thirteenth, honors even on the fourteenth, and divided on the next two holes; Topping taking the match by two and one with a halve on the seventeenth. ¶ In the second round I. S. Robeson retired to Topping four and two.

ROBESON AND HUNTER

Semi-final play claimed a large gallery, with interest centered upon Robeson and Hunter. ¶ The Wee Burn golfer won the first and third holes and halved the second in 4's, losing the fourth in 5 where he missed a short putt. Robeson took the next hole in 4, Hunter recording 6, halved the sixth in 4, won the seventh in 6, where Hunter stymied himself, halved the eighth and ninth in 4 and 3, to make the turn one up, with a medal of forty to forty-one. ¶ A missed putt cost Hunter the tenth in 5, both players off the course on their tee shots and on the eleventh, and both missing seconds; Robeson's fine third resulting in a 5-6 win. Robeson was in the rough again on the twelfth and his second was short, but the third was a beauty which made a 4 possible, while Hunter was short on his third and required a stroke for a position on the green side by side with the Pawling student. Robeson's drive on the thirteenth cost him the hole, a curious slice far over to the right of the fourteenth fairway. His second was still off the course, at the right, his third over, his fourth short and he recorded 6, while Hunter made a fine recovery from a trapped second and went down in 5. Hunter's fourteenth tee shot was in the rough with Robeson straight down the course and with good distance. Hunter's second was short and likewise his third, but Robeson was off the course to the right on his second and did well to halve in 5. An over approach cost Robeson the fifteenth where Hunter recorded a winning 3, and the sixteenth was halved in 5, both players trapped on their drives, and Robeson failing to take advantage of his fine recovery. ¶ On the critical seventeenth both balls were hole high, and just off the green; Robeson at the right and Hunter at the left. Hunter's short second gave Robeson an advantage which he failed to embrace, and Hunter hit the cup on his third, Robeson taking two putts for a halve and a two and one win. ¶ The cards:

TOPPING AND SULLIVAN

Topping made the turn two up on Sullivan with a medal of forty-three to forty-five, and he lost the seventeenth through a stymie. Topping's second to the trap on the tenth cost him the hole, 5-4, and both were in trouble from the tee on the eleventh, doing well to record a halve in 6. Topping took the twelfth in 5 where Sullivan's drive went astray, but Sullivan won the thirteenth in 4 where Topping's long drive made a trap, and the Woodland golfer came back for a win in 5 on the fourteenth where Topping was short on his approach putt and recorded a losing 6. Sullivan's tee shot to the rough on the fifteenth cost him 4, Topping recording 3. ¶ The crisis of the match was the sixteenth where Topping made the green on his second and went down in 4, Sullivan's pulled second costing him 6. Sullivan missed an opportunity to win the short seventeenth on a missed putt, both players escaping trouble on their drives, and Topping's second was short and he halved the hole in 4 for a two and one victory. ¶ The cards:

OTHER DIVISION WINNERS

In the Championship consolation, H. K. Kerr won by four and three over J. C. Parrish, Jr. In the second division Dr. W. E. Code and Dr. C. H. Gardner fought it out to a finish, and the contest as mainly one of putting which the westerner won by two and one. In the Consolation of this division, J. M. Wells played nineteen holes before he disposed of W. M. Paul. James D. Standish, Jr., once winner of the United, won from C. H. Banes in the third, and R. C. Shannon in the consolation. In the fourth, E. M. Taft disposed of R. A. Balfe, and J. M. Scott won the consolation. The fifth division trophy went to G. R. Harvey one of the several Canadian entries, who defeated S. A. Hennessee, and W. S. Van Clief won the consolation. In the sixth, E. B. Lyon disposed J. H. Herring, and H. H. Buckley won the consolation. Jerry V. Jenks, a Detroit "youngster," won in the seventh from F. C. Inman, and I. B. Roberts took the consolation. In the eighth and last fight, F. T. Ellison and C. Richardson were the winners. ¶ And, yes, there's the summary, with young Robeson's name heading qualification scores:
