

who deposed and said he made a three on the first hole on number two course. The second is Shannon's famous three on the fifth, duplicated to our knowledge recently only by Gil Nichols.

J. R. Bowker with four points captured the second division. The contest will be on again this month. Remember that. All you have to do to enter is to make your first score under par. And the prizes are worth having.

And now let me tune my lyre to sing the praise of the House of Lancaster. Behold, he sallies forth Tuesday and makes 83 on number one, and humiliates the second each day following with 87, and gets himself into the first division, and leaves us all behind.

McNamara and Ryale challenged the best ball of a strong combination Saturday — Victor Seggerman, Gardner White, Fletcher Ranney and Proal. And didn't get away with it. The match was a tie, and a splendid performance to watch. The best ball careered around in a perfect 31 out and a very reasonable 33 in. The spectacular shot of the game was Ranney's second from the 8th hole, which proceeded from the trap in the center to the cup without the slightest hesitation. Played on number two.

Talking about Birdies. One well known expert, whose skill with the midiron was not matched by his knowledge of the rules of the contest went out to take this Ringer prize all in one afternoon. And he chalked up returns from almost every hole. He had the goods all right, but had made the mistake of playing against bogey instead of par. Doubtless if he had known that he had to beat par he would have done that too.

Henry and Charlie Fownes are welcomed back into the game, and promise to make it hot for the erstwhile leaders.

It is with the greatest regret that his many friends learn of the untimely death of W. L. Baldwin, one of the foremost spirits and most lovable members of the Tin Whistle Club.

M. B. Johnson has ended his search. He has discovered his long lost drive, and is misusing it to break into the 90 class, and to discourage his old equals on the links.

Kenneth Parson and his bride are here on their honeymoon. He is well known as a power on the Harvard eleven a year ago, and gives promise of repeating his achievements on the links.

Norman Maxwell, who won the Advertisers tournament last week looks as if he might again be headed towards final honors and dizzy glories. He has a drive that can't be beat. Take this for example. On the 18th hole of number two course he was on the green with that drive and an easy mashie shot. With that sort of a driver in his bag everything else but a mashie and a putter becomes a dead weight.

Maybe William Van Clief isn't playing a smashing game. His performance Wednesday in putting Merriman out of the game one up created a sensation.

Mrs. George Magoon and Mrs. Lois Bourbon tied for first honors in the Silver Foils handicap against Bogey last Thursday on number one. They both came in 5 down, two better than Mrs. F. V. Long, and four better than Mrs. John Chapman who was scratch for the occasion. Miss Rosamond Cummings was 10 down, Mrs. G. M. Howad 11, Miss Gwendolyn Cummings 12, Mrs. D. J. Ross 12, and Mrs. F. S. Danforth 13.

The Waste Basket

These are some kinds of waste paper to save.

White clippings and shavings from book papers, bond papers, ledger papers, and writing papers are especially valuable and a steady demand for such material is always found.

White and colored writing papers are suitable for remanufacture into many other grades after the ink and coloring matters are removed.

Clean wrapping papers of all kinds are valuable for remanufacture into similar grades.

Old books, periodicals, account books, etc., can be remanufactured into book paper of excellent quality. All material of this kind that is saved is of direct benefit to the forests of the country, as magazines and book papers are very largely made from wood pulp.

Mrs. William L. Barnett

who owns the Hawthorne cottage paid her first visit to Pinehurst in several years. She said that she expected to surprise Pinehurst but that Pinehurst surprised her. She hardly recognized the place—with its new streets and residence section, and the changes of a twelfth month staring her in the face.
