

HOLIDAY GUESTS ARRIVING

Carolina Hotel Taking on Christmas Aspect

Last week witnessed the coming of the railroad magnates and an influx of Tin Whistlers and what might be called a strong undertone of sportsmen, come to take advantage of the unusually good shooting. The Carolina has never been so lively before at this time of year, a great many guests having already come for the holidays, which promises to be more of an occasion than usual in the village. The fox trot is heard once more in the evening and the perennial bridge fiends solve knotty problems at the old stand.

J. S. Russell and William R. Driver have come from Boston to repeat their last year's record on the preserve; George Crocker, Jr., of Fitchburg is a substantial addition to the jockey club, and a strong rider in the Gentlemen's purse; Mr. W. H. Thayer of Boston has arrived with Mrs. Thayer and Miss Nancy, and with W. W. Peabody of New York and H. R. Mallinson is out to trim the Tin Whistles. Other enthusiastic golfers well known on the Pinehurst links to register this week are A. L. Sands of Newport, A. Bryan Allen, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Love and W. L. Baldwin from New York, E. M. Slayton of Manchester, N. H.
