Opening of This Hotel Will be Welcomed by Pinehurst's Guests.

Pinehurst's guests will welcome with pleasure the announcement of the re-opening of The YARBOROUGH House at Raleigh N. C., after having been closed some months undergoing re-making and re-modernizing. With the splendid accommodations which "The New YARBOROUGH" provides, Raleigh is sure to be a popular side trip for visitors here, and with this end in view the Management of the hotel have furnished the house with the aim to provide comfort for a "discriminating and appreciative public."

Raleigh is but two hours distant from Pinehurst and the Seaboard Air Line is making a special excursion rate of $3.40 for the round trip. The through chair car for the North which leaves the Village in the morning, offers a most comfortable way of going, and one may return on the through sleeper which reaches here during the evening.

In addition to being the Capital of the State, Raleigh is especially interesting to visitors, and among its various attractions are the many State institutions, the libraries which are the finest in the South, several museums containing interesting collections, and many beautiful Southern homes. From a historical standpoint there is found the birthplace home and tailor shop of President Andrew Johnson, and the house in which General Joseph E. Johnson surrendered to General William T. Sherman, which incident closed the civil war.

Miss Westcott Entertains.

Miss Maria Westcott of Hopedale, Mass., gave a Pit party for Miss Hazel Goodman of North Dana, Mass., at The Marlborough Friday evening. As usual the "bulls and bears" got hold of the market, and no end of excitement resulted.

Beneath the Apple Tree.

I see a maiden, sweet and fair,
Through mists of years long past;
I loved her well, and she loved me
With a love that could but last.
And every evening I would come,
As fast as fast could be;
And find her in the fading light,
Beneath the apple tree.

And midst the blossoms of the Spring,
I knew that she was there;
With eyes so blue, and hair so bright,
And cheeks so pink and fair.
And way across the Summer fields,
Beside the Sunset sea;
I ever found her waiting there,
Beneath the apple tree.

I cared not though the day were long,
And hard and fierce the fight;
The longest day must end at last,
And turn to glorious night.
For then, in evening's purple light,
I knew that I was free;
To meet my little blue-eyed maid,
Beneath the apple tree.

'Twas many, many years ago,
My hair has turned to white;
And she has trod the road all go,
Who climb the steps of light.
And now amid the white-robed throng,
She waits, she waits for me;
As she did those happy days, long gone,
Beneath the apple tree.

MRS. WENDT—MR. RUSSEL.

They Contribute Much to Pleasure of Sunday Evening Concert.

Last Sunday evening's orchestra concert at the Carolina may properly have been termed a "vocal night" from the fact that half the programme was entrusted to Mrs. Helen F. Wendt, soprano, of Pittsburgh, and Mr. Wilford Russel, Barytone, of London, England.

Both vocalists were happy in a choice of numbers specially appropriate to the current Easter Season, and judging from their hearty and frequent recall, acquitted themselves in a manner thoroughly satisfactory to the large audience present.

Mrs. Wendt has made many friends during her stay at Pinehurst by her most agreeable manner and excellent singing, and the same may be said of Mr. Russel. Their future appearance will be awaited with pleasure.
