Mrs. Hyndman Is Taken By Death

Mrs. Franklin L. Hyndman, who was before her marriage Miss Sallie Austin, one of Maxton's best loved women, passed away at her home Monday morning at 8 o'clock, succumbing to coronary thrombosis, with which she was stricken on Thursday afternoon, May 2. Apparently in her usual health, she had attended a meeting of the executive board of Presbyterian Woman's auxiliary, of which she was a member, and had returned home shortly before the attack.

Her pastor, the Rev. T. Layton Fraser, assisted by Dr. Louis C. LaMotte, president of Presbyterian Junior college, Dr. Henry G. Bedinger, president of Flora Macdonald college of Red Springs, and the Rev. G. F. Kirkpatrick, pastor of Centre church, officiated at the funeral services. A choir composed of members of the choir in town sang "How Firm a Foundation" and Mrs. R. M. Williams, pianist, played "Jerusalem the Golden" and "Pilgrims of the Night." "Crossing the Bar" was quoted by Rev. G. F. Kirkpatrick and beautiful tribute was paid the life of the deceased by each of the ministers, who had known her for many years. The closing prayer was made at Oakgrove cemetery by Rev. Fraser, as the remains were laid to rest beneath a canopy of lovely flowers.

Active pallbearers were M. P. James, R. C. Holland, J. M. Patterson, Murdoch McLean, J. D. Medlin and E. A. Hellekson. Honorary pallbearers were McKay McKinnon, L. W. McKinnon, J. B. The family moved to Maxton when she was a small child and she was educated in the Maxton schools, later graduating from Flora Macdonald college. She took post graduate study at Columbia university and taught for a while in the schools of South Carolina. She was later principal of the Montreat Normal and of the Green Brier college in Lewisburg, W. Va.

In June 1924, she was married to Franklin F. Hyndman of Schenectady, N. Y., whom she had met on board a ship for Tokyo as delegates to the World's Sunday School convention. After her marriage she and Mr. Hyndman made their home in Schenectady where he was in business until 12 years ago, when he retired because of ill health. They both, however, took an active part in all phases of the community life and were especially interested in the establishment of the library to which they contributed most generously.

Mrs. Hyndman continued to live here and served as co-chairman with her sister, Miss Lillian Austin, in charge of the surgical dressings for the American Red Cross during the war, was president of the Flora Macdonald Alumnae association, a member of the executive board of Presbyterian Junior college and in various capacities in the work of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church.

PREDICTIONS ON PRIMARY

What's the talk in the barber shops, on the street corners, around the courthouse.

Naturally its centering around Saturday's primary and who the winners will be.

As the campaign goes into the home stretch all candidates report that their prospects for recognized fact that the number of offices to be filled determines the number of possible winners.

Here's the way things seem to be shaping up, according to the judgment of a number of political observers.

In the race that possibly carries the greatest amount of interest, W. S. (Billy) Britt will poll a strong vote in Robeson, enabling him to carry his home county. He will also carry a good size vote in other counties of the district but J. Bayard Clark of Fayetteville probably will carry much too great a lead for Britt to win the nomination.

The three-cornered sheriff's race is likely to wind up with a second primary between Billy Chason and Willis Britt, with the incumbent, Sheriff E. C. Wade, running third.

Probably one of the closest races to be seen in Robeson county will be for the State Senate between Henry A. McKinnon and Frank McNeill with McKinnon expected to take a slight edge over his opponent.

The resolution concerning the labor situation read: "Resolved that we are faced with a crisis without parallel in our national history, which is brought about by unscrupulous labor leaders. They have defied every freedom and tradition of our nation, for which our forefathers fought, bled and died, and the ideals for which our comrades of the last two wars fought and died, that all might have a decent world in which to live. Instead today, the world is faced with famine and pestilence and uncertainty and confusion reigns in every mind."

"That it is further resolved that: "Today, as Legionnaires who have sworn allegiance to our flag and country, we are charged with the responsibility of seeing to it that no man shall destroy our freedom of thinking and living and plunge our nation into poverty and chaos."

"Therefore, we, the members of Liberty Post 117 of Maxton resolve: "1. That we rededicate our post to 100 per cent Americanism."

"2. That we make it clear from this moment that we will not tolerate in office short-sighted, spineless, self-seeking men whom we term politicians."

"3. That we urge our government to protect labor, and at the same time not to injure industry."

"4. That John L. Lewis and other un-American labor leaders be dethroned as dictators of labor."

"5. That Congress be asked to rescind any laws on the statute books that will permit any labor leader to defy our president. That Congress be asked to make laws that are American in principle for both labor and industry."

"6. That our post inform our state commander of our action and request him to inform posts throughout North Carolina and that the commander ask the National commander of the adoption by all state departments."

The resolution was drawn up by R. F. Morris, C. A. Hasty and G. F. Cuthrell, Jr.
