prize in this division was awarded to C. H. Ault of Stoke Pogis, with a total of 373.

The greatest interest during the whole tournament centered on the spirited and doubtful contest for the three days between Mrs. George Dutton of Boston, Mrs. C. T. Russell and Mrs. J. F. Ryan, New York. These three played with about the same handicap, Mrs. Dutton having none, and the other ladies one stroke each. The first day ended with Mrs. Dutton leading with 52, and the day's prize, Mrs. Russell 54 and Mrs. Ryan 55. The second day Mrs. Russell forged ahead, being 107, Mrs. Dutton 110, and Mrs. Ryan 113. It was the prettiest kind of a match. For the next day Mrs. Ryan took the lead on the three days' play with 164, the other two right on her trail with 166 each. She fell away from them however on the last day with 50, the best score made by any woman during the tournament, and won in 214. Mrs. Russell was second with 217, doing the last nine in 51, and Mrs. Dutton third with 220.

Mrs. Russell was compensated by finally winning the trophy for the best net score for the 36 holes, although this also required a very hard fight. Miss Hannah Aronson, making trouble for the leaders all the way down the line, tied with Mrs. Russell for the total net on the last day with 213. But she succumbed in the play off.

Taken day by day the returns were chalked up and the winners announced as follows:

DIVISION A

FIRST DAY—E. T. Manson, leader of the host, made good on a play off with Marshall Whitlock, and won the day's gross in 93. G. F. Sperry waltzed off merrily with the initial net prize, 93-15-78.

SECOND DAY found Marshall Whitlock supreme in 82, while D. M. Stewart won the net by a play off with Lorenzo Daniels, 92-77.

THIRD DAY—Grantland Rice, the conqueror, took away the gross prize (please observe that nobody can say prize for best gross score more than two hundred times) with 78.

The final round went to Roy Barnhill in 78, and to R. L. Whitten for the best net with 75.

DIVISION B

FIRST DAY—C. W. Harmon drew first blood with a gross of 96, and William Campbell outplayed H. B. O'Brien and W. R. Roberts on a play off for the trophy for the best net, his original score being 98-90.

SECOND DAY—W. B. Lashes in the lead with 94, and R. C. Hoyt in undisputed possession of the net, 98-88.

THIRD DAY—W. E. Binford, the Wanamissett player, brought down the trophy on the third day with 92, while his club mate, F. A. Buckhout, took the net, 98-87.

A. R. Gardner, H. R. Mallinson and J. C. Todd tied on the last day with 90, a determined and creditable finish, considering these to be the best scores recorded in this division. H. B. Green won with the first prize with 52 gross. Mrs. C. T. Russell won the net by defeating Miss Hannah Aronson after a tie at 54-53.

FIRST DAY—Mrs. George Dutton opened the best net, 985-81.

WOMEN'S DIVISION

SECOND DAY—The prize for the best gross score went to Mrs. F. J. Ryan with 58, and the net to Mrs. Clarence Cone, 62-52.

THIRD DAY—Miss Edith Foster won the gross prize in 53, Miss Aronson getting the net with 61-13-48.

FINAL—Mrs. W. F. Smith, Boston, took the major prize with a card of 57, and Miss Jane Treadwell the net, 66-15-51.

Of course the scores, both net and gross, which won after the first day were not in all cases the very best of the day, being by rule only the best among those players who had not already won a prize.

The summary of the total scores in this medal play will be found at the end of the article.

The Jason Rogers special prizes for the best scores against bogey during this four days' event was captured by E. T. Manson of Framingham, 2 up. The Second Division by Willis R. Roberts, Moorestown 5 up; H. J. Frost, Glen Ridge, 9 up; and for the ladies, Mrs. F. L. E. Gauss of New York, with 11 up.

A men's foursome 18-hole medal play best ball event was the feature of the last day of the tournament. There were 102 entries divided into three classes. D. M. Parker, Garden City, and E. J. Ridgeway, Montclair, won the prizes in class A in 83-5-78, with T. A. Ashley, Woodland, and E. T. Manson, Framingham, second in 81-2-79; J. H. Clapp, Chevy Chase, and A. J. Hazen, Oakland, third, in 84-3-81, and J. C. Martin, Philadelphia C. C., and Marshall Whitlach, Baltimore, fourth in 83-2-81.

Class B was won by H. B. Green, Baltimore, and W. R. Roberts, Mristown, 91-5-86; J. C. Tobb, Upper Montclair, and Dr. A. R. Gardner, Dunwoodie, 89-2-87, tier with F. B. Lee, Framingham, and R. C. Hoyt, Upper Montclair, 92-5-87, for second place.
