FRIDAY, JAN. 30, 1903.

WE ARE ADVERTISED by our loving friends, the famous advertising catch line, is particularly appropriate in connection with Pinehurst, for Loving Friends—Pinehurst Lovers—have played an important part in making Pinehurst one of the most famous of the winter resorts of the country, and all in the space of seven short years.

THE PINEHURST OUTLOOK prints elsewhere this week, a letter written by Mr. F. J. Bailey, a guest at The Holly Inn. Here are some of the jewels from it:

"Pinehurst possesses all the essentials of a perfect moderate winter climate. The days are almost continuously of brightest sunshine; there being last season, but five days when storms prevented out-of-door exercises and sports.

Within a very few days the bright sunshine, the bracing air and a growing familiarity with the not unhandsome pines, brings a feeling of rest and contentment difficult to account for. It grows on one and is nothing after all, but the effects of the exhilarating climate.

MANY PEOPLE NOW HERE, HAVE FORMERLY SPENT THEIR WINTERS IN FLORIDA, AND I PREDICT AN INCREASING PROPORTION OF BUSINESS OF THIS KIND.

Ball Sweepstakes Next Week.

An 18-hole handicap medal play ball sweepstakes event is announced for Wednesday or Thursday of next week. Names and the entrance fee, one Haskell golf ball, should be handed to Mr. E. A. Freeman at The Carolina at as early a date as possible.

Game of Hearts Popular.

The game of hearts is an extremely popular game, as the success of the card party at The Holly Inn, Monday evening, demonstrated. Forty-four participated in the friendly contest for the very dainty prizes offered. Mrs. J. Loyal Gilbert won the first prize for women and Mrs. F. A. Neergard the second, and Mrs. L. M. Stone secured the consolation. Mr. M. M. McLaughlin secured the mens prize, Mr. W. A. Berg the second and Mr. H. Eldridge the consolation. The event was arranged by Mrs. A. I. Creamer and Mrs. F. J. Bailey who were charming hostesses.

PACKAGE PARTY.

Mr. D. N. Clark Entertains Guests of The Berkshire.

Mr. D. N. Clark gave a package party in honor of Mr. H. M. Pratt of Yonkers, N. Y., at The Berkshire, Monday evening, which furnished an abundance of amusement. Everyone attending contributed a mysterious package, and these were hung upon a clothes line extending across the parlor. The participants were blindfolded one by one, and permitted to clip these packages from the line with a pair of shears. Some very amusing results ensued, and there were numerous surprises.

Mr. Pratt left for home during the week after a delightful stay here of over a month.

SLIGHT RAIN NO HANDICAP.

Euchre Players Flock to The Berkshire in Spite of it.
