

CAROLINA CHAMPIONSHIP

team to enter the Carolina Tournament.

Looking over the lists it is also evident that we can muster a very good foursome from the home grounds. There is Tom Kelly, who has a sideboard full of mementos of his prowess, and who is seldom lucky enough to be allowed lower than the first division in any tournament. Frank Gates is a fast payer, and we are told that Howard Phillips can putt as far as he can see. Ever since he took up the game we have been hearing that June members of the association. An excellent steward has been engaged for the Summer and he will serve dinner at the club for all these charter members on Saturday evening, May 6th. At this dinner a constitution will be drawn up and officers elected, committee for tournaments and entertainment selected, and the policy of the club and its benefits determined.

Previous statements in this article might lead one to think that the team to play for the championship is to be selected from previous performance or hearsay. Nothing could be more erroneous. There will be a tournament open to all members of the association immediate-

A GLIMPSE OF LITTLE RIVER

Page has the makings, and are constrained to credit him with a place if the stories of his 350 foot drives and eighty scores which drift over from Southern Pines are reasonably true.

The Sandhill Golf Association is an accomplished fact. The secretary has recorded all the support necessary to make it a strong and representative organization. And he wishes to be heard a little as to plans.

The Club House at Pinehurst will be turned over to the Association after the first of May. Those who have been invited and who have signified their intention of joining will constitute the charter ly after organization to determine what four men shall represent the Sandhill district in the event. What colors they shall wear, and the form of the ultimatum to be sent before them will be determined at the dinner.

We humbly submit that a good game of golf is a fine thing, and an end in itself. But it is still secondary to the advantage we will all get by association together afterwards, and in meeting and competing with representative men from other parts of the State and the Union.

Send the PINEHURST OUTLOOK to your friends. It will save letter writing.
