

MANY COME FOR DECEMBER

Opening of Hotel Carolina Was Anticipated by Old Friends and New

Wondrous Sunshine Makes First Days of Season Hours Long to be Remembered

TEN DAYS before its formal opening guests began gathering at The Hotel Carolina, early December finding nearly two hundred assembled there with bookings for the weeks to come indicative of a splendid season. Manager Abbe at The Holly Inn and Manager Robinson at The Berkshire are both occupied with plans for January opening, busy with inquiries and bookings. Wondrous days of sunshine have made the opening weeks of the season hours long to be remembered; diversified recreations in the open air claiming the attention of the entire colony.

Registering at the opening of The Carolina were: Rev. Dr. and Mrs. David Gregg, Miss Katherine Gregg, Mr. and Mrs. David Gregg, Jr., and Master David Gregg, 3rd, of Brooklyn, who are welcomed back for their annual visit. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wesson and Messrs. Victor H. and Douglas B. Wesson of Springfield, Messrs. B. G. Royal and E. R. Johnson of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Wilkerson, Messrs. B. G. Wilkerson and John Stambough of Youngstown are old friends who enjoyed the early shooting. Messrs. C. L. Becker of Philadelphia, N. Y., John R. Goodall of St. Louis and J. B. Bowen of Philadelphia were the first of the golfers to arrive. Other returning friends include: Mr. and Mrs. S. Blackwell, Mr. and Mrs. William Gibley, and Messrs. Stuart H. Moore, R. A. Balfe, R. L. Hawthorne and S. E. Schweizer of New York, Mr. August F. Brombacher of Brooklyn, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gallagher of Glen Ridge, Mr. G. W. Johnson of Hackensack, Mr. and Mrs. F. N. B. Close and the Misses Close of Cranford, Mr. A. B. Beers of Plainfield, Mr. and Mrs. Benedict Crowell, Mr. and Mrs. Bascom Little and Mr. R. L. Ireland of Cleveland, Mr. M. C. Paul of Philadelphia, Messrs. C. I. Aaron and W. F. Meyer of Pittsburgh, Mrs. A. G. Olmstead of Condersport, Mr. J. W. Nelson of Altoona, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Schmidt of Montreal, Mrs. J. P. Massie and Miss Katherine Jones of Red Stone, W. Va., Mr. W. E. Wells of Newell, Va.

At The Pine Crest Inn

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Newton and Messrs. F. S. Pusey and O. B. Wickham of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Underhill of Jersey City, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Bennett of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Langdon of Southington, Mrs. M. L. Metcalfe of Chillicothe, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nay of Chicago, and Messrs. E. B. Cochrane and Robert McDonald of Canada were among the first to register at the new Pine Crest Inn, many of the party planning long sojourns.

A MUSICAL REDIVIVUS

Music by Mr. Carl Behr's Orchestra is Enjoyed by the Entire Colony

"A musical redivivus" is the result of the coming of Mr. Carl Behr as director of the Pinehurst's orchestras. Since opening of The Carolina, the music has been a delight for the entire Village, the group of all-star artists including Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bower, Messrs. Ricker, Ashland, Torrey and Burleigh. Mr. Bower's specialty is tympani work and xylophone solos, Mrs. Bower is the pianist, Messrs. Ricker and Ashland are violinists, Mr. Burleigh plays the cornet and double bass, and Mr. Torrey the clarinet, while Mr. Behr's instruments are the cello and trombone. He is also a master of the zither, and his frequent solos upon this instrument promise a musical treat. Attaining prominence as a member of the celebrated Germania orchestra and band, Mr. Behr later became a charter member of the Boston Symphony, resigning to accept the leadership of hotel orchestras, in which field he has been a conspicuous figure for many years. As in the past, the musical climax of the week will be the combined orchestras at The Country Club on Saturday afternoon, and the Sunday evening concerts at The Carolina.

The Advertising Golfers

The full week from January 12 to 17 inclusive, are the dates announced for the tournament of the new Winter Golf League of Advertising Interests, a national adaptation indicative of the growth and popularity of the former Pinehurst Advertising Golfers. Mr. Joseph Appel, Wanamaker's general manager in New York, is at the head of the active committee of arrangements of which W. W. Manning, McClure's advertising manager, is secretary. The program is one of the most elaborate ever prepared and the trophies will be a dazzling array. Special provision is made for the women, and there are numerous novelties in connection with the program which will have its climax in Saturday's events.

As Tribute to Village Club

As a fitting tribute to the important work of the former Village Club in connection with the Pinehurst Chapel, subscriptions are being solicited to purchase a stained glass memorial window for the ideal location above the altar alcove. Contributions may be sent to Eva Parker Jillson, treasurer of the Fund.

The Country Club Teas

The usual Saturday afternoon teas at the Country Club, with their attendant orchestral music, will be begun during December. No similar affairs of the entire season are more generally enjoyed.

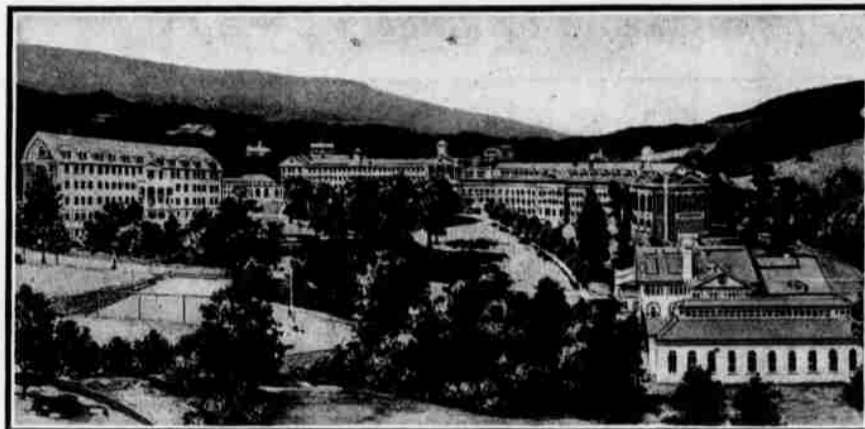

At The Lexington

Early comers at the Lexington, many of whom remain through the season, include Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Williams of Brookline, Mrs. F. H. Cook of Dalton, and Messrs. F. C. Lewis, A. J. Schoenus, S. A. Hennessee, and Maurice D. Cobby.

At The Magnolia

The opening of The Magnolia early in December finds a goodly company gathered there.
