

twelfth, halved the thirteenth and gained a lead on the fourteenth. Halving the fifteenth, Rumsey won the sixteenth, maintaining the lead thus gained with halves on the two remaining holes.

CANADIANS WIN IN THIRD DIVISION

In the third division, J. S. Neill of Fredericton, N. B., was six and four in the final with J. D. Standish, Sr., of Detroit and in the consolation, S. C. Jones of Montreal disposed of A. W. Maybery of Weston Super Mare, England, by four and three. ¶ Neill's first win was a nineteen hole battle from Jones, and in this connection it is interesting to note that the victor is a Pinehurst product, taking up the game for the first time here this winter. All even at the turn, Neill lost the tenth and halved the eleventh, but he took the next two holes for the lead, maintained it with a halve on the fourteenth, lost the fifteenth, halved the sixteenth, was in the lead again on the seventeenth, all square on the eighteenth, winning the extra hole. ¶ M. A. Freney of Atlantic City was the six and five victim next in line, and Orville Orcutt of Houlton, Maine, lost the semi final by three and two. ¶ Standish drew a bye in the first round and a default in the second, defeating J. R. Thomas of Edgewood by two up, in the semi-final. ¶ S. C. Jones of Montreal won the consolation.

TRAVIS WAS THE MEDALIST

Travis was the medalist with a card of seventy-eight, three strokes in the lead of Hunter, and six better than Fownes, who made eighty-one and eighty-four. The same trio recorded seventy-six, eighty and eighty-three for totals of one hundred and fifty-four, one hundred and sixty-one and one hundred and sixty-seven in the first round of match play:

WINCHESTER

HAMMERLESS REPEATING SHOTGUNS 16 AND 20 GAUGES

The Winchester Model 1912 is a correctly proportioned, lightweight repeater, which, for strength, balance, symmetry, shooting qualities and refinement of detail and finish is in a class by itself. It is made in both 20 and 16 gauges, and while exceptionally light in weight (20 gauge about 5¾ pounds, 16 gauge about 6 pounds) it has surpassing strength, because all its metal parts are made of Nickel steel, which is about twice as strong as ordinary steel, such as is used in similar guns of other makes. The receiver, which is closed on top and in the rear, is unmarred by a single screw or pin. The handsome walnut stock is finely proportioned and has a full comb and a small, well-shaped grip—features which count for easy handling and accurate sighting. The Model 1912 is a fine shooting gun, the famous Winchester system of barrel boring insuring a good, even spread of shot and excellent penetration.
