

TOMORROW IT IS GOOD-BYE

In the Glory of Spring's Enchantment
Season Draws to Close

Winter Has Flown on Memory Wings
and in Every Heart the Village
Dwells As Dear Friend

IN THE GLORY of Spring's enchantment the season wanes and while many linger through the month, the closing of The Holly Inn on next Thursday, marks its formal ending. Would we might linger in the balmy air and bright sunshine, with the birds and 'mid the flowers, but the winter has flown on the wings of memory and we leave conscious that like books we love, we have a friend to whom we may always turn, for "though long miles intervene, Pinehurst will still be near and dear".

The week has been a fitting close for a wonderful season, a season which ends as it began, with varied activities rounding out perfect days. Many who registered during the opening days of November, will be among those who leave with others who have spent months, weeks or days here, and in every heart the Village dwells. 'Tis pleasant to greet the beauty of autumn; 'tis sweet to say good-bye when all nature smiles.

Rounding out the season at The Inn are Mr. J. B. Bowen of Philadelphia who registered November 16, Mr. and Mrs. Cabot J. Morse, Mrs. D. M. Pridie and Master Jack Morse of Boston, who came two days later, Edward Sommer of South Bethlehem, who arrived on the twenty-first, and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Tracy of South Coventry and Mrs. T. J. Check and Miss Ethel of New York who have been here since December. Others who will see "the doors close" include Mr. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wiltsie and Miss Wiltsie, Mr. and Mrs. George Souther and their two sons, Mr. and Mrs. Mason Evans, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Lesh, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Vogt, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. P. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Boller, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Wing, Mrs. W. K. Porter and Mrs. W. K. Porter, Jr., Mrs. L. S. Brown and Miss Helen Brown, Mrs. A. A. Corey, Jr., Miss Adaline Corey and Master Kennedy Corey, Mrs. F. T. Dade and Miss E. F. Henderson, Mr. E. A. Schmidt and Miss Eva Schmidt, Mrs. T. H. Bishop, Mrs. Freeman Clark, Miss Julia Ellwanger, Miss Lillian A. Mercur, Miss Lide McConnell, Miss Sylvia McCombs, Miss Sarah L. Hayden, Miss Katherine L. Gregg, Mr. F. E. Pierce, Mr. R. D. Clark, Jr., Mr. E. F. Reynolds, Mr. H. C. Leslie, Mr. L. M. Smith, Mr. Walter Rose, Mr. Patrick O'Mara, Mr. William Bingham, Mr. C. S. Hidden, Mr. T. B. Hidden, and Dr. H. C. Perkins.

Publication Withheld

The current issue of THE OUTLOOK and the closing number of volume XIV, was withheld to include a report of the mid-April golf tournament and the Easter observance.

T'WAS A TREAT FOR DAN CUPID

Delia Wolf, as the "Kellogg rainy day girl"; Miss K. E. Schmidt as "Domino Sugar"; Mr. E. A. Schmidt, as "Welch's Grape Juice," Miss Florence Davis, as "Postum;" and Mr. Justus Kendall, as "Red Dot".

One of the pleasantest features of the evening was the guessing contest, Miss Herman naming twenty correctly and Mr. M. F. O'Connell, seventeen. Following the award of prizes, dancing rounded out the evening and the "make up" of the unique magazine witnessed some startling innovations. For instance the Cream of Wheat Chef and Aunt Jemimah which must never run on opposite pages, were one advt, and Taylor Rye and Wilson High were on either side of Poland Water. The Far East crossed to Korn Karó and Baker's Chocolate and Onyx Hosiery were one display, while the Dutch Cleanser and the Largest Circulation, chatted with Jap-a-lac and Pinehurst. Welch's Grape Juice and Postum drifted in the dreamy mazes of the waltz, regardless, and Red Dot and Domino Sugar both declared Pinehurst a most delightful spot for both golf and sweets.

Yes indeed, it was an awful "py" in "make-up"—ring for the foreman!—permissible only in a complimentary edition intended to convince skeptics and also to demonstrate that "a little nonsense now and then is relished by the wisest men;" for all of which we were deeply indebted to the cleverness of Mrs. Barnes who suggested and very largely arranged the affair.

Right! Seeing is Believing

Tom McNamara, who recently returned from a trip through the South, says it is impossible to have the slightest conception of the hold which golf has at Pinehurst without a personal visit. But when it is borne in mind that there are three eighteen-hole courses and a nine for visitors to play on an idea can be gained of what a center of golf it is. Some of the accounts which Mr. McNamara gives of the drives that he saw in the South should be food for the supporters of the move in favor of standardizing the golf ball. The first hole at Pinehurst is 408 yards, on level ground, and he says that Alex Ross, who is one of the longest drivers in the country, was only fifteen feet short of the green with one of his drives; at the seventh hole, 537 yards, the Braeburn professional was home with a drive and iron; he also drove the fourth green, about 385 yards. At Pinehurst, it is true, the ball gets a long roll, but even considering that factor, it can be seen what a distance coverer the new make of ball is.

At The Lexington

Many visitors are quartered at The Lexington which will remain open until May 26th.

Among returning friends are Mr. O. B. Wickham of Cleveland, devoted as ever to golf.

Mr. Arthur Heffelfinger of New York will remain until the middle of May.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Wolfenden of Philadelphia are spending the week here.

WINCHESTER

"LEADER"
Loaded Shells

You can't buy a safer, faster, harder, a more even shooting or a better keeping load than Winchester "Leader" shells. For field, fowl, or trap shooting, they are in a class by themselves, and give entire satisfaction in any make of shotgun. The results they give are due to their patented construction and the careful and exact manner in which they are loaded. The patent Corrugated Head used on Winchester shells is an invaluable feature. It absorbs the shock of the powder explosion and takes the strain from the paper tube instead of localizing it, as the old English method of metal lining does. That's why "Leader" shells are stronger and less apt to cut off at the mouth of the shells than shells made according to English ideas of long ago. If you want the most satisfactory shells made, ask for Winchester Factory Loaded "Leader" shells.
