THE hunters continue to find quail in plenty and flight pigeon shooting is adding variety to the sport, the birds being found in large numbers near the Dairy and Berry Patch.

J. D. Foot of Rye, returns for an extended stay bringing two dogs, Shell and Dan, the latter purchased from the local kennels last season. Mr. Foot is so well pleased with Dan that he has just purchased two puppies here which he is looking forward to breaking during the coming summer.

Cyrus A. Taft of Whitinsville, is much in the field and has made some good kills, his best bag being sixteen birds.

J. R. Such of So. Amboy, N. J., returns for the third visit of the season, and has been very fortunate, equaling Mr. Taft's highest score upon one trip.

E. J. Warwell and his son of Camden, Me., return and are much in the field.

W. O. Lentz and Lafayette Lentz of Mauch Chunk, Pa., return bringing a dog, Rye, with them and will devote considerable time to shooting.

J. V. S. Findlay, of Baltimore, killed eight birds in twelve shots, on an afternoon's shooting, during the week.

KENNEL ADDITIONS.

Among the new additions to the local kennels is Scotland Bragg, an English Pointer, bred by W. E. Butters of London, England, and coming from one of the best strains across the water. The animal is a beauty, liver and white in color, well broken and full of style and go. He comes to Pinehurst from the Del Monte kennels, owned by George Crocker.

Clement Nate is another new addition, one of the best bred setters in America, an orange and white puppy, very handsomely marked and giving great promise. His sire is Champion Lady's Count Gladstone and the dam, Annie B.

Gymkhana Planned.

The first of the series of equestrian gymkhana contests has been arranged for Tuesday afternoon, February 20th, and an active committee is busily engaged in arranging the program.

An approaching contest provided a pleasant evening at The Carolina, Wednesday, a goodly number of contestants and onlookers finding entertainment in it.

Farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Betts.

One of the pleasant features of the week past at The Cedars, was a farewell reception given to Mr. and Mrs. Betts, of Brooklyn, on the eve of their departure.

Mr. and Mrs. Betts have made a long sojourn here, and leave behind many pleasant acquaintances who will anticipate their return with pleasure.

At The Zoo

Afternoon parties to the Zoo are much in vogue, the hour for feeding being a favorite one. Mr. Benson's interesting talks on the animals, using those in the exhibits as models, are a popular feature.
