Characteristic Feature of Opening Base Ball Game of Season.

Horns Toot, Voices Root and Players Hoot The Carolina Team to Victory, Eight to Five.

MUCH enthusiasm, unrestricted and uncontrollable both on the part of the players and onlookers, was the characteristic feature of the first ball game of the season, played Thursday afternoon, between The Carolina and Village nines, the former team winning 8 to 5.

Horns tooted, voices rooted, and players hooted, and there was hard hitting, reckless base sliding, good, old-fashioned kicking, and enough of the element of uncertainty to keep interest at a high pitch from the first inning until the last, a perfect day contributing to the pleasure of all.

To be sure the teams were a bit rusty from lack of practise, and they lacked the snap which will come later from organization, but there was the same spirit of earnestness and friendly rivalry which has been a feature of the past and which gives amateur ball a special interest and hair-lifting go.

The make-up of two excellent teams is surely here and the series of games which will be played through February, March and April, are sure to be an entertainment feature which will draw together big crowds.

Ruggles who pitched for the winning team, and Blake who occupied the box for the losers, have both the right sort of stuff in them and they divided honors. The infield of both teams is excellent and the field good; Gray, The Carolina catcher, and Smith, the Village short stop, both deserving special mention; with Cullen of The Carolinas, and Mulcahy of the Village team, as the talking features; and an entertaining disposition on the part of all, to "assist" in the umpiring.

The score by innings:

Carolina—0 0 5 1 0 2 0—8
Village—0 2 0 0 0 2 1—5

Novel Weather Vane.

Famous trotting horses have often had their memories perpetuated on weather vanes, but to apply the same scheme to sportsmen is a new wrinkle. This has just been done at the Handsworth Golf Club, England, where a large figure of Edward Blackwell, runner-up to Walter J. Travis in the British amateur championship of 1904, has been accurately reproduced.

day afternoons for the present, and F. W. Kenyon has kindly consented to undertake the raising of a fund to provide for necessary expenses. Subscriptions may also be handed or mailed to General Base Ball Manager Edd Ellis at The General Office.

In addition to the local games, it is hoped that games may also be arranged with teams from surrounding towns.

Cups for Bell Boys.

Mr. F. W. Kenyon has provided two very attractive cups for a match play golf contest between the bell boys of The Carolina. There are two divisions of four each, the first playing at scratch and the second with handicaps, and rivalry is keen in each division.

This tournament has now become an annual event and is anticipated from year to year by the contestants.

PISTOL CLUB'S FIRST SHOOT

Opening Event in Season Tournament Program Interests Many.

Dr. E. M. Hardy, L. M. Greer and Mrs. Leonard Tufts Lead in Various Divisions.

THE INTEREST manifested in the first of the stated tournaments of the Pistol Club, shows very conclusively that this sport has declined none since last season and augurs well for the future.

Owing to unfamiliarity with the field of entries, the committee found handicapping practically out of the question and the participants were made up into three classes, A and B for the men, and one class for the women, and the scores in each class were close.

In class A, Dr. E. M. Hardy, of Richmond, and Herbert L. Jillson, of Worcester, fought it out to a close finish, Dr. Hardy winning by the narrow margin of four points with a string of three hundred and sixty-two.

The contest in class B, was also close L. M. Greer, of New York, winning with two hundred and sixty-eight, to two hundred and forty-three for A. A. Morris, of Pittsburg.

Mrs. Leonard Tufts, of Boston, led the women with one hundred and forty-six, with Mrs. Hardy, of Richmond, second in one hundred and fourteen, and Mrs. Helen Leslie, of Pittsburg, third in one hundred and thirteen.

THE SCORES:

Dr. E. M. Hardy	362
Herbert L. Jillson	358
D. Herbert Hostetter	327

L. M. Greer	268
A. A. Morris	243
W. A. Harblison	210

Mrs. Leonard Tufts	146
Mrs. E. M. Hardy	114
Mrs. Helen Leslie	113
Miss M. M. Poor	57

Numerous regular handicap shoots will be held throughout the season and percentage shooting for U. S. R. A., medals may be enjoyed at any time on application to the Club's Secretary, Mr. Jillson, who will issue special targets.
