

THE PINEHURST OUTLOOK

VOL. XVIII, NO. 17

SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 27, 1915

FIVE CENTS

CLIMAX AND ANTI-CLIMAX

Woman's Championship Develops Keenest Play In History of Classic

Mrs. Barlow's Matches With Mrs.
Hurd and Mrs. Faith Both
Contests of Many Thrills

THE women's event of the Championship reached an anti-climax in the semi-final between Mrs. Roland H. Barlow, for many years eastern champion, and Mrs. J. V. Hurd, International champion as Dorothy Campbell. ¶ Surely no gallery has surpassed in size the vast throng which followed play with breathless interest, for never was there a moment when the attention could be diverted or the question of the final outcome removed from the critical point of mythical uncertainty. ¶ The strain of the contest was apparent in the contestants also, and Mrs. Barlow's ultimate win was not alone the result of skill but endurance superiority which became a potent factor as the match neared its close; Mrs. Hurd's brilliant 3 on the fifteenth followed by an indifferent 7 on the sixteenth; and what might be called in the language of golfers, "mighty hard luck" on the decisive eighteenth.

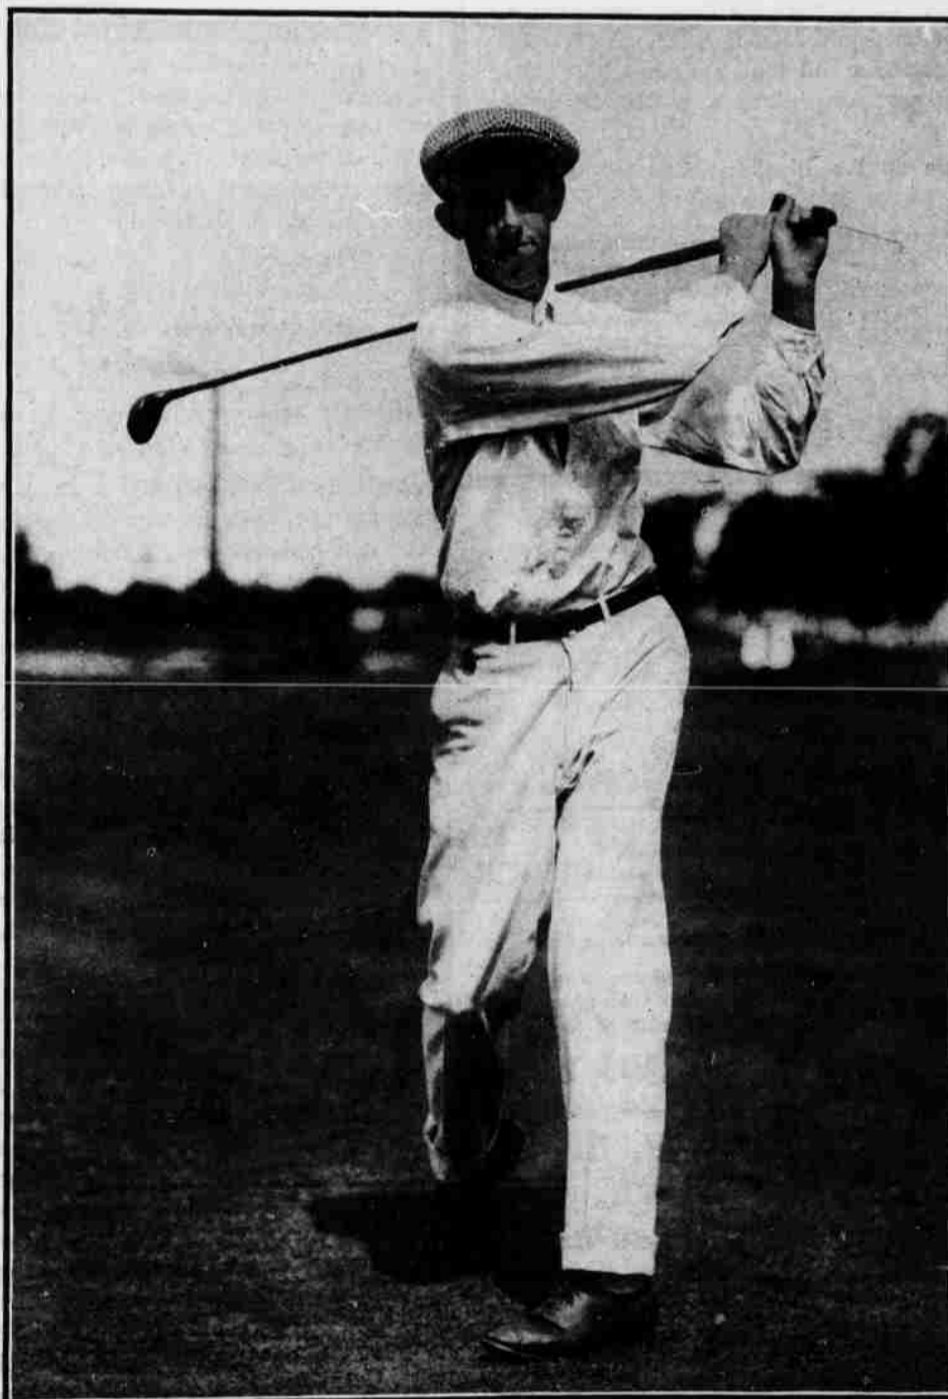

Mrs. Barlow took the first hole in par 5 and lost an opportunity to win the second through a shot on which she was obliged to lose a stroke through playing back, halving in 7. Mrs. Hurd squared the match with a par 4 on the third and won the fourth with a one over bogey 5. The next three holes were halved in 6, 4 and 7, a stymie costing Mrs. Barlow the seventh. The Merion golfer took the eighth in par 3 to tie, but Mrs. Hurd won the ninth in the same figure to make the turn one up with a medal card 46 to 47.

Mrs. Barlow took the tenth in a par 4 through Mrs. Hurd's pulled second, and the eleventh was halved in bogey 5. Mrs. Barlow's third to the pit cost her the twelfth, and Mrs. Hurd's shot to the whiskers and then to the pit, lost her the thirteenth. The fourteenth was halved in bogey 5, and a perfect 3 gave Mrs. Hurd the lead on the 212-yard fifteenth where Mrs. Barlow was trapped on her drive. ¶ On the sixteenth Mrs. Hurd showed signs of tiring, following up a good drive with a short second and toppling her third to a trap. Well out in 4 she missed her fifth, was on the green in 6 and holed a 7 against a bogey 5 which tied the score for Mrs. Barlow. On the short seventeenth both players narrowly escaped trouble on their drives, Mrs. Hurd having a bit the worst of it and with an opening to the green, but her approach was short and she required two putts for a 4. Mrs. Barlow's tee shot just missed the trap and she made a fine approach which looked good for a 3, but which she failed to hole, halving in 4.

a pull which landed in a pit, the ball lying snugly ensconced in a heel print which took one stroke to get it into play and another to get it out of the trap, and these two strokes gave Mrs. Hurd an 8 while Mrs. Barlow required but 6, recording 46 to 50 for the homeward journey, or a total of 93 to 96 for the round:

MRS. BARLOW
OUT—	5 7 5 6 6 4 7 3 4—47
IN —	4 5 7 5 5 5 5 4 6—46—93

NATIONAL AMATEUR CHAMPION OULMET

Perhaps it was only fancy, but I imagined Mrs. Barlow's hand trembled perceptibly as she teed up on the eighteenth. Mrs. Hurd, I felt, showed the strain in a certain grim tenseness, but be that as it may, both balls were beauties well down the course. Likewise the seconds went straight for the pin and lay with little advantage. It was Mrs. Hurd's third shot which lost the match,

MRS. HURD
OUT—	6 7 4 5 6 4 7 4 3—46
IN —	5 5 6 7 5 3 7 4 8—50—96

THRILLING CLIMAX IN THE FINAL

Thursday's final round developed an unexpected climax in a brilliant battle between Mrs. Barlow and Mrs. W. J. Faith of Wykagyl, with the crisis once

(Continued on page three)

'BOUT TIME, QUOTH BECKER

Strikes His Gait For Winning Score In Tin Whistle Handicap

C. S. McDonald and Commodore J. T.
Newton Also Swing Into Line
For Class Prizes

CHARTON L. Becker, C. S. McDonald, and J. T. Newton were the prize winners in Saturday's three class Tin Whistle handicap for prizes presented by M. B. Johnson, R. C. Blancke and B. H. Marshall.

¶ The scores by rounds:

CLASS A
C. L. Becker	43	40	83—75
W. H. Thayer	43	44	87—77
J. M. Thompson	41	42	83—78
W. E. Truesdell	41	42	83—78
C. B. Hudson	41	47	88—78
I. S. Robeson	40	41	81—82
T. H. McGraw, Jr.	48	44	92—82
W. S. Van Clief	45	48	93—83
T. A. Cheatham	49	45	94—84
J. P. Gardner	48	51	99—90
H. C. Fownes	48	49	97—91
C. B. Fownes	52	52	104—95
CLASS B
C. S. McDonald	41	43	84—71
A. L. Carr	42	47	87—76
R. H. Hunt	45	45	90—77
H. W. Ormsbee	46	47	93—78
R. C. Shannon, 2nd	44	45	89—78
J. H. Herring	56	42	98—81
E. M. Taft	44	49	93—82
J. S. Brown	52	48	100—88
C. B. Price	51	52	103—88
W. L. Milliken	49	51	100—89
J. R. Towle	53	53	106—90
J. L. Wyckoff	54	53	107—91
CLASS C
J. T. Newton*	54	50	104—72
Dr. Carlos MacDonald	51	55	106—72
W. L. Baldwin	47	48	95—78
E. C. McCabe	49	54	103—79
R. C. Blancke	55	52	107—80
A. E. Lane	56	53	109—82
J. D. Gallagher	50	53	103—83
W. L. Hurd	54	56	110—88
W. T. Stall	55	52	107—89
J. D. C. Rumsey	53	56	109—91

NOTE—*—won tie play-off.

The Community Interests Them

Dr. William Hill, whose reputation as a rural economist is national, and Dr. John G. Brooks, the author, are visitors who find in the Community much to interest them.