Plans Complete For Celebration Of College's Fiftieth Birthday

Plans have been completed, under the chairmanship of Dr. D. S. Currie of Parkton, for the celebration of the fiftieth year of service for Flora Macdonald college. whose graduates may be found in many fields of usefulness in every state in the union, and in many foreign countries. By a fortunate coincidence, 1946, also marks the 200th anniversary of the deed that made the Scottish maiden, Flora Macdonald, the idol of her country, when she saved the life of the "Bonnie Prince," Charles Edward Stuart, in 1746.

It is most fitting that this college. which has had throughout the years. and is having with increasing now er, so great an influence on the womanhood of the state, should be named for the famous Scotswoman, situated as it is in the heart of the Cape Fear section of the Old North State, where she made her home while in America.

The formal afternoon program will feature as principal speaker, the Honorable Angus L. Macdonald, premier of Nova Scotia, war-time Minister of the Canadian Navy, and now being prominently mentioned as the next Prime Minister of Canada. Most appropriately, the Premier will be introduced by the Honorable Josephus Daniels. Secretary of the Navy during the first World War, and recently ambassador to Mexico. The afternoon program will open at 3:30, with an academic procession in which presidents of the colleges and universities in the Carolinas and representatives of Scottish Societies throughout the United States and Canada, will participate.

Another highlight of the occasion will be the presence of the nationally famous "Kittie Band of York." Pa., consisting of sixteen bagpipers and drummers, who will bring with the a solo dancer-a Scottish girl who will dance a number of Scot tish folk-dances in costume, to the music of the pipers. The Highland Fling, under the direction of Miss Ethel Bateman, will be danced by a group of students.

Mrs. Elbert McPhaul and son In the evening of the same day, Macdonald in Scotland," will be pre- visit to retatives in South Boston, several weeks following his dissented in the out door theatre of the college, under the direction of its author, Mrs. Clara Marley of Chapel Hill and Cary. Interpretative dances, under the direction of Miss Bateman, will intersperse the acts of the pageant, the spectacular sword dance will be given by the solo dancer, special music under the direction of Dean Reuter will feature the program, and again the bagpipers will be a part of the pageant. All costuming will be authentic. The principal parts will be played by professionals, and Mrs. Marley is busy with rehearsals, day and night, with the entire cast, which will include a number of Flora Macdonald students.

Dr. Rutledge Is Speaker At Red Springs

Dr. Archibald Rutledge, South Carolina's poet laureate and famous author, was a most interesting chapel speaker at Flora Macdonald Friday, using as his subject, "What I have learned while attempting to restore an Ancient Plantation." The plantation to which he re ferred was a Crown grant of 12,000 acres, to his own family in 1686. The present house, built in 1722, is an example, he said, of America at its best and a monument to the skill of that day. It contains 16 rooms of English brick, heart pine, cedar and mahogany.

Dr. Rutledge said he was transplanted to the North for 23 years as a teacher, but never took root, so came back to restore his ancestral home off the Santee, built by one of his forbears, Edward Rutledge, who was a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and was lived in by his son, Governor John Rutledge. ston, had a wide reputation for the hospitality for which the South is famed. This hospitality was enjoyed by many notables, including George Washington, who was entertained there after the Revolution, and during the same period, it was the scene of a ball given in will begin Monday, April 29th. honor of LaFayette. Frances Marion had headquarters in this home, and his chair is still there. In the ball room, he said, the floor boards are 42 feet long with out a break. He told of finding an

The citizens committee backing the vote has pointed out that state and county funds are not sufficient to provide all the needs of a well rounded school program.

Recognized by the school board as pressing requirements for the Red Springs school are a vocational department, science labbratory, special educational equipment, including the library materials and visual educational equipment, physical education program. special teachers where needed, and a commercial course.

The above items can only be financed through local money raisely through a special levy as the state and county funds can not be stretched that far.

The vote April 27 is on the question of levying a special tax in the school district not to exceed 25 cents on the $100 valuation.

Those backing the program have urged that all persons registered to cast their vote as the election is" "against the books" and a vote not cast is a vote against the proposal. Patrons of the school attending the operetta Thursday night heard a short talk by Superintendent B. E. Lohr of the Lumberton schools, who outlined the advantages that have come to his schools through a special levy, which was voted in 1937

Declaring that he wanted to do all he could to encourage more money for education, Mr. Lohr pointed out numerous improvements the Lumberton schools had made with money obtained from the special levy.

The improvements included: 1. Maintenance above minimum standards available on state funds. 2. Extra teachers, lightening the load and making the new subjects available.

3. Addition of a commercial department. 454 4. Physical education training. 5. Visual education training.
