TABLEAUX AND WAX WORKS

Novel Entertainment Provided in Honor of Visiting Golfers.

Well Known Advertisements and Local Scenes to be Pictured—Boxes to be Auctioned

AMONG the pleasantest of the entertainment features planned for the coming week in honor of the visiting golfers, will be an evening of tableaux and Jarley's wax works at the Village Hall, Thursday.

The active committee in which Mrs.

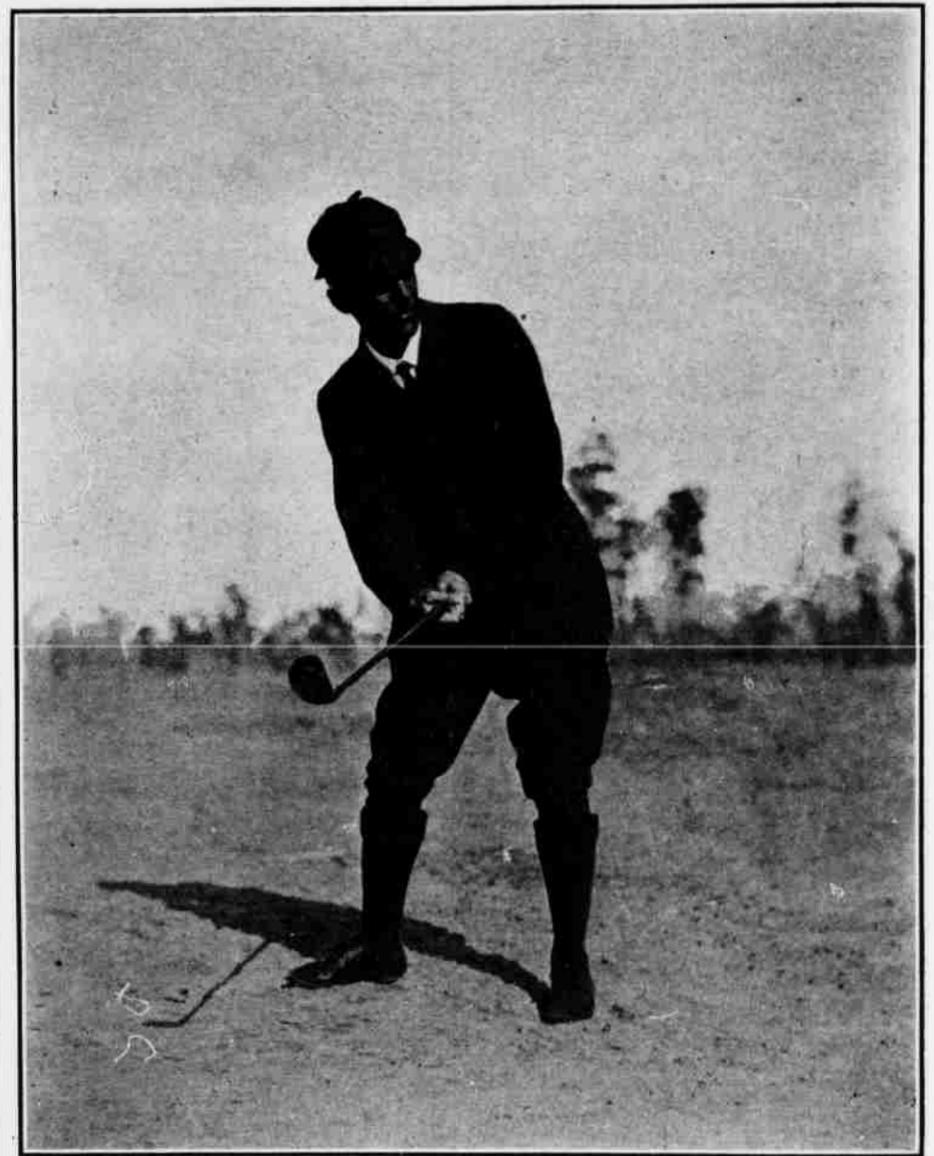

auctioning off of the front portion of the hall, which is to be divided up into reserved boxes, and it is anticipated that "horse show" prices will prevail, as the proceeds are to be devoted to charitable and educational work.

An auctioneer with a wonderful flow of language and tremendous purse pulling power, will be selected and this event which will take place at The Carolina, Wednesday evening, at 8,30 sharp promises to be an entertainment in itself.

THE ZOO IS HERE.

Formal Opening Announced for Next Saturday.

Trainer John T. Benson, and his Zoological collection of animals and birds, reached here Friday morning and is now busy at the exhibition building getting

W. J. TRAVIS, WINNER SECOND ANNUAL MIDWINTER TOURNAMENT. 1905.

Leonard Tufts and Mrs. Montgomery A. Crockett are prime movers is fascinatingly and mysteriously reticent as to details, but numerous rehearsals and an air of general activity, give ample assurance that an evening of rare enjoyment is in store for all.

The majority of tableaux shown will be reproductions of popular advertisements, posters, etc., of special interest to the visitors, many of whom are directly connected with the subjects shown.

The wax works will be unique in that most of the figures will have local or personal interest.

One of the novel features in connection with the entertainment, will be the things in readiness for formal opening, a week from today, Saturday January 20th.

The collection which came through by fast express on two Arms palace cars, includes over one hundred rare wild animals and birds, and as an entertainment feature it is sure to be one of the leading attractions of the Village.

The exhibition will be open daily and Sunday from ten to five and a nominal admission fee of twenty-five cents for adults and twenty cents for children, will be charged.

A full description of the collection together with the numerous special features to be introduced, will be printed in next week's OUTLOOK.
