

NOVEL AND ENTERTAINING

Program Would Be Incomplete Without
Equestrian GymkhanasPaper Chases and Saddle Picnics
Combine to Make Riding One of
Most Popular Recreations

ELSEWHERE gymkhanas come and go, blossoming only to fade; but here like Longfellow's brook, they go on forever. Starting several years ago as a tiny rivulet in the entertainment program, they have widened into a river which is a delight to all. The secret of it lies not alone in the entertainment which the programs offer, but in their novelty. To be sure, a number of the events are old favorites, but each season offers some new surprise. Last winter the "dancing" of the lancers was one of the first hits, closely followed by the "overall and bonnet race" and the mere mention of only these two numbers is suggestive of the range and variety of these equestrian events without which no season would now be complete. The lancers is self explanatory; the overall race requiring that riders should don bonnets and overalls, ride to a given point, dismount, put overalls and bonnets on their steeds and return to the starting point. The illustration shows one lad who finished. No wonder he looks pleased and even the horse appears a bit self conscious!

Not all the numbers are ludicrous, the lance and ring pursuit, scarf, relay and other races being fast enough to hold the attention of the most languid; but best of all, the programs are so arranged that they provide for all grades of riders and appeal to all classes of spectators. In connection, paper chases with the finish in the riding ring, all day saddle picnics and moonlight trips, draw those who love the sport together, combining to make riding one of the most popular recreations which is enjoyed by a goodly percentage of visitors. Driving also has come much into favor, since results from the good roads movement have been achieved, the equipment of the Livery one in which the Village takes especial pride.

Bowling Alleys Popular

Bowling at the Village Alleys is filling pleasant hours, many women among those who frequent the place in the afternoon. Plans are being made for the usual competitions.

The Village Market

The Batchelder and Snyder Company are again in charge of the Village Market. Just at present the Holiday display of delicacies which delight the northerner is most fascinating.

The Colored School

The Dickinson Colored School is enjoying continued prosperity, its work of keen interest to visitors.

PLANNING BUSY SEASONS

Tin Whistles and Silver Foils Arrange Attractive Tournament Programs

December 26th is the date set for the opening event in the tournament program of the Tin Whistles, the contests closing with the annual Club Championship March 20, 21 and 22. The list of members contributing cups is very large, among the donors being Messrs. W. L. Hurd, W. R. Tuckerman, J. P. Gardner, Tyler L. Redfield, I. S. Robeson, Henry C. Fownes, Guy Metcalf, F. A. King, Leonard Tufts, H. W. Priest, A. I. Creamer and Col. J. E. Smith. The program in detail will be announced in a later issue of THE OUTLOOK.

The Silver Foils' announce the gifts of several trophies for their program to be announced later.

Both organizations will combine for the annual Tin Whistle ball, socially the season's most brilliant event.

Auction Bridge Problems

It is with pleasure that we announce the publication during the winter, of several unique "auction bridge" hands or problems, with explanatory notes and comments by Mr. Charton L. Becker, who is acknowledged to rank with the three or four of the country's best.

Billiards and Pool

Devotees of the game at The Inn will inaugurate first of the seasons billiard and pool tournament during the next few weeks. The "match" table at The Carolina always attracts experts and the cozy room at The Berkshire is a favorite rendezvous for the entire household.

The New Books for Library

The Village Library is a favorite retreat for book lovers, the arrival of the usual consignment of new publications, over a hundred in number, awaited with interest.

New Garage Complete

The new garage with a capacity for thirty machines is complete; one of the best equipped in the south.
