At The Lexington

The household at The Lexington is a goodly one, many of those who came for the Midwinter Handicap lingering to enjoy Pinehurst's attractions. A pleasant feature of the week was an orchestral concert by Director Behr's orchestra on Sunday afternoon. ¶ Late arrivals include: Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Stimson of Boston, who will remain until spring; Messrs. J. S. Cox of Raleigh, C. M. Allen of New York, George P. Jones of Wilmington and W. H. Severance of Portland. ¶ Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hachard and Miss B. M. Gorman of New York and Messrs. George Clough and J. W. Higgins of London and Watford, England, spent Tuesday here.

At The Berkshire

The first of the usual card parties at The Berkshire is announced for the coming week. ¶ Late arrivals include Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Lay of Oil City, who return for their annual visit, and Mr. and Mrs. John W. Vrooman of New York, who will make a long sojourn. ¶ Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Jones of Plainville and Mrs. Rachel Chess and Miss Grace Chess of Pittsburgh are here for their first visit.

Pinehurst Is Some City!

Harry A. Lewis of Bethlehem, N. H., one of the town's "live wires," spent a portion of the week here looking into business prospects. "Pinehurst is some city!" was his terse comment.

Why Not Southern Pines?

Where to go? ¶ Why not Southern Pines! ¶ Dinner and dance at The Highland Pines Inn, or an evening at the Princess, Manager Picquet's all-star moving picture theatre. ¶ Fifteen minutes by motor.

MOVING PICTURES DE LUXE

Pinehurst Theatre Announces All Star Midseason Attractions

The Pinehurst Theatre announces moving pictures de luxe for the immediate future; famous Selig and Paramount reels. ¶ Interest will doubtless center in the war pictures scheduled for Tuesday evening, February 23rd, five reels in all including battle scenes, cavalry charges, infantry tactics, siege guns, dog batteries, African troops, bombardments, ruined cities, hospital views, recruiting scenes, army camps and drilling; thrilling, vivid and entirely authentic films suggestive of the great European struggle.

Other star attractions include: The Bishop's Carriage, February 3; Heart's Adrift, February 10; Pride of Jennico, February 17; The Man on the Box, February 24; Brewster's Millions, March 3; Tess of the Storm Country, March 10; Soldiers of Fortune, March 17; Call of the North, March 24; and John Barleycorn, March 31. ¶ It will be noted that these pictures are all on Wednesdays, and for them the admission will be twenty-five cents.

Truesdell, Marr, and Alley

W. E. Truesdell of Brooklyn, Dr. Myron W. Marr of Woodland, and A. Bryan Alley of Larchmont, were the trophy winners in Monday's selected score Tin Whistles Handicap. Truesdell made forty-two playing with a handicap of eight, Marr recorded forty-five with an allowance of fourteen, and Alley forty-two but aided by twenty-six strokes. Nearly fifty members participated, the list including: Becker, Aborn, Boyd, Hudson, Cheatham, Clark, Hunter, LeRoy, Robeson, Maclaughlin, Clapp, Foot and Whittemore, in Class A; Shannon, McDonald, Toppin, Milliken, Nicholson, Towle, Rumsey, Buckley, Hunt, Lightbourn, Dunlap and Howard in Class B; Ormsbee, Middleton, Robinson, Abbe, Pratt, Swigert, Newton, Blanche, Johnson, White, Hurd, Lay and Rackham in Class C.

Gilt Edge Preferred

Real estate's a fairly sure investment. Pinehurst cottage lessees find their houses eight and twelve per cent dividend payers. Don't take my word for it; ask the man who's got the "figgers!"
