Relics of Antiquity

In the days gone by when, the pines of Moore County knew both romance and adventure, heroines and villains, the seats of governors and the command of kings, a lady of the highest distinction spent the evening on Wads Creek, four miles from here, in conference with Governor Williams of North Carolina at his country estate. It is a matter of record that whatever else passed at that conclave, at any rate Flora Macdonald, leader of Clanranald, presented the Governor with a solid gold brooch, wrought in the finest workmanship of the old world, a relic of the Court of St. James and the splendor of royalty.

Taking an interest in the story of this mute witness to days in the piney woods so different from the present as to seem a myth, or an impossibility, Miss Eloise McGill of the Flora Macdonald College set out on the trail of the golden key. And to her delight, and the intense satisfaction of the Carolina Historical Society, and all persons fond of the mementoes of stirring times and brave figures in history, she actually found it.

It was in the possession of Mrs. Flora Ann Black, who lives among the scenes of the old Revolutionary feud. The Governor had given it to Sallie Black, her great aunt, and it had been faithfully handed down in the family, together with the silver knee buckles worn by her grandfather, a distinguished Highland leader who was killed by a Whig raiding party under the supposition that he was Colonel Fanning, the notorious gorilla chief. The mistake was only natural, for Black was on Fanning's well known charger at the time.

These trophies of antiquity, and some old silver pieces have been loaned for the time being to the Historical Society.

This is a photograph of Grove Park Inn, Sunset Mountain, Asheville, N. C.,—the finest Resort Hotel in the world. It is absolutely fireproof and open all the year.

The 120-acre, 18-hole golf course is the finest in the South—it is a blue grass course. All the water used at the Inn comes from the slopes of Mount Mitchell, the highest mountain east of the Rockies, nearly seven thousand feet altitude. The milk and cream come from Biltmore Dairy on the estate of the late Geo. W. Vanderbilt.

It is the cleanest, most Sanitary hotel ever built. Every floor is tile. Every bedroom has Mosaic tile covered with French Rugs made at Aubusson, France. The foods are the finest money can buy. The kitchen is spotless white tile to the roof and pure white Mosaic tile floors. The buildings are built of great mountain boulders—some of the walls are five feet thick—boulders weighing as much as four tons each.

We are three and a half miles from the railroad. The street cars are not allowed to come near enough to be heard. We burn coke—not soft coal. Automobiles not allowed near the building during the night. Thus we have no smoke, no dust, no train noise. We have pure air, common-sense, digestible food, quiet in the bedrooms at night, the finest Orchestra outside of New York and Boston, a great organ, and an atmosphere where refined people and busy business men with their families find great comfort and a good time.
