MRS. METCALF BUYS YUCCA

Joins List of Cottage Owners by Acquiring Most Attractive Home

An Annual Visitor for Years Who Recognizes in Pinehurst the Ideal Resort

MRS. GUY Metcalf of Providence is the latest addition to the rapidly increasing list of private cottage owners which has made the present season notable, through the purchase of the Yucca, one of the cosiest homes in the Village. She will improve not only the house but the grounds, the changes including an additional room at the front which will provide for two sleeping porches on either side of the entrance, a bedroom on the northeast and enlargement of the servant's room at the southwest.

The new owner has been an annual visitor for many years and is a devoted lover of outdoor sports, who recognizes in Pinehurst the one resort when judged from the standpoint of right conditions for living in the true meaning of the words and the uplifting exhilaration of recreation in the open air under perfect conditions of climate.

Other important transfers may be counted on in the near future. "I never have I seen more general interest," says Mr. A. S. Newcomb, "or a keener appreciation of Pinehurst's exceptional qualifications as a place of permanent winter residence on the part of visitors."

PICTURESQUE BENNETTSVILLE

Delightful One Hundred and Twenty-five Mile Auto Trip

"I know of no more delightful motor trip for a day," says Mr. Frederic Bruce, "than a run to Bennettsville, S. C., via Hamlet and a return through Cheraw. From the standpoint of variety it is easily a leader, embracing as it does forest, plain and the vast plantation lands of South Carolina.

"It is also a revelation as to the excellence of Moore County roads and their maintenance, for in the Bennettsville section the residents have not as yet profited by the suggestion of our achievement. Naturally they have opportunities for road building which would easily excel but they have yet to develop them.

"The journey is a trifle over one hundred and twenty-five miles and we made it easily in seven hours with a pause for lunch. In one portion of the journey, however, a short car could be handled much more easily than one of long body, for many of the turns are abrupt."
