The Races

From a distance of two miles one might fairly conclude that a Roman circus was in progress, or the Harvard-Yale game, judging from the cheers and the roars marking the progress of the horses around the course, and the reverberations of the drum and the trombone coming down the breeze.

Every week the trotting meet settles more down into form. Raising its head to view the arena is a grand stand—the inevitable band has put in its appearance, and now directly we may expect to see white aprons and Dutch caps hawking peanuts and waffles, and a paddock haunted by the horse crazy.

The meet Wednesday resulted in fulfilling the ambitions of several consistent performers on the Pinehurst Track. Nat Hurd carried Traveler safely over the barriers for a well earned victory in the Steeple Chase; Weller the untiring landed the gentlemen's purse, and Miss Dorothy Barber on the invincible Topsy again led the girls under the wire for her third trophy.

Red Leo, with Thomas driving, came into its own in the trotting event, landing first money to everyone's satisfaction.

Children Were Cheap

In a Scotch church an old minister who was very deaf was also very anxious to introduce some new hymn books into the church, and asked his precentor to give out the notice immediately after the sermon. The precentor, having a notice of his own, gave out that members of the congregation wishing to have their children baptised were to send their names into the vestry. The old minister thinking that it was the notice about the hymn books announced:

"And I wish to say for the benefit of those who have not any, that they may be had in the vestry any afternoon, between the hours of 3 and 4. Ordinary little ones at a shilling each, and special little ones with red backs, at one and three."
