

ON WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

Carolina Hunt Ball Promises the Most Brilliant Affair of Season

ANTICIPATE the hunt ball scheduled for Monday evening, February 22nd, which as some will remember, is the birthday anniversary of General George Mt. Vernon Washington, as the most brilliant affair of many seasons. An active committee including Mrs. Carl H. Hanna, Mrs. Ben S. Boyce, Mrs. Daisy Porter, Mrs. H. W. Priest, Miss Blanche Farrington and Mr. T. B. Boyd have details in charge and they promise an evening of novelty and surprise. One of the special features will be the decorations which will transform The Carolina music hall into the historic forest of Fontainebleau and vari-colored electric lights among the pine trees will give a fairyland effect. In the alcoves at the west end of the hall Old Nat, the huntsman, and his pony, and the fox hound pack will enjoy the scene, while upon the stage, a live fox will keep the orchestra company.

The limited capacity of the hall makes it necessary to confine the invitation to subscribers and for their use boxes and reserved seats will be provided; the proceeds to be devoted to a worthy Village charity. Dancing begins at nine and ceases at twelve following which a hunt breakfast will be served in the dining room. From eight to nine the orchestra will give a hunting concert. Advance interest thus early promises to tax the capacity of the hall, and a word to the wise should be sufficient—secure your tickets at once from the Committee. Dancers are requested to come in riding costume, and the Orchestra and Committee will be resplendent in the "pink" coats which one always associates with the sport of kings through recollection of the famous Fallowfield Hunt pictures.

Carter and Parrish Were Two Up

A thirty-six hole match between J. C. Parrish, Jr., and Philip V. Carter, Hamilton K. Kerr and Gardiner W. White, claimed a generous share of attention Monday. Parrish and Carter were one up at the end of the morning round, and two up at the end of 36 holes. White was high man of the day with rounds of eighty-three and eighty-four; Parrish requiring eighty-five and eighty-two. Carter recorded eighty in the morning and Kerr eighty-two, with afternoon cards of seventy-five each:

WINCHESTER

12, 16 AND 20 GAUGE

Hammerless Repeating Shotguns

The Winchester Model 1912 is the strongest, safest and most perfect repeating shotgun ever made. In either of the three gauges in which it is made, it is lighter, better balanced and more correctly proportioned than any other repeater. Its Nickel steel construction, solid breech, and its cross-bolt trigger lock make it strong and safe. This gun has a smooth and easy action, a simple take-down system, and its shooting qualities are not excelled by the highest-priced double guns. The 12 gauge weighs about 7 1/4 pounds; the 16 gauge about 6 pounds, and the 20 gauge about 5 3/4 pounds. If in the market for a shotgun, don't fail to look over a Winchester Model 1912 at your dealer's.

WINCHESTER LOADED SHELLS:
In a Winchester or any make of shotgun, use Winchester Loaded Shells, "Leader" or "Repeater." In any gun of any gauge they give the best possible results. Ask for
