THE MIDWINTER HANDICAP

Advance Entries Indicate Extent and Character of the Classy Field

Added Money of $2500.00 is Equalled Only by Three Other Tournaments of National Importance

ADVANCE entries for the sixth annual Midwinter Trap Shooting Handicap, scheduled for January 22-25, indicate the character of the field which now ranks this shoot in percentage of fast men with the classiest of the year.

From Philadelphia George S. McCarty, Charles H. Newcomb, Henry Powers and J. Frank Pratt are entered. C. W. Billings and David T. Leahy will head the Manhattan delegation. J. H. R. Elliott will be in attendance as an amateur and William Foord of Wilmington, Harrison Kennicott of Evanston, and Lockwood B. Worden of Harrisburg constitute other prominent entries which include large delegations from New England and the South and West. As for the professional representation it will be equally fast.

The big card is $2500.00 in added money and trophies, a sum exceeding even the Grand American which is $1500.00 but which guarantees some $700.00 in addition, making the actual total about $2300.00. The largest sum offered previously was $3000.00 at Denver several years ago and the same amount at Los Angeles last spring. About the same time Denver scheduled a $5000.00 event on the basis of three hundred entries, but the field of two hundred cut the sum to $3000.00.

Thus the added money of the Pinehurst shoot is equalled only by three national events: the Grand American, Westley-Hogan, and Denver Handicap. From Pinehurst's added money $500.00 is guaranteed the winner of the Handicap, and $200.00 the winner of the Preliminary, in addition to splendid cups. There are also gold and silver medals for high amateur and professional averages. The innovation is provision for the field by division into classes, with trophies for the winners in each class, and the sweepstakes are increased by additional optional sweeps. Interstate rules and Squier money back system will govern and Luther Squier will be in charge. (Concluded on page eleven)
