

MATCH PLAY SUMMARY

MATCH play in the Mid-winter Tournament was clean cut throughout the field evenly matched and "give and take" play ruling from the first round to the final.

Of extra hole contests there were a number, several being carried to the twentieth green and one to the twenty-first, and the short seventeenth and home holes each ended matches in a score of cases, while the usual post mortems were played in club house locker room and hotel lobby night after night.

It was golf from cock-crow to taps, and the entire Village caught the enthusiasm, which, for the time being, crowded out all else. It was golf at breakfast, golf at lunch, golf at dinner, and everybody took the piece de resistance at every meal, "laughed and grew fat."
