¶ IN ALL TRUTH "a home amid the Pines" is the Pinehurst of today as the result of notable extension in its list of private cottage owners during the past year. As the culmination of nineteen years of friendship and companionship it is also a gracious tribute, emphasizing as it does the permanent place the Village holds in the affections of its admirers. ¶ Briefly, Pinehurst has become in effect what, in intent, it has always been—co-operative. The welfare of the Community is always the welfare of the Individual and here one finds the perfect must exemplification. ¶ Complete unto itself, Pinehurst has specialized on the all comprehensive combination of right conditions for living with blue skies, pure air, bright sunshine, perfection of climate, and opportunities for recreation in the open air as the foundation upon which the resort has been created. The single word tells the story for Pinehurst is indeed a creation, possible only through the development of an Individual Ideal.

¶ TO THE MEN who do big things the world is debtor, for service is indeed the welfare of all mankind. ¶ A willingness to trade capital for experience in the crucial test of theory and practice, lies behind universal progress. ¶ True philanthropy is the distribution of wealth among those who have honestly earned it. Thus it is that the men who are developing the agricultural possibilities of the immediate section on the comprehensive lines of modern methods are public benefactors. ¶ For the suggestion they are doubtless, indebted to Pinehurst which has builded not alone the resort but the Community through the logic of example.

¶ AND APROPOS to big men, we must include Westgard. ¶ Fact is those most closely associated with the good roads movement were unfamiliar with accomplishment previous to his coming. As a specialist the Pathfinder is always a Discoverer; a painter of mass, not of detail. ¶ Art is ever the universal language; the picture tells its story in Sanscript, Volapuk or Esperanto. ¶ Westgard's map in consequence, needs no interpreter. ¶ Back of it lies achievement, before it a factor essential in the transformation of the Sand Hill Desert. ¶ It is, indeed, "Pinehurst Forever!"

PINEHURST WESTGARD'S DEBTOR

Two Thousand Miles of Good Roads
Within Sixty Mile Radius

PINEHURST is Westgard's debtor, for nearly two thousand miles of good roads this famous Pathfinder has "discovered" within a sixty mile radius of the Village. The accompanying map tells its own story; a revelation not alone to the motoring public, but to those most closely associated with the splendid good roads work which has been carried forward for six years past very largely through the personal interest of Mr. Leonard Tufts, owner of Pinehurst, and President of the Capital Highway Association.

"Bring your cars," says Mr. Westgard who has toured in every state in the Union but one, and is the highest authority in the country on the subject of automobile touring, "for best of all they are good roads because they are perfectly maintained and, in this particular, the section is an object lesson for the entire country. Innumerable variations of delightful spins rich in diversified attractions and historic interest, may be planned by aid of the accompanying map."

¶ Mr. Westgard makes the following suggestions for trips from Pinehurst covering various mileages, ranging from a couple of hours to a day's run; all over graded sand clay roads:
