THE MIDSUMMER HANDICAP

Maplewood New Hampshire Follows
Pinehurst's Example and Inaugurates
Trap Shooting Annual

FOLLOWING the notable example of Pinehurst which has made winter trap shooting as popular as golf and tennis, the Maplewood, New Hampshire, Gun Club announces the first annual Midsummer Handicap for the last week in July, beginning on the 27th. Tuesday and Wednesday will be devoted to preliminary sweepstakes, with the Maplewood Championship on Thursday, the Preliminary Handicap on Friday, and the Midsummer Handicap on Saturday. The added money of five hundred dollars is to be supplemented by a lavish array of trophies and the shoot which is registered, will be held under Interstate Association rules and in charge of Lloyd Lewis and national and international life is described by the National Geographic Society in the following short sketch: ¶ "Among the faculties of Germany's twenty-one universities were scattered, at the beginning of the war in Europe, many of the biggest men in the world of learning. The German university was a thoroughly cosmopolitan community, all nations, all manner of customs and all habits of thought being represented. Americans have been represented at German universities since Benjamin Franklin's day. That great printer-statesman-philosopher is looked upon as the founder of the American Colony at Goettingen, a loosely organized student corporation with a wealth of traditions. "Hundreds of young Americans attended the universities of Germany each year, and the war's interruption of the plans of this student stream will not be the least of the hardships that the great struggle is forcing us to share. Jack Fanning of the Du Pont Company. Prominently interested in the event is the recently formed New Hampshire Sportsmen's Association of which J. H. Mendell of Manchester is president, and of which the Maplewood Gun Club is a member. Senator Eugene Reed and Tom Varrick are among the New Hampshire "boosters" and members of the New York Athletic Club, are co-operating with President W. F. Dunsbaugh of the Maplewood Hotel Company. ¶ The social attractions will include concerts and dancing in the big Casino every night, a full dress ball, a fancy dress party, a concert by the caddies, and a Saturday evening banquet, not to mention the diversified outdoor attractions of this the Queen of all white Mountain Resorts where golf has long been preeminent in sports.

The German Universities

The war in Europe, while not completely closing Germany's twenty-one great universities, has practically depopulated their class rooms and their professorial chairs. These institutions had, before the war, a total of more than 50,000 matriculated students, the one at Berlin having nearly 10,000 alone. The part played by the German universities in flux of American students regularly began in the early part of April and continued through the summer until the opening of the autumn semester. At such universities as Berlin, Leipsic, Munich, Heidelberg and Goettingen, the student contingent from the United States formed a considerable body. ¶ "The German university is an imperium in imperio—a state within a state. Upon being matriculated in one of these universities, the student becomes a member of an ideal republic of learning; he is responsible alone to the heads of this republic, and they are responsible for him to the state. The card of membership which the university authorities issue to him is his passport. It protects him from arrest and from the impositions of tradesmen, and establishes his identity beyond question before all servants of the state. This card, also, procures theatre and concert tickets for him at significant price reductions. Furthermore, it establishes his credit with local tradesmen.

"From before the beginning of modern times, Germany has held foremost educational ranks. Her universities have enjoyed international renown since the Middle Ages, and conspicuous because of their cosmopolitan democracy.

New Ways TO Throw "Clays"

EXCITING as you've found trapshooting, it is now more so when the "clays" fly from the

Hand Trap

Then the shooter is "up against" the cunning of man, unknown target flights and disconcerting range calculations.

Eighty-yard straightaway targets, "overheads," "jack rabbits," "curvers" and "Englished" targets are some of the flights described in our

we will send on request. This book explains just how to work the Hand Trap, and pictures many scenes suggesting how outing, camping and motor parties may gain pleasure and instruction with this simple and cheap target-throwing implement.

Price: $4.00. For sale by sporting goods and hardware dealers, or sent postpaid on receipt of price.
