

The Pinehurst Outlook

PINEHURST, MOORE COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA

VOL. IX; NO 8.

SATURDAY MORNING, JANUARY TWENTIETH, 1906.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

ARE IN PROGRESS TODAY

Final Rounds of Midwinter Tournament Fitting End of Great Week.

Contest Ranks as Most Important in History of not only Local but Southern Golf.

HE semi-final and final rounds of the third annual midwinter tournament which are in progress today, as THE OUTLOOK goes to press, bring to a close not only the most successful contests in local golf history, but in the history of southern golf as well. Never has a larger or more important field of players been represented and close matches, perfect weather and numerous delightful entertainment features have combined to make the week one long to be remembered, both by golfers and visitors.

In the semi-final round for the championship trophy which is in progress this morning, W. C. Carnegie, of the St. Andrews Golf Club, is playing G. W. Keates of the Brae Burn Club, and Allan Lard, of the Columbia Golf Club, C. L. Becker, of the Woodland Golf Club; the winners of these two matches coming together for the final rounds this afternoon.

Interest, however, is by no means centered upon these contests for the semi-finalists and finalists in each of the other divisions are evenly matched and many hole for hole battles will be the rule.

The Country Club House and the course are thronged with players and the progress of the rounds is being followed with keen interest. It is doubtful if any tournament here has ever had a more brilliant or more fitting ending.

QUALIFICATION SCORES.

In qualification Thursday, Mr. Carnegie led the field with a card of 79, winning the gold medal offered by a narrow margin of two strokes, from Mr. Becker, who scored 81.

The cards:

CARNEGIE

Out 5 3 3 5 4 5 6 4 4-39
In 4 3 6 4 6 3 6 3 5-40-79

BECKER

Out 5 5 3 5 4 4 5 4 6-41
In 5 3 4 4 6 3 7 3 5-40-81

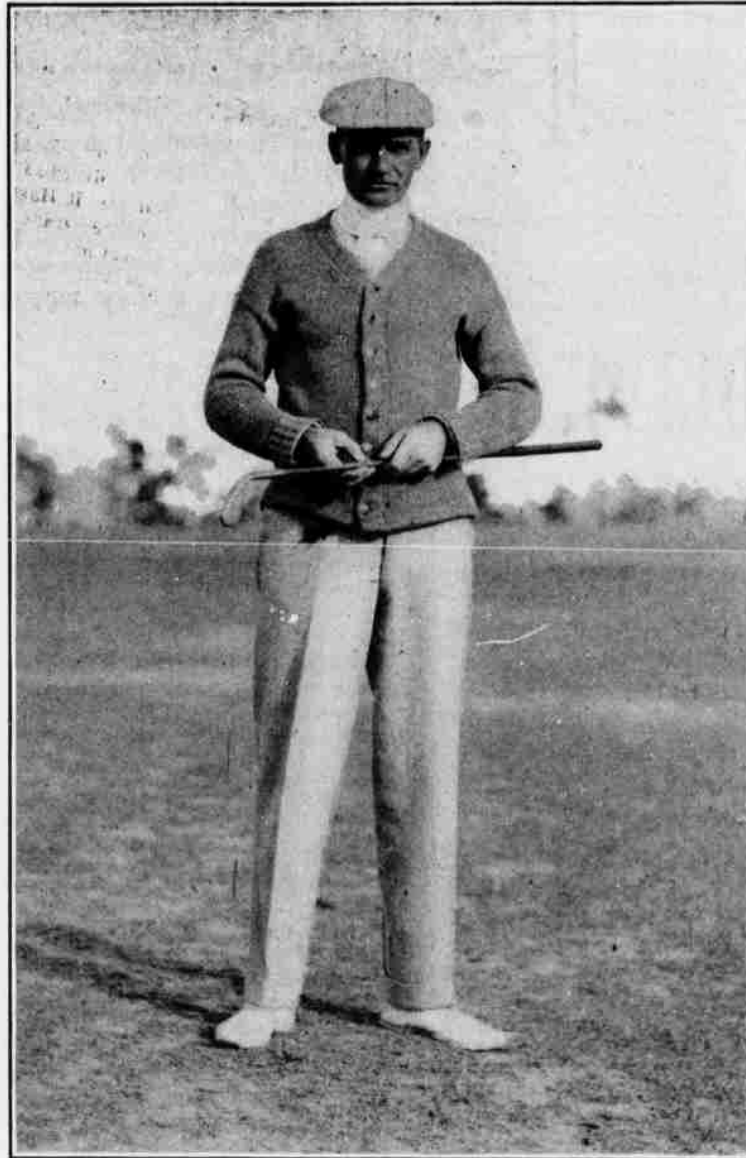

Close after them came William C. Freeman, of Montclair, with 83, W. D. Moffat, of Hackensack, with 84, and F. J. Bailey, of Chicago, with 86. C. E. Cattell, of Atlantic City, G. W. Keats, of Brae Burn and G. W. Wurzel, of Oakmont, made 87 each; T. Pliny Moran, of Columbia, 88, J. R. Turner, of Wykagye, A. C. Aborn, of Montclair, and R. P. Nevin Jr, of Allegheny, 90 each; and A. I. Creamer, of Boston, and C. W. Royce, of Glen Ridge, 91 each.

try, E. M. Hoopes, of Wilmington, and J. J. Hazen, of Fox Hills, landing in the third.

There were eleven ties at 98, the line which divided the fourth division, 101 being the score which closed the fourth division, and 102 which marked the beginning of the fifth.

Twenty-seven players failed to qualify, and for these a special tournament was

ALLAN LARD, COLUMBIA GOLF CLUB, CHAIRMAN
MIDWINTER TOURNAMENT COMMITTEE.

J. D. Porter, of Allegheny, Allan Lard, of Columbia, J. O. H. Denny, of Oakmont, C. L. Tappin, of Westbrook, and R. E. S. Carlisle, of Buffalo, tied for admission to the first division at 92 each, Messrs. Lard and Porter, winning the play-off.

There were a bunch of ties for admission to the second division, at 96, C. H. Rosenfeld, of New York, making the first, and B. Matthewson, of Essex County, arranged for which three divisions of eight each qualified for the match play rounds on the short course Thursday morning. This tournament has been very appropriately named the "Very Special" Tournament.

DELIGHTFUL WEATHER.

Never has an important tournament been blessed with more delightful weather.
(Concluded on page three.)

W. D. MOFFAT THE WINNER

Take Championship Trophy in Finals of Advertising Tourney.

H. C. Fownes the Runner-up--R. P. Nevin Jr, Wins Consolation from D. H. Hostetter.

HE SECOND annual tournament of the American Golf Association of Advertising Interests ended Wednesday, with final rounds in all divisions and a pretty battle for the championship or first division trophy, between W. D. Moffat, of Hackensack, N. J., and H. C. Fownes, of Pittsburg, Mr. Moffat winning by one up.

In the first division consolation R. P. Nevin Jr, and D. Herbert Hostetter, both of Pittsburg, fought it out to a finish, Mr. Nevin winning by three and two.

There were many struggles throughout the remaining divisions, trophies being offered to each of the division winners and the runners-up, also to the winners of the consolation divisions. The story of the result is told in the following summary:

SECOND DIVISION—C. E. Willard, Chicago, winner; E. R. Alexander, Detroit, runner-up. Consolation, H. E. Crall, New York.

THIRD DIVISION—C. W. Royce, Arlington, N. J.; J. J. Hazen, New York. Consolation, P. B. O'Brien, Detroit.

FOURTH DIVISION—R. E. Carlisle, Buffalo; J. C. Platt, New York. Consolation, T. Pliny Moran, Washington.

FIFTH DIVISION—W. G. Allen, Akron; F. A. Hays, Philadelphia. Consolation, G. L. White, Waterbury.

SIXTH DIVISION—W. J. Ryan, New York; James McCutcheon, New York. Consolation, A. L. Brownell, New York.

SEVENTH DIVISION—J. H. Hawley, New York; W. H. Maule, Philadelphia. Consolation, S. L. Allen, Philadelphia.

EIGHTH DIVISION—A. S. Higgins, New York; F. H. Tobey, Providence. Consolation, E. J. Ridgway, New York.

The trophies offered and the order in which they were won, were as follows:

FIRST DIVISION—Kempshall Manufacturing Company Trophy, Leonard Tufts Trophy, Butterick Trio Trophy.

SECOND DIVISION—Hearst's Sunday Magazine Trophy, Everybody's Magazine Trophy, Washington Times Trophy.

THIRD DIVISION—Tiffany Studios Trophy, Century Magazine Trophy, Subur-

(Concluded on page three)