond, Va., Marcus of Raeford, and Will of Lumber Bridge.

Small Child Seriously Injured In Wreck

Lumber Bridge, November 19th.—Shirley Jean Montgomery, the little two-year-old grand daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery of High Point, was painfully if not seriously injured Sunday morning in an automobile wreck between Lumber Bridge and Parkton. The wreck was caused by a car driven by Will Gillis darting out on an obscure road to cross the highway. Mr. Montgomery ran headlong into the car turning it over twice. The child was thrown through the windshield and badly cut. Both cars were considerably damaged. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Montgomery was badly hurt. Will Gillis was not hurt, but Clarence Thompson, another negro in the car was cut and bruised.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery, the child's parents are in Kansas City, Mo., where Mr. Montgomery is in training at an aviation school.

Funeral Rites For Secretary of War Held Yesterday

An Associated Press dispatch has the following to say in The Wednesday's News and Observer, concerning the funeral of Secretary Good: Washington, Nov. 19.—The last tribute of the government will be paid tomorrow to James W. Good, Secretary of War, in the East Room of the White House, where sorrow, triumph and happiness frequently have been written into American history.

In the presence of President Hoover and a distinguished company the rites of the Presbyterian church will be conducted and later the body will be placed upon a special train to Cedar Rapids, Iowa, for burial Friday.

The death of the Cabinet member was mourned in an official White House statement, in which President Hoover said it would not be alone for his public services that Mr. Good would be remembered, but also "for his loyal and self-effacing friendship."

While the service tomorrow will be as restricted as possible for such an important figure in public life, the full honors of military burial will be extended. A guard of honor which took its station shortly after the secretary died, will remain with him until his body is placed in his native soil.

PARKTON NEWS

Carolina and Virginia To Revive Old Feud In Thanksgiving Game

Tar Heels Averaging 32 Points—Virginia Has Fine Team Also—University Making Full Preparations to Handle Crowd.

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 20.—Football fans are already circling "November 28" on their calendars, for that day will see written another MM chapter in the thrilling 87-year North Carolina-Virginia football rivalry.

This year's Thanksgiving classic is to be played in Kenan Stadium here and the fine showings by both teams give promise of one of the greatest Thanksgiving Day battles in the Southland.

The University is already preparing to accommodate a record crowd. Kenan Stadium seats 24,000 in comfort, and extra bleachers can be built if needed.

The new Raleigh-Greensboro highway through Chapel Hill will be reopened, to combine with highways in from Durham and Sanford to make entrance to and exit from Chapel Hill easy in all directions.

All approaches to the stadium are being put in tip-top shape, and new ones are being made. Provision has already been made for a record squad of police to handle the traffic and keep things moving so that the fans can make the game and get back home in time for the turkey suppers.

Carolina beat Davidson 25-7 last Saturday to run its season scoring to 257, or an average of 32 points a game, which places Carolina just 13 points below Tennessee, the Southern Conference leader.

The Tar Heels have won seven games and lost only one, a hard fought 19-12 game to Georgia. Jim Magner and Pete Wyrick, backfield stars, are to be back in shape, to give virtually full strength against Virginia.

Virginia has had a creditable season record also and has been improving every game.

The Virginia has a line of Seniors averaging 190, and a fine crew of backs headed by Johnny Sloan, one of the best quarterbacks in the South.

The Tar Heels hold an edge in victories since the war, with five victories to three losses and two ties, but Virginia has had the better of the 37-year rivalry.

Close games generally mark the meetings. No team has won by as much as 14 points but once since the war, and the average difference in score has been but 4.2 points. Carolina won 14-13 in 1927 and 24-20 last year.

Prominent Raeford Man Passes Wednes.

Raeford, N. C., Nov. 20.—Mr. John L. McFadyen, fifty four, one of Raeford's and Hoke County's most prominent citizens died suddenly here this morning. Mr. McFadyen had gone into the office of McKeithan and Campbell, evidently to see the cotton report, when he suddenly fell and passed away within a few minutes. No one was with him at the time except Mr. J. F. Davis, bookkeeper for McKeithan and Campbell.

Mr. McFadyen appeared this morning to be in his usual health and his death comes as a great shock to this community where he was unusually popular.

He was a graduate of the university of this state, veteran of the Spanish-American war and for years prominent in the business life of this county, having been a large farmer, real estate dealer, cotton buyer, and identified with many business activities.

He is survived by two brothers, W. M. McFadyen of this place and Dr. A. A. McFadyen, a medical missionary in China; and one sister, Mrs. J. W. McLaughlin of Raeford.

The funeral services will be held Thursday morning at eleven o'clock, at the home, and interment will be in the Raeford cemetery.
