

Sutton & Sons Do Not Sell Any Golf Seed Mixture Weighing Less Than 25 Pounds to the Bushel

SUTTON & SONS sell only solid, live grass seed.

All their seeds are as free from weed seeds, and empty seed shells, as a series of elaborate cleanings can accomplish. Not one cleaning machine do they pass through, but many.

Our mixtures are based on an experience covering over a century. They are made under the direct supervision of a member of our firm.

Write us your requirements and we will write you our prices.

You are welcome to a copy of our Red Book on Golf Course Construction. If you incline to send $3.75, we will mail to you the famous "Book of the Links," by Martin H. F. Sutton.

ling as steady and even as an ocean liner. Charlie Piquet assumes the megaphone, and gives the superfluous information that Are Am Bee is first, Red Bird second, Fred Patchin third, and Paul C. fourth.

The second heat was a distinct surprise. The powerful black trotter, Fred Patchin, overtook what appeared to be a close finish between the champion and McCauley's hope, and simply walked away from them in the last hundred yards. This left the matter disputed for a third trial. Red Bird seems to have a reservoir of speed, not entirely under control. If he hadn't broken for the first quarter, and lost a dozen lengths, he would have figured better than third. As it was first money went to Are Am Bee, and second money to Patchin.

The Grey Eagle felt upset about something, and half inclined to quit the field, but finally Mrs. Leach got under way and gave a wild and thrilling chase to Miss Clum on Rex, losing the heat by a length at the finish.

The running race for the Guests Cup was a pretty spectacle and a hard finish. Paul Abbott, riding Dixie, Lloyd Cooney on Julia, Weller backing Jessie C., King Chalmers with Ewing Cameron of Southern Pines in the saddle, Rodman Wanamaker on a Dark Horse, and John Bunny ridden by Herbert Cameron, all got off in a bunch. They came around the bend grouped like a band of Beduins riding for life, and flashed across the line with John Bunny in the lead, and Wanamaker gaining every jump.

But prettier than this, and more popular with the multitude, was the girl's race for the ladies' purse, a spirited exhibition, won by Miss Bena Maitland of Negaunee, Michigan, riding Hatto. Miss Dorothy Barber of Englewood on Topsy was second, and these two fair riders were awarded the prizes from the judges' stand to the delight of all concerned. Miss O'Rourke on Blanche, Miss Clum riding Chief and Miss Esther Tufts on Nellie made up the race.

The event of the day, from the sportsman's standpoint, was the Pinehurst Steeple Chase for Leonard Tufts' cup. There was a large entry, and a fast field, the betting being about even, the entire field against Polly ridden by her owner. They got off in good style. Polly leading with the long graceful movement of a greyhound, followed by Jack Boyd, the magnificent on the powerful Gladiator. Twice around the course this situation was held, Miriam H., Tavelor and George breast to breast a short breath in the rear. Racing into the stretch Batchelor let the famous thoroughbred out and passed the leader in a splendid burst of speed, the great hunter showing signs of fatigue.

Then in an instant developed the most spectacular finish of the day. Gladiator had responded gallantly to the spurt, and as Miriam H. thundered across the line, stride on stride overhauled the Wanamaker mount, and passed like a whirlwind right under the nose of the judges, to tremendous applause. Nat Hurd rode a beautiful race on Travelor, as always, but the pace was a little too much for the thoroughbred. Fisher on George rolled in fifth, a furlong behind.

A half-mile foot race, with ten entries, varied the program, won by the Red and Black, the colors worn by Charles Freeman. The pace was hot and sustained throughout the whole distance. Finnegan was second and Hilton third. Time, 2 min., 32-5 sec. A fat man's hundred yard dash lent diversion to this most entertaining of afternoons.

GRAND CONSOLATION

A Tie Between Becker, Jarecki and Lancaster

Those champions of the Tin Whistle Club who have so far this Winter escaped winning a prize in the tournament schedule were slated for a special match all their own. It was medal play, and there were twenty-one in the field, including some of the fastest performers of the club. C. L. Becker, many times leader in the Tin Whistles list, came into his own for the first time this year. With a net score of seventy-two he tied for the premier honor with Charles Jarecki of Erie and C. F. Lancaster, the Woodland player. The best card was returned by Justice M. Thompson of Philadelphia, 39 out and 42 in for a total of 81.

The complete score, showing gross handicap and net scores, was as follows:

C. L. Becker, Woodland	41	41-81-10-72
Charles Jarecki, Erie	46	46-92-20-72
C. F. Lancaster, Woodland	48	39-87-15-72
