Maxton Workers Make Much Progress

In Maxton the results of the first three days had not been tallied but satisfactory reports were being received by Chairman John H. McKinnon from campaign workers.

Mr. McKinnon stated that the goal of $200,000 was much greater than any quota ever assigned to the community and that it was going to require a tremendous effort on the part of everyone to make the drive a success there. He stated that the Fifth War Loan Drive is probably the most important financial effort of the entire war to date, and its success is critically needed. "What the invasion is to our fighting men," he said, "this Fifth War Loan might truthfully be compared with our effort here at home. Our soldiers expect to hear that we are buying double, that we are making some effort to match their great sacrifices in the only way we can aid in the gigantic effort to win the war. Our Committee can only ask that you see, personally, that you do all that you can, as they are counting on us desperately as they are counting on them."
