"THE REAL STONE FACE."

Holly Inn Guest Possesses Remarkable Natural Curio.

Mrs. Eugenia Jones-Bacon of Augusta, Ga., a guest at The Holly Inn, possesses a remarkable natural curio in what she calls "The Real Stone Face." During a visit to Oberammergau in 1880 Mrs. Bacon gathered a specimen of the mountain formation of the country and one of these was a small fragment from the Bavarian Mountain, an inch long and three-quarters wide, and composed of chert and limestone.

Some eight years after, Mrs. Bacon discovered that when held in a certain light, the features of a face which leaves a remarkable likeness to those of the Christ, could be seen on the apparently meaningless stone.

During her visit here Mrs. Bacon has shown the curio several times and it has attracted much attention.

AT THE POPULAR HARVARD

House is Still Crowded and the Waiting List Continues Large.

Every Indication that Hotel Will be Comfortably Filled Until Well Into June.

THERE is little change in the condition of affairs at the popular Harvard, and the house still remains filled to its capacity, and with the present large waiting list there is every indication that the hotel will be comfortably filled until well into June.

A pleasant feature of the week was an evening of readings by Mrs. Eugenia Jones-Bacon of Atlanta, Ga., a well-known Southern authoress.

Rev. Fr. G. B. Harrington of Washington, D. C., left early in the week after a long sojourn here, and his presence will be missed not only by the guests of the hotel, but by the Villagers as well, for he has been a general favorite and a conspicuous figure in sports and social pleasures.

Dr. G. W. Murdock and family of Cold Springs, New York, left Wednesday evening, after the winter here as delighted as ever with Pinehurst, planning to come again next year. The Murdock's have spent their winters here for many seasons and they claim a large circle of close acquaintances throughout the Village.

AMONG THE GUESTS.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Partridge and Mr. Dwight Partridge, Bedford, N. Y., come for a several weeks visit. Mr. Partridge and his son are enjoying golf.

Mr. J. A. Anderson, Miss H. C. Anderson, Miss M. L. Anderson, Mrs. F. B. Runk, Miss E. T. B. Runk, Lamberts-ville, N. J., make up a pleasant party who will remain some weeks.

Mr. L. T. Brawner, Nashville, Tenn., was a guest during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Jones, Concord, N. H., are here for a brief visit.

Mr. W. Clyde Wescott, Union City, Pa., joins his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Westcott.

Mrs. John H. Cross, Miss Cross, Hamilton, Mass., and Miss Foster, Beverly, Mass., come to remain until May.

THE WEEKLY CARD PARTY

The prize winners at the weekly euchre party at The Harvard, Wednesday evening, were Mr. H. R. Staplin, Northampton Mass., Master Karl Abbott, Bethlehem, N. H., Mrs. H. R. Staplin, Northampton, Mass., Mrs. E. C. Warner, North Hatfield Mass.

At The Lexington.

Mr. E. B. Lane, Dover, N. H., Mr. Eugene Gorham, Lynn, Mass., Mr. Edward T. Charity, Baltimore, Md., Mrs. Frederick Posey, Mr. Ernest Posey, Washington, D. C., are guests at The Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Durell of Somerville, Mass., have gone after spending five weeks in Pinehurst.
