Pic Gallery Of War Veterans Being Assembled

RED SPRINGS—A pictorial service record of each of the men who served during World War II is being compiled by the local post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, it was stated here today by James Dickson McLean, commander of the post.

The material is being gathered so that a brief account of the service of each man or woman in their picture, and other information will be used in the publication of a book which will contain such information on all the men from the Red Springs community.

Proceeds from the sale of the service record will be used by the post in the erection of their club house, construction of which was started recently.

The post has recently purchased property on the Raeford road next to the airport. The 2-acre tract has been graded and foundations footing poured for a club-room 30 by 60 feet. Conder block materials will be used for the construction of the building, funds for which are now in the post treasury. Mr. McLean stated that it was hoped that sale of the service record publication would provide sufficient funds for furnishing the building.

The grounds are to be landscaped and an area will be devoted to recreational facilities, picnic grounds and the entire facilities are to be integrated into the community recreation program. Materials for construction of a barbecue pit have been purchased.

The building at first, will consist of a single 30 by 60 assembly room, and as the demands for other facilities arises it is expected that suitable rooms can be added to the structure.

Auto Inspection Continues Here

LUMBERTON.—J. S. Edgerton, supervisor of the auto inspection lane in Lumberton, says that the inspection here will continue until March 23 when the unit will be moved to Whiteville. Mr. Edgerton believes that the impression that the lane had already left Lumberton is widespread. After being in Columbus county the unit will return here May 1.

Mr. Edgerton said that although no cars had been condemned, the rate of rejection for repairs is about 30 per cent, which is a reduction from the approximately 50 per cent at the opening of the inspection lane. "Car owners," says the inspector, "will save a great deal of time if they will correct obvious defects such as faulty tail lights, stop lights and parking lights before going through the lane, but mechanical defects can best be discovered by using the lane to find them."

The time required to have a vehicle inspected ranges from five to ten minutes although some time may be consumed waiting in line. Hours for the lane are from 8 o'clock to 5 o'clock except for one-half hour between noon and 12:30.

New Manager For Southern Bell In Lumberton

Charlie Williams To Go To Companies' Greensboro Office

RED SPRINGS—Twas just a tip, but the county police, Paul McQueen and Fred Russell decided to see if there really was a still operating on the banks of the Big Raft, near Shannon.

C. E. Cottrell and Fred Russell of the Red Springs police force were asked to go along, because the swamp in that area is wide and jungle-like and there's always the possibility that there will be several men at a blind tiger, and some will surely break and run.

Carefully the approach was made and the four officers soon spotted the smoke of a corn likker plant running at full blast . . . and drifting towards them were the strains of the hillbilly melody, "She'll Be Coming 'Round the Mountain." The officers closed rapidly under cover of the music, all arriving at the still at about the same time. There was the still, with a stream of white lightning flowing from the condenser at the rate of about 5 gallons per hour—and atop the box was a radio playing away. Over beside a tree a lone attendant, lulled by the music, was sleeping soundly. Lee Wilkins, the operator of the still was awakened, the police got a gallon of the joy juice for evidence, destroying the still and the other distillate, and now Wilkins is enjoying his music through the bars of the county jail.

A native of Mississippi and daughter of the late D. P. and Jane Trussell Oliver, she came to North Carolina about 25 years ago and taught school until she became ill last fall. She was teaching at Gray's Creek in Cumberland county at that time, and when she returned to her home in this section, she served in this position, including St. Pauls, Barker-Ten Mile and Parkton. She was married about 14 years ago to Mr. McMillan.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon from Green Springs Baptist church, of which she was a member, by her pastor, Rev. J. M. Gibbs, assisted by a former pastor, Rev. Clements and by Dr. H. C. Durham. Interment was in the church cemetery.

Week's Sport At Red Springs Hi

By BILL COLEMAN
Gather around folks—let me tell you, again: "OUR" girls won the Robeson county basketball championship. Under way last Wednesday at Lumberton, a tough schedule faced the lassies. Though they coasted to an easy victory over the B-T team, 33 to 13 in the opener on Wednesday, Thursday was a different story when "our" girls went up against a strong Orm team which they eased out by one of those scores—22 to 20.

Friday night at the finals anyone entering the armory might have wondered whether he was in Lumberton or Red Springs. The local court enthusiasts were out in force and win or lose, the team would not lack for support. Off to a slow start, the game was a see-saw affair between the Springs and Parkton. Closely called by officials, it was largely a defensive battle throughout with both teams playing excellent games. Final score—Red Springs girls 30; Parkton 27.

For the tournament play: McPhaul was high scorer on the championship squad with a total of 47 points, or 16, 19, and 12 as the games were played. The squad was composed of McPhaul, McArthur, Setvens, and Hickman, forwards; and Townsend, Mayberry, Armstrong, Duncan, Hardesty and Hutson. Over here at RS Hi they are our heroines of the year. Remember, girls, we love you all and we are wondering today if Coach James Conder has anything left which he can call a fingernail. Nice job, Coach. Too bad we boys couldn't get going down there too.
