

LANSING AND ROSS WIN

Secretary of State and the Famous Professional Too Much for Truesdell and Sheppard

Playing on number two course Tuesday afternoon the Secretary of State and Donald Ross matched their aggregate score against Robert Sheppard and W. E. Truesdell, two of the ranking golfers in Pinehurst. The match caused the greatest public interest, and resulted in some it was, for the first time the inspiration failed at this juncture, and a short putt was missed, and the total of 31 included another five on this hole.

golf which will long be remembered in the annals of the Country Club.

It was the closest possible match, won by some remarkable play on the last hole. The Secretary and Ross finished a bare one up. The most spectacular part of the match was Donald Ross' play coming in. No better golf has ever been seen in these parts, if indeed, anywhere in the world. Up to the very last shot it was phenomenal. He made the nine holes in thirty one. And this is not the whole story either. This included a five on the eleventh. And on the 402 yard eighteenth the third shot lacked only the fraction of an inch of being holed for a 29. As
