Series of Close Contests Lead Up to the Final Round.

Dr. E. R. Ogden, A. M. Rowley, Mrs. M. B. Byrnes and Miss S. A. Cutler, Win Cups.

THE annual consolation match play handicap open to both men and women who had played in tournaments of the season without winning trophies, was a golf event of the week, which attracted considerable interest. The medal play qualification round was closely contested and match play rounds were characterized by some close contests. A feature of these was the match between C. E. Harrison of Providence, R. I., and G. A. Mosher of Troy, N. Y., which it took twenty-one holes to decide.

Dr. E. R. Ogden of the Washington Golf Club, Chicago, Ill., whose match play handicap was eleven, won the men's trophy from A. M. Rowley of Springfield, Mass., whose handicap was twelve, six up and four to play.

Mrs. M. B. Byrnes of New York, playing with a handicap of seventeen, won the women's cup from Miss S. A. Cutler of Newton, Mass., whose handicap was eighteen, three up, and one to play.
