

FORMING LOCAL ASSOCIATIONS

Highway Association Inaugurates Extensive Campaign of Organization

With thirty-one of the leading good roads associations already affiliated with it, the American Association for Highway Improvement, which was formed in 1910 by prominent officials and citizens for the purpose of correlating the road movement, is now launching a campaign to establish local associations in every locality in the United States that does not boast of one at the present time.

In the year 1911, the American Association formed 140 local associations, the work embracing the States of Tennessee, South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Georgia, Florida and Maine. In the first year of its existence, the association gained 1,000 regular members and sixty sustaining members. The number of regular members is to be increased to 5,000 in the present year.

The American Association announces that it will continue to strive for wise, equitable and uniform legislation in every state; that it will continue to do all in its power to bring about skilled supervision of roads and the elimination of politics from the management of the roads; and will work towards correlation of the roads, so that those of one state shall connect with those of another state. The Association is also urging the utilization of convict labor in such a manner as to involve the least competition with free labor and to bring about the greatest benefit to society and the most thorough moral and physical development of the convict. In most cases, it is held this end can be achieved by using the convicts in preparing road materials or in the actual building of roads.

Thomas Nelson Page, the author, is now in charge of the membership committee and is recruiting several hundred new members each month. Lee McClung, Treasurer of the United States, is the Treasurer of the Association, W. W. Finley, President of the Southern Railway, is Chairman of the Executive Committee, and is giving his personal attention to the work. Logan Waller Page, Director of the United States Office of Public Roads, is the President of the Association, and he says that it will be the endeavor of all the officers to make this a banner year in the road movements in all the States of the Union.
