Other Papers Say:

TWO NON-SMOKING SENATORS

The publicity department of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company sends out a photograph of U. S. Senator Clyde R. Hoey receiving a gift of a carton of Cavalier cigarettes, the new brand now being put on the market by Reynolds. The presentation is being made by a smiling man dressed in fancy costume to resemble the figure of the Cavalier on the package.

The caption sent along with the photograph says: "Senator Hoey 'meets,' in the nation's capital, a distinctive product of North Carolina."

What the Reynolds publicity man did not say was that, though Senator Hoey received the cigarettes, he would not use them. For, Senator Hoey does not smoke. No doubt he gave the Cavaliers to members of his office staff; maybe he gave some of them to fellow Senators.

So far as I know, nothing has been sent out by the Reynolds publicity department about a gift of Cavaliers to Mr. Hoey's colleague, U. S. Senator Frank P. Graham. But surely he must have got a carton too. It would be a most flagrant display of favoritism for one Senator from the State to get a gift of Cavaliers and the other not. If I find out this was the case, I am going to send to Chairman of the Board James A. Gray a protest against the Senator from Chapel Hill's being slighted.

If Senator Graham did get a carton of Cavaliers, he, like Senator Hoey, passed them on to somebody else, for he also does not smoke.

I have not inquired into the subject and cannot speak from knowledge, but I'll bet there is not another State in the Union both of whose Senators are non-smokers, and these two non-smoking Senators represent the State which leads all others in both tobacco growing and tobacco manufacturing!

What a frightful blow it would be to the State's whole financial structure if other people did not give any more support to North Carolina's chief branch of agriculture and chief industry than our two Senators do! And there come to mind two other prominent North Carolinians, citizens of Chapel Hill, who do not smoke: Acting President of the University William D. Carmichael, Jr., and Chairman of the Trustees' Building Committee Collier Cobb Jr.

(You can add to the roll of non-smoking North Carolinians Attorney General Harry McMullan and myself; but we used up a lot of tobacco before we quit smoking several years ago and so can claim that we have done our share as supporters of North Carolina's agriculture and industry.)

AT LAST

A book borrowed 57 years ago has been returned to the public library in Leominster, Mass.

Miss Florence E. Wheeler had announced that for one week overdue books could be returned without payment of penalties. The book, yellowed by age, was left at the door of the library. It had been borrowed in 1892.

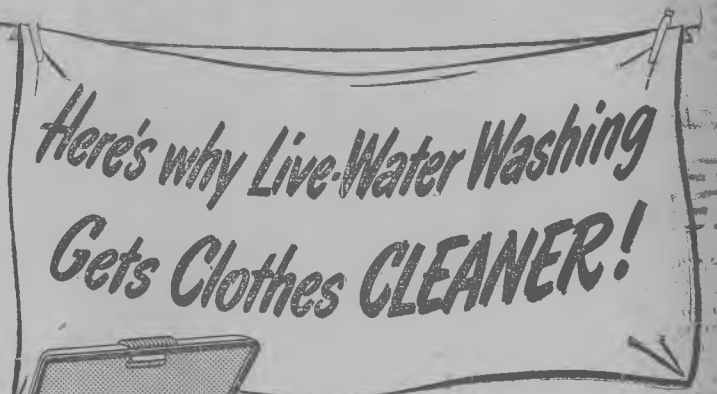

How Many Tobacco Seed in Pint Jar?

HARTSVILLE, S. C. — Do you know how many tobacco seed there are in a pint glass jar.

W. A. McLeod, Jr., of Red Springs Rt. 2 and Alton Price, manager of Robeson Manufacturing Co., Lumberton, were recent participants in such a guessing game sponsored at the Third Annual Belt-Wide Cotton Mechaniza-

A total of 423 North Carolina farmers have entered the 200-bushel corn contest for 1949, according to Dr. E. R. Collins, in charge of agronomy for the State College Extension Service.
