CLUB SHOT SHELLS FOR FUR AND FEATHERS

New Club shells are good. Nitro Clubs are better. The first are loaded with black powder and do the work but the second have smokeless powder, are steel lined and give much less recoil, noise and smoke. Both are "game getters" and their boxes bear the red ball U. M. C. trade mark. Look for it.

TIN WHISTLES ENTERTAIN

Annual Ball Most Brilliant of Season's More Formal Functions.

Perfectly Carried Out in Every Detail Occasion is One Long to be Remembered.

PERFECTLY carried out in every detail the annual ball of the Tin Whistles, now generally regarded as the most brilliant of the season's more formal functions and anticipated by the entire colony from year to year, proved an occasion long to be remembered and an evening of delight for those privileged to enjoy it.

Singularly pleasing and in keeping with the spirit of the occasion were the decorations which created an environment for the dancers and made an appropriate background for the scene upon the floor, conceived along absolutely new and original lines. Rising from a wainscoting of emerald green bunting which extended entirely around the hall, were monster sprays of green bearing crimson poppies, the same flowers being used in large clusters relieved by green leaves, on the six chandeliers above the floor and standing out sharp and clear against the screen of palms which partially concealed the orchestra. Long streamers of red and green bunting suspended a monster Tin Whistle above the center of the floor and extended to the four corners of the hall; festoons and wreaths of English Ivy, tied with green, a refreshing note of color above doors and windows and in the panels between the woodwork. Dancing began at nine thirty and ceased long after midnight, the orders of dances dainty conceptions with water color drawings on the front cover and an embossed whistle on the back, the dances, eighteen in number alternating popular waltzes and twosteps with two schottiches in the way of variety; a collation being served at intermission and punch during the evening.

Details of arrangements were in the hands of an active committee of which Mr. James D. Foot of Rye, N. Y., president of the Club was chairman, assisted by Col. J. E. Smith of Wilmington, Mr. I. C. Bates Dana of Great Barrington, Mr. C. L. Becker of Boston, and Mr. J. V. Hurd of Pittsburg. The decorative scheme was carried out under the able direction of Mrs. I. C. Bates Dana of Great Barrington, assisted by Mrs. Henry St. John Smith of Portland, Mrs. Allan Lard of Washington, Mrs. Leonard Tufts of Boston, Mrs. Herbert L. Jillson of Worcester and Miss Carolyn Fuller of New York. The patronesses of the evening were Mrs. Harry Dutton of Boston, Mrs. J. E. Smith of Wilmington, Mrs. McMillan Hoopes of Philadelphia, Mrs. J. P. Gardner of Chicago, Mrs. C. A. Lockwood of New York and Mrs. George F. Blake of Worcester.

Many exquisite toilettes were seen, among the most striking a Parisian creation of beaded green silk net over satin, worn by Mrs. Booth Tarkington. Miss Mary Fownes was stunning in embroidered white chiffon, with diamond ear pendants. Miss Carolyn Fuller was very dainty in ivory satin, with lace coat, and Miss Bousfield exquisite in pale pink satin empire gown. Miss Eleanore Fink was becomingly gowned in shaded lavender crepe with dotted border and fringe, and Miss Priscilla Beall was charming in a gown of embroidered batiste. Miss Beatrice Detwiler wore flowered chiffon with gold trimmings over taffeta; Miss Ethel Check, dotted silk mull over satin; Miss Harriet Horton, white silk mull over satin; Miss Engel, embroidered black satin with gold; Mrs. Price, blue checked silk; Miss Elkins, pale blue striped chiffon over white satin; Miss Lancon, ivory satin with lace.

Mrs. Dana wore a white princess gown with pearl ornaments; Mrs. St. John Smith, ivory satin trimmed with spangles; Mrs. Alexander, gray lace over satin; Mrs. Stone, white silk chiffon net over satin; Mrs. Tufts, gray panne velvet with yoke of gold lace; Mrs. Robeson, white silk chiffon; Mrs. Porter, white silk chiffon over satin; Mrs. Byrnes, black satin with lace.

IN ST. PATRICK'S HONOR.

Mr. Romaine's Dinner is Replete With Novelty and Surprise.

One of the most unique dinners of the season was a spread given at The Carolina, Wednesday evening, by Mr. W. Tyson Romaine of New York, in honor of St. Patrick's day, the affair perfectly carried out in every detail and replete with novelty and surprise. On assembling the guests were taken to the basement underneath the Music hall where a table made of rough boards held an uninviting repast of cold boiled potatoes, a discarded tea pot and a dozen or more disreputable cups, the only light afforded coming from candles stuck in green bottles.

Somewhat dismayed but game to the core, the company took seats, the "appetizers" which the teapot contained brightening the crowd up a bit. No one, however seemed to partake very heartily of the potatoes and Mr. Romaine's suggestion that possibly the spread was a bit too rustic and that adjournment to the dining hall would be more agreeable, was met with general favor.

Upon arrival in the dining hall it was apparent that the basement incident was merely a part of the program for the party was seated at an elaborately decorated table with central decorations of green, candelabra and lanterns of the same shade. Souvenirs and place cards were appropriate to the occasion, tiny china pigs being given to the women and miniature clay pipes, tied with green ribbon, to the men; the cards colored St. Patrick's Day postals.

The guests of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Moffett, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Wattenberg, Mrs. M. D. Paterson, Miss Julia Mix, Mr. John Philip Sousa and Mr. O. F. Roberts of New York, Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Briggs and Mr. R. S. Emmett of Schenectady and Mrs. H. St. John Smith of Portland.
