LEE-JACKSON DAY IS FITTINGLY OBSERVED HERE

Exercises Commemorating the Birthdays of the South's Two Hero Idols Held in High School Auditorium; Dinner Served to Veterans By U. D. C.

Packing an hour full of music, drills and recitations, the United Daughters of the Confederacy celebrated Lee-Jackson Day here Tuesday in a fitting manner. The exercises for the birthday of America's greatest military leader, Robert E. Lee, and his right arm, the hard-fighting, earnest-praying Stonewall Jackson, were held in the high school auditorium at eleven in the morning. Class work in the school was dispensed with during the hours and the school children marched to the auditorium in a body to participate in the exercises.

The following program was given: Opening prayer by Rev. C. T. Rogers of the Methodist church. Song, America, by the assemblage. Address of Welcome, by Supt. J. Pugh, who also presided over the meeting.

Song, Carolina, by the assemblage. Recitation, by Tommie McLean. Music, by a string quartet composed of Mrs. W. B. Robeson, Mrs. W. E. Garrett, Miss Mary McEachern and Mr. Rowland Brown, which rendered several selections. Remarks by Veterans. Music, Dixie.

Benediction by Rev. S. F. Hudson, of the Baptist church. Mrs. A. T. Parmelee of Lumberton, was also on the program for a history of Capt. Norment's Flag and Company, but for some unknown reason she failed to appear.

Probably the most interesting and realistic part of the program were the remarks by Mr. Andrew Currie, the only veteran who responded to the invitation to tell of their experiences during the war. Mr. Currie gave a very vivid account of the events occurring during those stirring days from 1861-65, centering his remarks especially around Fort Fisher.

Following the exercises in the auditorium the veterans of all wars were served dinner in the Home Economics room of the school by the Daughters of the Confederacy, at which four veterans of the Civil War, Gen. G. H. Hall, Mr. M. D. McNeill, Mr. W. M. Owen and Mr. Andrew Currie, and two Spanish-American War veterans, Messrs J. D. Taylor and J. R. McMillan, and a large number of World War veterans were present, as was also the Children's Chapter of the U. D. C. Owing to sickness the two remaining Confederate veterans of this section were unable to attend the exercises. These were Mr. E. C. Cope and Mr. E. C. Moody. Following the dinner, boxes bountifully filled were sent to the two absent veterans by the Daughters with messages of love and cheer.

Radio Operator Won't 'Cuss' Any More

Shreveport, La., Jan. 16.—W. K. Henderson, operator of radio station WVKH here, today telegraphed Congressman Sandlin of Louisiana that in order to preserve harmony in his radio audience he had decided in the future to refrain from using "damn" and "hell" in his radio talks against chain stores though he did not consider these words profane as Senator Dill charged.

He also wired the federal radio commission in Washington naming four stations which he said were interfering with the WVKH programs and asked "can't something be done to clear our channel."

"We are receiving not a few but hundreds of telegrams advising that WENR, WABC, WLS and KOA are interfering with our programs," Mr. Henderson telegraphed the commission.

"I have never used curse words as curse words are known in the dictionary, but possibly my language has been distasteful for a few, and in order not to displease those that might have been displeased, I announced that I would eliminate the 'hells' and 'damns' and would see what Senator Dill had to say," his telegram read.

"I did this in order to maintain harmony so that the fight against chain stores could proceed uninterrupted and so that the public would not lose sight of the main issue against chain stores and consider the language I was using."

Young Men Injured In Auto Accident

Ellis Turner and John Beddinger, both of Red Springs, were slightly injured Sunday morning about three o'clock, in an automobile accident which occurred as they were returning from a trip to Maxton. Mr. Beddinger was driving a Ford tudor sedan owned by his father. The car which they collided with was a Chevrolet coupe driven by a stranger. The accident occurred at the curve in front of Mr. Sandy McNeill's home. When the cars met, Beddinger's car glided further and hit some cement piping by the side of the road and then the ditch and was completely demolished. Only the left rear wheel and the running board of the Chevrolet were torn off. The driver of the Chevrolet was not injured. The cause of the accident has not been determined, each party blaming the other.

Smallpox In Five Communities of Co.

By E. R. Hardin, Health Officer
Two new cases of smallpox were reported from the Harmony community (between Philadelphia and Floral College), one from Marietta, four from Rennett this week. All of these cases were visited by the Health officer and as many contacts as possible vaccinated. However, some of the people exposed to these cases neglected to get vaccinated. Such negligence as this will further the spread of smallpox.

I understand that smallpox is present in some of the adjoining counties, and only this week we learned from one of the daily papers that there were 350 cases of smallpox in Harnett county. During the last eight days, smallpox has been reported in the following communities in Robeson county: Buie, Harmony, Marietta and Rennett. Cases have previously been reported at Eldrod. Of the 17 cases of smallpox this far reported have been in white people.

This law requires that all school children be vaccinated when smallpox is present in a school district. It is necessary that all people exposed to smallpox be vaccinated within a week after exposure if they expect to be protected against the disease. Several of the people that now have smallpox neglected to do this, and there are others that will have it for the same reason. People who have been exposed, or who live in communities where smallpox is prevalent, and yet neglect to get vaccinated, are responsible for most of the smallpox epidemics. There is only one safe rule to follow, if you want to be protected against smallpox, and that is get vaccinated as soon as possible if you have never been vaccinated, or if you have been vaccinated more than seven years. This will protect you, and if you are still immune from your vaccination of seven years ago, it will prove your immunity. Smallpox will not take on an individual who has had smallpox or who still has the required amount of immunity from a previous vaccination. If you are in doubt about this question of protection against smallpox vaccination ask your family physician. Do not listen to the advice of people whose only information on the subject is what they have heard someone else say.

adverse criticism in the senate, flared up again today when Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, asked that Henderson be called to answer the complaints.

As the senate interstate commerce committee continued hearings on the Couzens communications bill, the Montana senator suggested that Henderson be asked to appear to reply to statements that he was using profanity in broadcasting.

No action was taken, since Chairman Couzens reminded Wheeler that hearings would continue indefinitely if everyone were called.

SCHOOL BOARD HOLDS SPECIAL MEET MONDAY

Meeting Called to Act Upon Petition From Flora Macdonald College to Allow Practice Teaching by Seniors. Petition Allowed in Modified Form.

The Red Springs school board met in special session Monday night to act upon a petition from Flora Macdonald College for the privilege of having the members of the senior class who expect to apply for teachers' certificates in June do practice teaching in the high school again this year as was done last year. The request was granted in modified form.

Last year these girls of the senior class at the college were given more or less a free hand in teaching the high school classes. The plan as stated by the board at the time was only an experiment for that year. Even at that it was strongly opposed by one member of the board on the grounds that it interfered with the regular school work and was not giving the high school students the instruction they had a right to expect. Numerous and strong protests were received from the patrons of the school.

This year when the petition was renewed superintendent Pugh stated to the board that he was opposed to turning his classes over to another teacher, and especially a young, inexperienced teacher, but said he would be willing to allow the college girls observe his and the other classes in the school and would assist them in making out a daily lesson plan covering the subject being observed. The plan as worked out by Superintendent Pugh was unanimously endorsed by the board. It provides for observation only by the college seniors. The observers will be required to make out a lesson plan each day in advance. This plan will be gone over by the teacher regularly in charge of the class and criticised by him with the girl doing the observing, but the real teaching of the class will be done by the regular teacher and the plan used in the instruction will be that of the regular teacher. Under this plan it is felt the girl will get all the experience required by the state department by having to make out her own lesson plan and having it criticised by the teacher and observing the regular teacher conduct the class although the girl does not actually put her own plan into operation.

The resolution as passed by the board allows this observation only for the girls named in the original petition and for the classes outlined, specifically limiting it to these and restricting any change either in the schedule or the personnel of the original application.

Young People Meet At Baptist Church

The members of the Epworth League of the Methodist church and senior Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church were guests of the senior B. Y. P. U. at the Baptist church last Sunday night. The Baptist young folks presented their regular weekly program, consisting of a Bible drill, and talks by the various members of the group in charge. At the beginning of the service Miss Linda Cook and Mrs. Pete Stanton rendered a very enjoyable duet selection, accompanied by Miss Wanda Shook. Miss Edna Stanton was the group leader in charge of the program, and the members of her group led an interesting discussion on Sin.

During the closing general assembly of all unions a very interesting feature was a beautiful duet sung by 8-year-old Margaret McLaughlin and her older brother, Claude. Margaret has a fine alto voice and with the coming of the years a great career is predicted for her. The pastor, Rev. S. F. Hudson, made a few timely remarks to the young people, reminding them that the joint services could be made very beneficial to the different organizations.

This is the second meeting of the kind to be held here, and is in keeping with a plan originated several weeks ago. The first meeting was held at the Methodist church in December, and it is understood that the next gathering will be at the Presbyterian church sometime next month. These are decidedly interesting services, and much good is expected to come from them. They give each society an opportunity of observing the workings of the others, and it is hoped that the instruction and inspiration derived from them will fill the young church workers with a greater enthusiasm for their work, and will cause the various organizations to do a greater work among the young people of their churches.

Mrs. W. K. Hamilton Passes At Rennett

Correspondence To The Citizen.
Rennett, Jan. 18.—After an illness of several months, Mrs. W. K. Hamilton, aged 49, quietly passed away at her home at Rennett Jan. 18th.

Through her long illness she was patient and all that loving hands could do was done for her, but she steadily grew worse till death relieved her of suffering.

She was a consecrated Christian woman and a member of the Rennett Baptist church. No better neighbor ever lived, always willing and glad to help, but quietly staying at home and giving her best to her family.

Gray, Tar Heel, Jenro and Jack Gray, St. Pauls, two sisters, Messdames Hampton Jackson, Lumberton, and A. F. Brown, Hope Mills.

"Broadway" Coming Here Next Week

A top-price Broadway revue and a New York play hit rolled into one at the price of a motion picture—such is "Broadway," the Universal super talking and singing production which is playing at the Red Springs Theatre next Monday and Tuesday. Bargain sales in entertainment are something new, but that is literally what such an all-sound production as "Broadway" gives to the theatre-goer. After seeing the film, it is easy to believe that Carl Laemmle, Jr., spent $1,500,000 to make it.

"Broadway," to begin with, was a sensational play which kept New York itself on edge for almost two years. The action of the play has been faithfully reproduced in the picture, not only with full dialogues, but with two outstanding characters of the original production playing the parts which they made famous throughout the country.

In addition, everything which could not be shown on the stage has been added to the picture; all the exterior scenes which so materially enhance the vivid drama of the story, and, more notably still, the Paradise Night Club itself, around which revolved so much of the action but which could only be spoken of, not seen, on the stage.

The sequences laid in this scene alone are worth far more than the price charged for the entire picture, for, in a setting much more lavish than anything hitherto seen on the screen, a full revue is presented, complete with a chorus of beautiful girls and marvelous music.

DRY SEARCHERS GIVEN WARNING BY CHIEF DORAN

Prohibition Commissioner Tells Assistants That Private Homes Protected Against Unreasonable Search; Agents Must not Exceed Rights.

Following close upon the heels of the killing of two Federal prohibition enforcement officers last week by a resident of West Palm Beach, Fla., when they forced an entrance to his home, presumably without a search warrant, prohibition commissioner Doran issued emphatic instructions to all enforcement officers to respect the sanctity of the home. Calling the attention of all Federal officers charged with enforcing the Volstead act to the fact that the courts have always held a person's home should not be invaded except in strict compliance with the law, the instructions sent out by the commissioner covers the duties and power of the agents.

The statement in part follows: "A man's home has been described as his castle and should be guarded by the law," the instructions said. "As to the search of places other than private dwellings the courts have been considerably more liberal in construing the provisions of the law. It has been held by the supreme court of the United States that the constitution only provided against unreasonable searches and seizure and not all searches and seizures. If a search is reasonable except probably in case of a dwelling, it is not a violation of the constitution provision."

"The thought that you should have in mind at all times in reference to search warrants is that the rights of the person against whom the warrant is directed are paramount to the success of the search. Do not unnecessarily resort to harsh means or tactics in the discharge of your duty in this regard."

"You must remember that when a search warrant is being applied for and in its execution and return, you are handling one of the most technical instruments known to the law. It is one thing in the law that the courts have been inclined to dismiss on technical grounds, while the general tendency of the courts is to do away with technicalities."

"You are admonished at all times to keep in mind that a search warrant is an extraordinary writ, and should be dealt with accordingly. While it is perfectly obvious that in the course of events and changing economic conditions, laws have been passed by which it has become necessary to issue search warrants almost in every case arising under those laws, the warrant has not lost its dignity."

"The tendency of the courts, including the supreme court of the United States, in recent decisions, is to protect the citizen against unreasonable searches and seizures. All federal law enforcement officers should be thoroughly familiar with this subject, as it restricts, defines, and limits the scope of your lawful activities."

Robert Armstrong In Underworld Picture

Human, tense, dramatic, thrilling, "The Racketeer," starring Robert Armstrong and featuring Carol Lombard, which appears at the Red Springs Theatre Saturday, is a picture story of society life and the underworld that will exert a powerful appeal with motion picture fans everywhere. The action, for the greater part, takes place in the upper circles of wealth and fashion in New York and the theme deals with the love romance of a society girl and a leader in the underworld—a romance as appealing as it proves to be tragic in its ultimate unfoldment. The picture, carrying all the menace of underworld influence, is one of the far-reaching power of gangster rule, extending the tentacles of a lawless octopus into the higher strata of society.

NEW INDUSTRY OPENS ITS DOORS HERE TODAY

New Grocery in the Great Pender Chain Located in Carolina Bank Building; Local Man Manager.

The Pender Grocery store chain opened up a new store in its chain here this morning when the doors were thrown open and the public invited to come in and inspect the establishment. The new store is fully equipped with the latest labor-saving devices in the way of shelves, counters, etc. A full stock of fresh, new goods, bought especially for this store fills the shelves and bins and the smiling countenance of Mr. W. Located on the corner of Third Avenue and Main Street in the building known as the Carolina Bank building, the new business has one of the best locations in town. It is the corner around which everybody turns in going to the postoffice or the college. The large plate glass windows give the manager an opportunity to display his goods to the very best advantage. The attractive yellow front makes the store readily distinguishable from the others in the block.

Penders Store in Red Springs is under the management of Mr. W. D. Allen, who has made Red Springs his home during the last year. Mr. Allen first moved his family to Red Springs when he became associated with the B. and C. Chevrolet Company. After leaving the employ of the Chevrolet Company, Mr. Allen went to Maxton to work with the Pender Store there until this store should be opened. His family continued to live here in Red Springs. During their residence here the past year they have made many friends who will be glad to know that Mr. Allen is to be located here permanently.

LOCAL YOUNG MAN MEETS WITH UNUSUAL MISHAP

John Callahan, Jr., Loses Teeth While Watching Dactor Treat Arm of Victim of Hit and Run Driver

John Callahan, Jr., met with a most unusual and rather serious accident Sunday afternoon in which he suffered the loss of several front teeth and the severe dislocation of his jaw bones. The accident occurred as the result of a fainting spell on the part of young Callahan in the office of Dr. R. D. McMillan.

The accident seems to have been the culmination of events occurring during an enactment of the Good Samaritan act. From information obtainable, an Indian boy from the Buie section had been run over by a hit and run driver, breaking the lad's arm and otherwise bruising and scratching him. The boy's father had brought him to Red Springs in search of a doctor. Meeting the Indian on the street, young Callahan and his companions assisted him to Dr. McMillan's office. While standing there watching Dr. McMillan set the little boy's broken arm, the sight of the broken arm and the blood was evidently too much for John, Jr., who without any warning did the fainting act, falling to the floor and knocking out several teeth.

Young Callahan is still confined to his home suffering from severe shock in addition to his other injuries, but his condition is considered as satisfactory as could be expected.

Hotel Is Slightly Damaged By Fire

About 8:30 Sunday night the fire alarm sounded and the Red Springs Fire Department was called to the Red Springs Hotel. When the truck reached the scene of the flames, which were coming from the servants' quarters over the kitchen, looked rather dangerous, but with quick service by the firemen the fire was soon put out.

The fire is thought to have originated from a fire in a small heater in the cook's room. There was not much damage done and the loss is estimated to be about $500. The windows and the walls of the room were damaged by water and the cook lost all of her possessions in the room, but as the kitchen is only a link of the main building, the main building was not damaged.
