The House of Representatives chopped the draft bill down to passable size yesterday and approved the amended measure tentatively by a voice vote of 156 to 88. The bill as passed would require 1 year of service for men 19 through 25, instead of the two years it originally called for. The special responsibility for calling men into service was placed with

THE FATHER OF MRS. E. L. STOFFEL OF MAXTON, Master Sergeant W. C. (Smiley) Williams, is shown at right receiv ing his certificate of Equivalency for a high school diploma, although he is a college graduate of Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va. Presenting the certificate is Maj. Gen. Leon W. Johnson, commander of the 15th Air Force with headquarters in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Sgt. Williams, 61, holds a reserve officer rating of full Colonel and served at Lt. Col. and chief chaplain of the 6th Air Force in the Carribean theatre in World War II; he also served two years in Paxama. Upon cessation of hostilities he became an inactive reserve corps officer and re-enlisted at his regular army rating of M/Sgt.

The sergeant attended Davidson College and then the sem inary where he was ordained to the ministry. As high school diplomas were not required for entrance to these schools forty fears ago he entered by examination. He recently attended the Army Information School at Carlisle Barracks in Pennsylvania where he will become a member of the faculty in the near future. Sgt. To Bring Robeson School To State Average

5c A Copy

Robeson county's school and gov ernment leaders heard a four and one-half million dollar story on Friday night. It was the story of the present delapidated and deplorable condition of the county school system, and the story of what it would cost to put these schools in a more useful and thoroughly modern condition to provide a secondary education comparable to the best in the state for all children of the county, Dr. W. E. Rosenstengle, schoo building expert of the faculty if the School of Education of the University of North Carolina, mail the report of a special committee selected early this year for the purpose of making a complete tudy of the county's school system and bringing in a set of recommendations which would adequate ly cover the needs of the school children of Robeson county. Members of the committee were Dr. Rosenstengle, Dr. J. Henry Highsmith, chairman of the State Department of Education, John L. Cameron and A. B. Combs of the State Dept. of Ed., and F. D. Byrd, Jr., of the Cumberland County department of education. The survey was made by reques of the Board of County Commissioners. C. A.
