

Don't Buy Water at Humus Prices

HERE'S a vital difference between buying and getting. When you buy unprepared humus in its natural, water-logged condition, 75 per cent. of what you get is water, which you pay for at regular Humus prices.

Unprepared humus is nothing more or less than sour swamp muck. Nothing has been done to neutralize its acidity. No plant foods have been added. None of its moisture has been driven out. It is sold to you just as it is dug up from its watery bed.

When you buy humus; get humus.

Buy Alphano Humus—the concentrated humus. It contains only 30 per cent. moisture—only the necessary amount needed to keep the bacteria alive. The rest of the water has been driven out in huge drying drums, leaving it in a finely granulated condition. Before being dried out the rich soil humus is dug up and scattered over large areas to sun-sweeten and aerate. After being dried out, the necessary plant foods are added to make it a perfectly balanced soil ration. Instead of the green moulds and injurious acid fungi of unprepared humus; Alphano Humus contains the highest forms of fertility producing and nitrogen gathering bacteria.

It is weed-seedless. Because it is so thoroughly screened, it is free from lumps and roots, and is easy to scatter uniformly on the greens. It can be easily incorporated with the soil, giving a firm, compact surface.

Dinners and Dances, Hunts and Teas and Parties Mark the Week at the Hotels

EVERY dance is a dinner dance, and every dinner a dance dinner. Thomas' Orchestra, that incredible combination of ballet tattoo and fox trot compeller, is back in the saddle at the ball room in the Carolina, and the big new hall at the Club House. Saturday night was ball night. Old friends and new, the girls from the cottages and the boys from the plantations, parties from the hotels and the colony flocked to make a brilliant evening. A number of guests at the Carolina entertained at dinner before the dance. Mrs. W. A. Sandford had Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Waring, Mr. Howard Phillips and Miss Carolyn Bogart as her guests. Mr. John T. Small had a small party for Miss Esther Tufts.

R. B. Weeden, Harold Sweet, Count Salm and the tennis players were much in evidence.

The Monday morning bridge parties are in full swing at the Carolina. There were five tables last week. The entrance fee is twenty-five cents, and there is a substantial prize for the high score at each table. The winners were Mrs. William C. Reynolds, Mrs. James Barber, Mrs. W. A. Sandford, Mrs. E. J. Pearson, Mrs. Robert Newcomb, and Mrs. B. V. Covert. Those participating included also Mrs. W. F. Smith, Mrs. Gardner Green, Mrs. F. R. Burnham and Miss Bunham, Mrs. Donald Parson, Mrs. Arthur Newcomb, Mrs. H. A. Evans, Mrs. Mudgett, Mrs. Geo. A. Magoon, Mrs. J. R. Chadwick, Mrs. F. C. Merrick, Mrs. Glauser, Mrs. Geo. S. McCarty and Mrs. D. J. Dalton.

The hotel has fifty percent more guests than were ever in it at this time of the year before, including:
