Last Sunday was one of the most beautiful days of the season and everybody in the village was out of doors. All the horses belonging to the livery stable were out and parties could be seen in every direction riding or walking into the country. Messrs. Delaney and Edwards took a party to Roseland and gathered all the roses in that rosy burg.

A large party of our villagers went out on a fox hunt one evening last week. The first fox started led the dogs a merry chase and at last eluded them by running through a flock of goats. After walking several miles another fox was started, and for a time the hopes of the sportsmen ran high, but the lateness of the hour finally led them to abandon the hunt and return home. They hope for better luck next time.

Last Saturday a party of our villagers drove twelve miles across country to Carthage, the county seat of this (Moore) county.
