Match Play in Midwinter Tourney Provides Thrills and Surprises

Whittemore and Hunter Survive Keen Preliminaries and Win Easily in Final Round

PRELIMINARY match play decided the possession of the President's trophies in the twelfth Annual Midwinter Golf Tourney and it was a battle royal with numerous surprises. In the final test Whittemore and Barber "played round" for the chief trophy, the Brookline golfer winning, five and four, and in the consolation Hunter had an equally easy victory over Hudson by five and three.

Whittemore had work cut out for him in his first round, Hunter right after victory from first drive to final putt. ¶ The pair divided honors with a win and a lose on the first two holes, the Brookline golfer winning the third and fourth, halving the next two and losing and winning on the seventh and eighth. Hunter took the 140-yard ninth in par 3, to make the turn one down, holding his own with halves in bogey figures on the tenth and eleventh. Rallying, he won the twelfth and thirteenth in perfect 4's for the lead which he promptly lost on the 432-yard fourteenth to a one under bogey 4, only to regain it again with a par 3 on the fifteenth. The sixteenth was even honors in a perfect 4, Whittemore winning the seventeenth to tie, 4-5, and the eighteenth for the match by one up, 4-6. ¶ The cards:

Barber recorded four and two in his first matches with both Slater and Truesdell advancing to a clean-cut two and one win over Travis. ¶ The Princeton senior was two down at the turn and the medal cards 40-42, but Travis required 6 and Barber only 4 and Travis 5's and Barber 4's on the eleventh and twelfth, a putt from the corner of the green winning the latter hole. The thirteenth was an indifferent halve in 5, and the score was the same on the fourteenth, but a 4 won the fifteenth and the match, for the two remaining holes were halved; Travis missing a six-foot putt for a win on the seventeenth and both in the bunker on the sixteenth. ¶ The cards:

Hunter advanced to meet Becker on the default of Shannon. ¶ The Woodland golfer was one hole to the good at the turn, but he held his own on the tenth and eleventh; the match squared on the twelfth. The Wee Burn golfer gained the lead on the thirteenth and halving the fourteenth, won the fifteenth and halved the next two holes for the match by two and one. ¶ C. B. Hudson advanced on a six and four win from Balfe to meet Slater, who lasted nineteen holes. All even at the turn, alternating wins and loses resulted on the first four holes coming in, Slater gaining the lead on the fifteenth, halving the sixteenth and losing the seventeenth. The eighteenth was a halve in 6, and a 5 won the extra hole for the North Fork man.

Becker and B. T. Hudson won first division attention with their twenty-hole "marathon," a 4 to a 6 deciding it in Hudson's favor. Hudson took six holes—the 220-yard eighth in 2 going out—

Monday's Event Makes Formal Opening Of Advertising Golf Tourney

Fifty Pairs Participate and Close Handicapping Bunches Field In Numerous Ties

MONDAY'S foursomes marked the formal opening of the advertising golf tourney an even fifty pairs participating and playing in congenial quartets of their own selection. The prizes were one gross and two net, the closeness with which the scores were bunched an occasion for satisfaction to the tournament committee of which William C. Freeman is chairman. Eighty-six found L. S. Gimbel of Sunindale and Harold Slater of Fox Hill and Josiah J. Hazen of Fox Hills and Don M. Parker of Garden City, tied. Seventy-six won the best net for C. W. Harmon of Wykagyl and H. B. O'Brien of Sag Harbor, whose allowance was sixteen. For second net prize, seventy-seven marked a tie between E. T. Manson of Framingham and Clarence Cone of Inwood who deducted ten strokes, and J. M. Thorsen of Scarsdale and A. C. G. Hammersfahr of Siwanoy, whose handicap was sixteen. There was another tie at seventy-eight in which Gimbel and Slater (8) and George S. Oliver of Allegheny and C. C. Vernam of Nassau (14) figured. ¶ The scores:
