COMPILED BY DR. HALE.

Collection of Ballads Illustrative of New England History.

Some Written by Himself, Some by His Children and Others by Various Authors.

Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale has long been a frequent visitor at and great admirer of Pinehurst, and he has many warm acquaintances among those who spend their winters here. And not only to these, but to others, will "Ballads of New England History," published by Little, Brown & Company, Boston, be of special interest. In this volume Dr. Hale has brought together ballads illustrative of New England History; some written by himself, some by his children, and others by various authors. There are some fugitive ballads also, of unknown authorship which have a legitimate place in such a collection.

Of historical poems relating to New England, the author mentions several by those masters of English verse—Longfellow, Whittier, Holmes and Lowell—which have become classics. These, however, are so well known that he reproduces only a few of them, indicating where the others are to be found. Of those collected many are more valuable for their historic interest than for the beauty of their lines. Among these are the original "Yankee Doodle," the ballad of "Captain Kidd," and "John Brown's Body."

Perhaps the best of the poems written by Mr. Hale, which appear in this collection, is "The First Settlers," of which we give the last stanza:

"And I?

Is there some desert or some boundless sea,
Where thou, great God of angels, wilt send me?
Some oak for me to rend, some sod
For me to break,
Some handful of thy corn to take
And scatter far afield,
'Till it in turn shall yield
Its hundred fold
Of grains of gold,

To feed the happy children of my God?—
Show me the desert, Father, or the sea.

Is it thine enterprise? Great God, send me!
And though the body lie where ocean rolls,
Father, count me among all faithful souls!"

The book is a beautiful specimen of typographical art; finely printed, richly bound, and well illustrated.

REV. DR. EDWARD EVERETT HALE,
Author of "Ballads of New England History."

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.

Seaboard Air Line Officials Are Guests of the Management.

President Williams, Director Blair, General Manager Barr and Division Superintendent Towsley of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, were guests of the Management during the week. They came to the Village by the way of Aberdeen in a private car and spent some time here.

Saturday Golf Club Tea.

The regular Saturday afternoon tea at the Golf Club House was a pleasant and well attended affair. Mrs. F. H. Abbott of The Harvard, presided, assisted by Miss C. Josephine Durkee of Philadelphia.

Sunday Services.

Sunday services will be held in the Village Hall, each Sunday as follows:

UNION—Sunday mornings at eleven o'clock, except the second Sunday of the month, when the service will be held at four in the afternoon. Rev. D. W. Fox, officiating.

PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL—Sunday afternoons at four o'clock, except on the second Sunday of the month when communion services will be held at 10 o'clock in the morning, followed by morning prayer with sermon, at eleven. Rev. H. T. Gregory, officiating.

CATHOLIC—Mass at six in the morning, the first and third Sundays of the month. Rev. Fr. Marion, officiating.

Two-thirds of the offerings received go to the officiating clergymen and the balance to the Public schools in this township.
